

THE PRINCE COUNTY GUARDIAN

Offices in Summerside, Miss Amy G. Burrows, Agent, Summer Street, and J. F. Lafferty, Water Street, News Correspondent, and in Alberton, Herbert Clark, Agent.

The latest news first of all.

The Caspasia is due in Summerside from Montreal with a very large cargo, about daylight this morning.

The steam yacht Sioux, from New York for Thousand Islands via St Lawrence, put into Summerside harbor yesterday afternoon for shelter.

At the recent closing exercises of Laval University, Quebec, Alfred E. R. Murphy of Tignish was awarded second prize in the general aggregate in his class and first prize in English and arithmetic.

The thunder and lightning storm of Wednesday is reported to have been very heavy in the western part of the Island. At O'Leary a barn belonging to B. D. Campbell is reported to have been struck by the lightning and burnt to the ground.

The S. S. City of Ghent arrived in Summerside about five o'clock yesterday afternoon and left for Halifax about midnight, taking from Summerside about twelve hundred bags oats and potatoes besides a quantity of hay, butter and a number of empty casks.

Mr. J. H. Bell of Summerside will lecture in the Tryon Hall on Monday, June 27, at 8 p.m., under the auspices of the Methodist Church. His subject will be "A Pilgrimage to the Holy Land." This will be a treat, affording both instruction and delight and a large attendance is anticipated. Admission 15 cents.

The large barn at the rear of Goulet's Drugstore, Summerside, known as "Crabbe's" barn has been sold to James Carver who has had it torn down and will use the lumber to build a large barn on his farm at Misouche. This is one of the oldest buildings in Summerside and its removal will greatly improve the appearance of that part of the town as well as do away with an acknowledged fire trap.

A pleasing feature of the annual school meeting of Tignish this year and one worthy of mention, where a teacher has rendered signal service, was the presentation of a formal address to the retiring principal, Isadore Mallin. The recipient is one of the most successful teachers of this Province and has been in charge of Tignish School for two years. His retirement is deeply regretted on account of his estimable qualities as a teacher and as a citizen.

WINDOW BOXES.

Window boxes are a striking addition to any house, whether in the city or the country. They seem a little more lovely in the city, however, where their brilliant color adds so much gaiety to sometimes dull and monotonous streets. They are consolation to the dwellers in the house and a positive benediction to the public. The owner who maintains window boxes on his city house when he himself is away, gives evidence of high citizenship and shows consideration for fellow-men less fortunate than he.

It is a pity that city houses must be closed in summer, for there is little more dreary than a house with dusty windows showing nothing but green shades within. If the windows could only be open, with gay colored curtains fluttering from them, and brilliantly striped awnings, and flourishing plants in the window boxes, how different and how picturesque our cities would be in summer!

In the country, too, window boxes are attractive and may be filled with a greater variety of plants than in the city, if one cares to take the trouble of frequently changing them. Any flowering plant whose roots are not too large may be transplanted to the window box, left there until its beauty is passed, when it can be replaced by something else.

When the window sills are broad, as they usually are on stone houses, a box sufficiently large can be placed on the sill and will need no fastening. On a wooden house, however, there will not be room on the sill, and the blinds could not be closed, so the boxes must be supported on wooden brackets below the window.

The boxes must have holes in the bottom for drainage, and must be filled with good potting soil on top of a layer of sphagnum moss or peat-herds, also for drainage.

The color of the flowers should be chosen with some regard for the color of the house. Pink geraniums rather than red, with a brick house, seems an elementary canon of taste, but is often violated.

Nasturtiums, either the dwarfs for the back of the box, or the climbing kinds planted in front so that they will hang over, are very satisfactory.

The so-called German Ivy (Senecio scandens) is a good trailing vine in window boxes, and is almost as typical of such a situation as pansies, geraniums, lobelia, and sweet alyssum. Petunias, begonias and many other annuals and house plants may be used as the taste of the owner dictates. The main thing is to have these boxes gay and brilliant—even gaudy—and for this geraniums and nasturtiums will probably be best. Nasturtium Homes and Gaudens.

A FRIEND TO THE POOR.

(New York Sun.) They numbered four. They abounded exuded prosperity. The things which they ordered were such as to fill with envy the breast of the man at the next table, engaged in counting the most modest dish disclosed by the bill of fare. The four were conversing—languid, plutocratic conversation. After a while it turned to the question of money. Evidently they wanted to do something. How much money had they? One of the four took out his pocketbook and counted up a roll of bills. "Oh, I have $145," he said carelessly. The second and third members of the party went through their pockets. "I have $215," remarked one. "And I have $369," said the other. The fourth waved his hand—grandy. "Never mind, you fellows," he said. "I'll lend you all you want." Truly the waitress bore the man at the next table out into the cold air. He will recover.

HEARST RISES TO REMARK.

(Exchange.) Apropos of a report that he had been robbed in Milan of a large sum of money, the London Daily Mail received the following letter from William Randolph Hearst, editor and proprietor of the New York American and allied newspapers in the United States: "I have not been in Milan. I have not been in any part of Italy. I have not been out of England and France since my arrival in Europe. I have not been robbed of $25,000. I have not been robbed of twenty-five cents, nor of any money nor of any pocketbook of any kind. I have not lost anything except my respect for the accuracy of the English newspapers. Perhaps I have not even lost that, for I believe this ridiculous robbery story originated in the Paris Herald."

AN ECHO OF THE CIRCUS.

Alberton's Grand Tea Party Will be held on Wednesday, July 20th

Alberton has long been noted as a delightful summer resort, and the tea grounds are in the centre of its beauty. Undulating fields deck the landscape, and the deep and dark blue sea ripples on the shores of the tea grounds.

There will be all kinds of refreshments and amusements that can be procured, as the people realize that it pays to treat the public well. The tea and dining tables will be carefully attended to by expert cooks and waiters. The proceeds are for the Sacred Heart Church, who desires a day of gladness should keep mind on Alberton Tea. Train regulations later.
