

A SUNDAY MORNING FIRE

In J. B. Macdonald & Co's Premises,

Discovered at an Early hour by Officers Taylor and Carter—Estimated Damage $16,000, Partly Covered.

Messrs J. B. Macdonald & Co have again suffered severely as a result of another fire which started in their dry goods store early yesterday morning. While officers Taylor and Carter were walking down Queen St. shortly after midnight on hearing the store of J. B. Macdonald & Co they were started by the smell of smoke and were at first puzzled to know from whence it came. Fearing it to be a fire somewhere in the immediate vicinity they placed their hands on the windows of the store which felt sufficiently warm to arouse their suspicions and believing it to be in the interior of the building they at once hastened to Mr. Macdonald's residence at 4 related the facts which led to a further investigation and subsequently proved to be a fire in the rear of the store. On attempting to enter they found the building full of smoke which made it impossible to proceed. The alarm was immediately given and the fire company promptly arrived. A volume of water was poured in and after about 45 minutes play, some of the company along with Mr. Macdonald, crawled on their hands and knees to the back end of the building in order to open the back door, which on being done allowed a draught and after a few minutes, cleared the smoke sufficiently to locate the fire which was found among some clothing. It was not blazing but was smouldering and extending, having already burned two tables along with a large amount of dry goods. About fifteen minutes more elapsed before the fire was finally quenched and after the water was turned off investigation proved the destruction by fire, smoke and water to be considerable. In fact nearly all the goods throughout the store were badly damaged. The water on the floor was at a depth of over six inches which necessitated the cutting of a hole to let it run through. The firm's loss is estimated at about $16,000, which is partially covered by insurance. The fire is believed to have originated by a spark from an electric arc light which was hanging above the tables where the fire started.

About six years ago Mr. Macdonald, as most of our readers will know, lost his entire building and stock by fire.

Rev. G. P. Raymond, M. A., occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church, as pastor, for the first time yesterday. Despite the unfavorable weather the attendance was excellent at both services, particularly in the evening. In the morning Mr. Raymond spoke on "Prayer," basing his remarks on Job 21: 15: "What is the Almighty that we should serve Him? And what profit should we have if we pray unto Him?" His subject in the evening was "Four lessons from the Prodigal Son." Both his sermons exhibited careful study and original thought. The rev. gentleman's delivery is very clear, vigorous and forcible. The Baptist church is to be congratulated on securing the services of a pastor evidently so well fitted for his task.

Ask for and be sure you get tickets reading via Canadian Pacific Line from and to St. John, N.B.—d12 t123rd.

In the First Methodist church the pastor, Rev. G. M. Campbell, preached at both services to the usual large congregations. His morning theme was Deut. 32-49, the incident recorded being that Moses was sent up to the top of Mount Nebo to see the promised land and die. His text in the evening was found in Luke 9-23, 24.

The usual services were conducted at Grace Church yesterday. Rev. W. J. Kirby preaching both morning and evening. The morning text was from Psalms 48: 9, and the theme was Thankfulness. This was the thanksgiving sermon, as no service will be held in Grace church on Thanksgiving Day. The evening service was largely attended, the theme being from Genesis 17-15, Sarah the Princess, or the danger of beauty. This was the second of an interesting series of sermons on the women of the Bible.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS. A social event of more than ordinary interest took place last Thursday evening, 17th inst., at the residence of William Carruthers, Esq., Tignish, when his daughter Miss Minnie A., was united in marriage to Mr. R. H. Gordon, of Montrose. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. A. D. Macdonald, B. L., in the presence of a number of the most intimate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride, who was very becomingly attired was attended by her sister, Miss Lizzie Carruthers, while the groom was supported by Mr. W. A. Acorn, the popular and efficient manager of the Central Creamery, Charlottetown. The wedding march was sweetly rendered by Miss Sibyl McFadyen. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper prepared and served in a style befitting the occasion. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly whiled away with music, social converse, etc. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents attesting the esteem in which she is held by her many friends. THE GUADIAN extends congratulations and wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon a happy and prosperous journey through life.

