Minister Denies

Refused To Interfere

In answer to a question from Hon. J. L. Ralston (Lib. Shelburne-Yamouche) Mr. Guthrie said he had consistently refused to interfere in prosecutions launched by the R. C. M. P. He did not regard it as his duty to do so although he had frequently been requested to learn representation from lawyers.

Mr. Ralston said he wondered whether the Minister had control of the police in their prosecutions. He thought the police should be required to refer prosecutions to the Minister or someone having a grasp of the legal question involved. The Minister said this was what happened in more serious cases. They came to the department and frequently to him, but there were hundreds of cases he never heard of.

"We do maintain general control over the administration of the force," said Mr. Guthrie.

The discussion arose during presentation by the Government of a bill to change the pensions regulations of the force.

Mr. Ralston said the Government should not add to its pension obligations at a time when an effort was being made to save taxpayers money. He said the supply bill appeared to indicate the police thought they should be placed on the same basis regarding pay, allowances and pensions as Canada's military forces.

Mr. Guthrie declared the pension was not a gift or a bonus but was based on contributions. He added members of the force involved in the case were merely allowed to count their years of service in the Boer War in computing their

PLANS SPACE FOR JUBILEE

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(C. P. Cable)—The Prince of Wales has called a meeting at St. James Palace for March 1 at which he will submit a scheme for a national thank-offering on the occasion of the King's Silver Jubilee. Invitations have been issued to the Lord Lieutenants of the counties, the Lord Mayors and Mayors of England and the Lord Provost and Provosts of Scotland.

Close Secret

Details of the scheme are being kept a close secret and will be revealed only when his Royal Highness addresses his guests. It will be one of his first engagements on returning from his sports holiday in the Austrian Tyrol.

Meanwhile preparations for the jubilee celebrations are proceeding apace through the country. The King's desire for economy and simplicity in the observances finds expression in the balls to be held at Buckingham Palace on May 14 and June 23. These intentionally are not officially described as state balls but will have the character of court balls, which are less costly and less formal.

State Dinners

State dinners, however, will be held at Buckingham Palace on May 9 and May 20. Next to these functions probably the most representative gathering of the Empire as a whole will assemble on May 22 for a reception and ball by the Lord Mayor at the Guildhall. On such occasions the corporation invariably turns a blind eye to the question of economy. Its entertainments cost the ratepayers nothing, being paid from the corporation's immense property revenues.

Historic Occasion

The presence of the King and the Queen will make the occasion historic. No record exists of the Sovereign and his Consort attending a ball at Guildhall in person.

Dancing will take place in the great hall where those curious figures, Gog and Magog, of whom not the most learned London historian knows the origin, will gaze fixedly upon the revels.

HAUPTMANN

the trial Judge, to ask him to sign the order, a discretionary procedure. The next step, he said, will be to obtain a writ or order from the Court of Errors and Appeals, which would automatically stay execution of the death sentence. The case would be argued, Fisher predicted, at the next term of the court, the third Tuesday in May.

Hauptmann in his statement, voiced a new appeal for contributions to a defence fund and then signed a paper making Fisher trustee of such a fund. It was revealed that $70 has been received to date.

Deny Report

Meantime, the Department of Justice and Bronx authorities denied they possessed evidence Hauptmann had an accomplice in the crime. Edward J. Reilly, chief of the defence staff, also said he was about aware police had worked on the theory Hauptmann had an accomplice. He said the truth of his own theory a gang of at least four effected the crime might eventually be proved.

Sheriff John H. Curtis said he will ride in the automobile with Hauptmann to the State Prison at Trenton and will carry the death warrant. At Trenton, Col. George L. Selby, acting principal keeper, said he will place Hauptmann in the cell, the last on the first tier and next to the electrocution chamber.

In New York a theatrical promoter said two Hauptmann jurors had rejected offers of $500 weekly for a barnstorming tour of the country. The promoter, Samuel J. Burger, said "The indications are about seven will accept but none had done so yet." The two who rejected the offers, he said, were Howard Biggs, unemployed, and Robert Cravati, educational director of a government forestry camp.

In the statement, Hauptmann reiterated "I am absolutely innocent and if it be my lot to be obliged to pay the penalty as described by the court, I shall go to my death protesting to the world, my absolute innocence of this crime."

Fisher said the total cost of an appeal at about $25,000, saying the record would cost between $7,000 and $9,000. The State will be given notice if Justice Trenchard signs the order for the State to bear the cost but may oppose the payment.

CHAMBER VOTES CONFIDENCE IN FLANDIN GOVT.

(By Guardian's Special Wire)

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The government of Premier Pierre Etienne Flandin (Radical) was today given a vote of confidence by the Chamber of Deputies as it went on record supporting the government's programme for economic recovery.

The vote, coming after Premier Flandin had personally pleaded for co-operation of all political parties in carrying out his aims, was 444 to 124. It seemed to have disposed for the time at any rate of the fear of a renewed cartel movement, considered mainly responsible for the uneasiness on the Bourse recently.

In a long-awaited explanation of the government's "new deal" policy, the Premier told of the government's hopes to get frozen capital into circulation again by lowering the interest rate on loans to members of all parties.

