SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON A BEAUTIFUL BABY

LESSON VIII. NOVEMBER 24. GOLDEN TEXT.

Mark 9: 2-13.

THE TRANSFIGURATION.

"A voice came out of the cloud, saying: 'This is my Son, my chosen; hear ye Him. And when the voice came Jesus was found alone.'"—Luke 9: 35-36.

POINTED SUGGESTIONS.

By Roy D. W. Snider. His lesson is not peculiar to the Sunday school, but it is approached, but it may be said to be of such a character that the man whose heart is worldly, unspiritual or gross cannot approach its study at all. It is meaningless, mystical superstition to such a one, without practical application or human value. But he is wrong, as the unspiritual are always wrong, in their interpretation of the ways and works of God. The fact that the words of Peter were foolish because his impulsive de-

Gained Wonderfully After Being Put On A Well Known Food.

Mrs. B. Warner of 32 Winnifred Ave., Toronto, in writing about Neave's Food, says, "I have used Neave's Food for my baby and it has agreed when everything else failed. He has gained wonderfully since I started giving it to him."

Mr. A. J. Pogue, Labelle Street, Montreal, writes, under date 13 Oct: "My little daughter, born Aug. 15th, likes Neave's Food very much. She is a bunch of fun."

Mrs. J. Fallon of Whitchy, Ont., says "Neave's Food is the only food that has agreed with our little boy. He is bright, and his flesh is firm, since taking it."

Neave's Food has been the standard Infant's Food in Great Britain for more than 85 years.

Mothers and prospective mothers may obtain a free tin of Neave's Food and a valuable book, "Hints About Baby" by writing Edwin Utley, 14 Front Street East, Toronto, who is the Agent for Canada. (Mention this paper.)

brow and listens to her whispers of love. His soul thus filled up again with joy and high resolve is made ready to meet life's duties and face life's temptations and fight life's battles with courage and power.

It must be noticed that Jesus did not remain, nor dally with the thought of remaining upon the mount of His high experience, which was a foretaste of His resurrection, exaltation and glory. It was sufficient as a foretaste. It will be the joy set before Him. But He came back to His redemptive work, lonely though it was to be, and sorrowful and humiliating to the point of mockings, and scourgings and crucifixion.

While that is the great thought of the lesson, namely, that Jesus chose to return from the gate of heaven and from the transcendent joys of heavenly intercourse to make salvation possible for us by dying a death into sin once for all, there are other precious suggestive lessons for our consideration and profit.

Luke says it was as Jesus prayed that the fashion of His countenance was altered. Therein is to be found the essential condition for all transfiguration experiences. As men pray their faces change because their characters are being changed into the image of their Master, from glory to glory, even as from the Lord, the Spirit.

Though the quiet hour is needed, and men do well to keep their trust with God sacredly, the cloister life is not the best. Those who would be God's servants must choose his service, even in its hardest fields. The pledge of life hereafter in glorious company and interested employment is vouchsafed by the presence with Jesus upon the transfiguration height of Moses and Elias, who had gone before.

What is called epochal, or era-making in the hands of epoch or era-making men are but as peaks in one mountain range. They belong to each other by all that lies between. Moses, Elijah, Jesus—they belong to us if we belong to God. Every one of them dwell with men in the valleys.

sire was to remain with his august company in booths upon the height where he saw the glory of the Lord, points us to such meanings of the wondrous scene as are most vital to Christian faith and piety.

The transfiguration experience, we can believe, was of the utmost value to Jesus Himself. How much he longed for the opportunity of such high converse as that which He held with Moses and Elijah and for the strengthening of heavenly approval and guidance, of course, none can say; but of His isolation in thought and plan during the weary years of humiliation none can doubt. What comfort to him could blundering disciples be, or the hungry-mouthed, worldly scribbles, or malicious, persecuting scribes and priests.

He was doubtless strengthened in some such way as the clerk who has gone aside from the push and grind, the temptation and snare of the city, is strengthened by the prayer-inspired tonic of his mother's hearstone, as again he feels her hand on his

About 'Orphan' Gloves

You wouldn't think, of course, of buying a pair of gloves with a finger or two missing—not if you owned a full hand.

But you might do WORSE

With your eyes open at that.

You might and often do pay out good money for gloves that crack, crack, rip, stretch, shrivel or go "punk" the first time they get wet.

Then, when you look for some satisfaction, your dealer shrugs his shoulders, looks wise, and says—"Oh, 'Gloves'; we can't guarantee GLOVES."

But that same dealer COULD guarantee H. B. K. gloves and YOU could get a new pair if ever your H. B. K. glove went wrong.

Why doesn't your dealer sell H. B. K. ?

Why doesn't EVERY glove dealer sell H. B. K. Gloves—the ONLY Canada-made guaranteed gloves. They ought to, but they probably make more profit on other gloves.

Pretty rough on YOU, though, to have to buy fatherless gloves on account of the "more profit" ideas of your dealer. Is it not? What are you going to do about it? that's the thing.

Are you going to keep on buying gloves on the three finger plan—short measure, no responsible guarantee, no satisfaction when they go wrong.

Or are you going to be WISE and insist on getting the good reliable H. B. K. brand guaranteed by the FACTORY—the ONLY safe guarantee you can get.

Every H. B. K. glove is practically a made-to-order glove so far as Care and Quality and Cost—to produce—are concerned. Every horsehide we cut up for H. B. K. guaranteed gloves is SPECIALLY tanned for H. B. K. requirements, making the leather extra THICK and ELASTIC and putting into it extra WEAR.

After this special tanning, each hide is carefully gauged, inspected and examined by our expert, for quality, finish, toughness, and tensile strength before we accept it from the tannery.

No easy matter for a tannery to live up to H. B. K. glove requirements, depend on that. We accept "firsts" and "firsts" only. Other fellows can have the "seconds" and "thirds."

And all this trouble and care and expense because we want every man in Canada to know that DEPEND on the wearing quality of H. B. K. gloves.

How about it, Mr. Glove-buyer?

Is it H. B. K. for yours or some fatherless gloves.