An adjourned sitting of the County Court was held Saturday, when judgment was given in the suit of Angus Macdonald vs. the City of Charlottetown. This being an action of damages for negligence of Police Officers in not imprisoning John Ring after he had been convicted on the 3rd of June last by the Stipendiary Magistrate for drunkenness and vagrancy, and sentenced to 90 days. This sentence was suspended by the Magistrate for two hours to enable Ring to leave the city, but he remained therein and on the following day broke the plate glass show window of the Plaintiff, and the glass of the two show cases proved to be the value of $78. Plaintiff claimed that notice was given to the police of Ring's being at large, and they being servants or officers of the city whose duty it was to arrest him the Corporation was liable for their default. Judge Alley delivered a carefully considered written judgment in which he decided that the city was not responsible under the case as proved, and hence judgment of nonsuit was entered against plaintiff. J. J. Johnston, for Plaintiff, F. L. Hazzard, Q. C., for defendants.

ALTHOUGH the weather was unfavorable a large congregation assembled in St. Paul's church on Sunday morning. The Rector and assistant led in the service and the sermon was preached by the Ven. Archdeacon Phair of Winnipeg, from the words "God hath done great things, for us," showing in a most vivid and eloquent way the wonderful work God had wrought among the Indians of the North West through the Church of England. The preacher's power was so pathetic that at times the congregation was moved deeply. The Archdeacon will speak again on Wednesday evening in St. Paul's schoolroom and no one who desires a blessing should fail to hear him. The Bishop of Nova Scotia preached at the evening service from 2 Cor. 8: 9 on the subject of "Convictions necessary to do good works." It is impossible to give an idea of the sermon in the space at our disposal, but it is needless to say it was a masterpiece of convincing eloquence such as is not heard in Charlottetown except when the Bishop preaches. The church was packed to the doors and the large audience listened with wrapt attention for nearly an hour.

THE services at the re-opening of St. James' Church yesterday were conducted morning and evening by Rev. Mr. Gandier of Fort Massey Church, Halifax. His text in the morning was found in Psalm 84, showing how the prophet was longing for the communion of the sanctuary and describing how blessed they are that dwell therein; how as he watched the pilgrims on their way to Zion, in his heart he longed to be with them; how his soul did cry out for the living God and the pining and wasting away of his flesh was a result of the intensity of his yearning to be with them in the house of God; not because of any attractiveness about the structure; it was not an enchanting or beautiful edifice that so entranced him—for the sanctuary was not such. But he believed that God did manifest himself there as he did in no other place. "How amiable are Thy tabernacles Oh Lord of Hosts!" 'Twas not so much the house that made it his goal. Neither did elaborate teaching take the place of a warm evangelical Christianity. As the pilgrims journeyed upward to Zion they found the road was one with many obstacles, but through their persistent faith the Lord gave them strength and carried them over all the many trials, discouragements and disappointments. They rejoiced as they went along; "from strength to strength everyone appeareth in Zion before God." Some people have to be coaxed to church while others require to be driven, but the prophet mentioned in the chapter could not rest or be content away from it. He even envied the birds that built their nests about the altars. In his sermon the reverend gentleman, with dedicating to God's glory the splendid church in which they were now worshipping, hoped it would be a home for all who cried out for the living God. "Blessed are they that dwell in the house of God." God is near to all who call upon him in spirit and in truth. The discourse was a powerful effort to portray the blessedness to be found in the house of God and the earnestness with which men should strive over all obstacles to seek that great goal. In the afternoon at the children's service Rev. G. M. Campbell of the First Methodist, and Rev. W. J. Kirby of Grace Church delivered highly interesting and appropriate addresses. In the evening Rev. Mr. Gandier's text was taken from Matt. 26-7, "For what purpose is this waste?" A deeply interested congregation packed the church and there were many chairs set in the aisles.