He was applauded vociferously by members of all parties.

"Through you I appeal to all the people of France," he said, "to call to mind the crisis of 1930 and to see in the people's misery a chance to assassinate the regime." As the Chamber applauded, he went on: "We need silence to work," and asked time for the government to tackle its great task, and confidence while it is working on it.

Many ministers and deputies crowded about Premier Flandin after his speech to congratulate him on the forceful way he had set forth the views of the government.

Flandin said that he admitted the scheme to get money into circulation would be chimerical if France were poverty-stricken, but he denied that that was so. The proof, he said, lay in the fact that deposits in Paris savings banks, during the last month alone, exceeded withdrawals by approximately $35,000,000.

"Firm and financial policies of the government," the Premier declared, "ran afoul of powerful interests. Certain oligarchies do not dare to fight us openly."

The Bank of France was not mentioned in the speech, however, the Premier's reference to hostile "oligarchies" was interpreted by deputies as referring to those members of the bank's board of regents who blocked Flandin's demand that the bank discount government paper to ease credit.

The board yesterday refused even to sanction weekly loans on treasury bonds, railroad bonds with government endorsement, or national defence bonds. This was the minimum programme the Premier tried to put through. His original plan called for discounting by the Bank of France of treasury bonds. The government removed Governor Clement Moret and replaced him with Jean Tannery as a means of gaining the credit facilities.

Govt. Pledges Ultimate Dom. Status For India

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—The Government today met objections to the new constitution for India, on the ground it fails to include concrete reaffirmation of the 1919 pledge of ultimate dominion status, by including this pledge in the draft of instructions that will go to the Governor-General when the new constitution is proclaimed.

The draft instructions also clarified the "safeguards" that will remain in the constitution until a later date when full self-government is granted. The instructions will be submitted to Parliament for approval after the India Bill is passed.

On Dominion status, the draft proclaims it is His Majesty's will that our Governor-General should so exercise the trust which we have reposed in him that the partnership between India and the United Kingdom within our Empire may be furthered to the end that India shall attain its due place among our Dominions.

The instructions provide the Governor-General is to appoint to the Cabinet of the new India and those best in a position collectively to command the confidence of the legislature.

It is stressed that special responsibility for safeguarding India's credit remains and the Governor-General is instructed to make it his duty to see that no policy is pursued prejudicial to India's credit in the money markets of the world.

The rights of minorities are also again set forth and it is laid down that racial or religious communities not specially represented in the legislature, and smaller classes who cannot rely on political action in the legislature, must not suffer or have cause to fear neglect or oppression.

The new constitution's safeguard on tariff treatment for Britain is also made specific in the draft instructions, which says the Governor-General must avoid action affecting the competence of the Government to develop India's own fiscal and economic policy but nevertheless has a special responsibility for preventing measures which would subject goods from the United Kingdom to discriminatory or penal treatment.

YESTERDAY IN PARLIAMENT

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.—Amendments to the Farm Loan Act to extend its operations and re-organize the system under which the farm loan board operates received second reading in the House of Commons today.

In answer to questions from Wilfrid Hanbury (Lib. Vancouver-Burrard) Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, said each application for a loan would be considered on its merit. Mr. Hanbury wondered if the government proposed to make loans where there was a real risk of loss which would not justify a loan on a commercial basis.

Mr. Rhodes said having regard to the desirability of keeping farmers on their land and assisting them the loan board would be justified in lending money where the risk was greater than might be taken by company solely interested in making profits.

Live Lobsters On Parade

PICTOU, Feb. 15.—One of the most colorful programmes ever to be presented in Eastern Canada is planned for Pictou's second annual Lobster Fisheries Carnival on July 10.

In the morning, following the parade, which will be headed by "King Lobster" enthroned, the King being the largest live lobster caught during the spring season, King Neptune will inspect the fishermen, and present a silver cup to the highest fisherman. The best amplifying equipment obtainable will be used to give all an opportunity to hear addresses by civic officials, government representatives and Fisheries officials.

The morning programme also includes short contests applicable to the lobster fishing industry, and while these are in progress, music will be heard from the 78th Regimental Band, and at noon a salute from the warships in the harbour will indicate that lunch hour is at hand.

One of the outstanding attractions will be a lobster garden, where live lobsters will be placed. "The water events programme is scheduled to start at 1 p. m., and this year these events will be open to lobster fishermen from Tormentine, N. B., to North Shore, Cape Breton, making the contests even better than last year. Every type of fishing boat will be represented in the motorboat races, from the "one-lung" to the swift car-engined boats. Shortly after 5 p. m., a boat parade, headed by government cutters, and with fishermen's boats in formation, will move down the harbour to the lighthouse and return, while band music will be heard from the larger craft, warships, freighters, and passenger boats anchored in the harbour.

ROCKLAND, Me., Feb. 15.—Four persons were overcome by smoke, three of them firemen, during a fire today which virtually destroyed the interior of the 3 1-2-story wooden Rockland Hotel here, built in civil war days. Damage was estimated at approximately $50,000.
