LONDON SEASON PROMISES TO BE BRILLIANT

Crush of Motor Cars Going to Royal Academy's Headquarters at Burlington House so Great that Traffic in Piccadilly was Held up Repeatedly

LONDON, May 5. — If the London season continues to be blessed with the weather conditions which prevailed for the great opening event today, the private view of the royal academy exhibition,—it will be one of the most brilliant in many years. Continuous but unoppressive sunshine greeted the event.

The crush of motor cars going to the Royal Acadamy's headquarters at Burlington House was so great that traffic in Piccadilly was held up repeatedly. This, however, merely gave the crowds on the sidewalks a better opportunity of identifying the more prominent of the social leaders.

Among the works in the galleries by far the most arresting were the six mystical pictures by Charles Sim, who met a tragic death in Scotland a few weeks ago. Filled with uncanny figures and sombre colors, they seemed as if intended to express the anguish of the soul of their creator. The crowd around them were today constrained to speak in whispers and then to move silently on.

Very different in every way was the effect of "The brothers" by 14 year old Joan Manning Saunders who was present herself and received the hearty congratulations of some of the greatest painters in the land, with charming simplicity.

No academy is complete without portraits of Their Majesties. Sir Arthur Cope has painted the King as an admiral and in the robes of the Order of the Garter, and Arthur T. Nowell has created a truly regal portrait of the Queen in deep blue. Mr. Baldwin today looked upon his own counterfeit by Oswald Birley and passed on to inspect the likeness of Mr. Lloyd George, who has given his subject a springlike appearance both in costume and countenance.

Farm Boy Shot Parents, Sisters And Brothers

(Canadian Press)

ELDORADO, Kas., May 4.—Owen Oberst, 17 year old farm boy, has confessed that he shot and killed his parents and his five brothers and sisters at their farm home near Burns the night of April 20, County Attorney Stanley Taylor announced today. After slaying members of the family Oberst set fire to the farmhouse in an effort to destroy evidence of the crime.

The confession related that he had planned the deed only two hours before it was carried out. He "just got mad" at his father because he would not allow him to use the family automobile, Oberst said.

He insisted that his mother had "nothing to do with it" and that he planned and carried out the killings unaided.

Degrees By Wireless

(By British United Press)

LONDON, April 28.—A time is coming soon when wireless listeners may be able to matriculate and later secure their degrees as an outcome of the lessons they learn from their loud speakers.

That, at least, is the kind of prospect held out by the report of a special committee, under Sir Henry Hadow, vice-chancellor of Sheffield University, which has carefully considered the whole question of adult education by broadcasting.

"New Ventures in Broadcasting" is the title of the report, running to 108 pages, which the committee has just issued and the general recommendation is in favour of specialised adult education by means of the garden aerial and the wirless receiving set.

"The most satisfactory method of providing a regular educational service," states the report, 'would be to set aside the whole or the main part of one-wave-length capable of covering the whole country for a special service of lectures, music, etc.

"Until this proves practicable, a definite proportion of time in general programmes should be allotted to general talks and certain periods at appropriate times of day should be allotted to more formal education. Under a system of alternative wavelengths, the latter would require at least one hour daily after 7:30 p. m., in addition to talks at other times of day."

Educational authorities are to be invited to co-operate in this instructural broadcast movement, and it is suggested that a body, to be called the Central Council for Adult Education should be called into being to plan educational programmes.

All the costs of this development towards more serious broadcasting should be met, the committee advise out of the part of the revenue from wireless licenses now retained by the Postmaster-General.

How the majority of ordinary, everyday "let's switch on the dance music" listeners will regard the proposed innovations remains to be seen. Wireless will be banished from many homes when the higher mathematics are floating through the ether.

OPPOSITION TO OTTAWA EXPENDITURES

Expenditures on the Governor General's Residence Provoke Considerable Criticism From Different Quarters.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

OTTAWA, May 6. — After a three hours blockade of items in the estimates for the improvement of Ottawa on Friday afternoon, the evening was largely occupied in a rumpus kicked up by the labor party and certain of the Progressives in respect of Rideau Hall for which $50,000 was asked for furnishing and alterations, and the debate wound up by Mr. Woodsworth moving an amendment reducing the amount to $10,000.

The defence was that during the war and subsequently the Governor-General's residence had run down and was becoming "shabby" in its appointments. It was not seemly that the representative of His Majesty should be deprived of those comforts appropriate to the dignity and official standing of the position. The Minister of Finance even pointed out that on certain high occasions it had been necessary for Rideau Hall to borrow cutlery, dishes, etc.

Curiously enough in that connection Mr. Woodsworth enumerated a list of expenditures on Rideau Hall from 1917 to 1927, inclusive, which amounted to over $862,000 and included such items, as pots, jugs, coffee sets, dishes, pianos and billiard tables which ranged "per" from $250 to $1600 in price. This, to the common man, he declared, did not look as though the occupants of Rideau Hall were being starved.

The Hon. Mr. Stevens, Vancouver, was inclined to believe there was extravagance in the up-keep of the Governor-General's residence. Altogether it was an occasion in which "democracy" had its innings in the approved style, and in rather curious contrast to the old days when Liberals used to denounce regularly any outlays for the vice-regal residence.

A bill which provides for the extension of the provincially owned Edmonton and Dunvegan Railway was held up Friday night in the limited time—one hour—devoted to such measures. About a hundred bills behind it on the order paper were incidentally blockaded, some of them of public importance and the bulk of them of importance to parties who seek parliamentary relief for their domestic situation by means of divorce.

The railway bill was not argued on its merits, because it has all but gone through and is approved in its principle, but a few of the Liberal members, especially one from Ontario, recalled how a bill from his district had been blockaded by Alberta Progressives and others and proceeded to retaliate. The westerners having butted into the East, it was demonstrated how it is possible for the East to butt into the local concerns of the West. The bill was not defeated but only held up and it will be discussed again, but with the session coming to an end the great accumulation of these private measures causes some apprehension to the parties particularly interested.

British Columbia for about five or six years has been demanding exclusive control and monopoly for the government of liquor import and export, and at the last interprovincial conference there seemed to be unanimity on the subject so that a bill was passed in the Commons giving effect to the view. It appears, however, that the government of B. C. proposes, as was predicted all along, to license the Distillers Limited, of that province to deal exclusively in the import and export business for the purpose of "blending", and when the bill came before the Senate last night it was held up by British Columbia representatives who challenge that method of doing business.

A couple of years ago there was a real scandal about liquor interests donating large sums to political parties and it is now feared if not so expressed, that as an election is due for this summer there may be a fruitful source of election funds in the distilleries. Senator Barnard for one, questioned the constitutionality of attempting to restrict the right from one province to the other.

Sockets for nuts of six different sizes are carried in the handle of a new wrench.

To Take Care Of Would-be Suicides

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 5. —A chain of "suicide homes" all over Hungary is the latest idea of the Government to take care of those who would kill themselves and those who have been saved from doing so. Plans were completed today for the establishment of a series of these refuges.

To remove the stigma of "self-murder" the superintendents of these homes will be ordered to keep secret the names, family connections and social standing of all the inmates.

The Government hopes that the creation of the homes will effectually reduce the number of Hungary's ever increasing suicides, which in the last twelve months have totalled 4,300.

Those taking advantage of the care thus provided by the government will be given moral and material support so that they can start life again. Employment will be found for them, and their families will be assisted.

Hungary is the first country in the world to inaugurate this vital social innovation which is expected to set an example for the rest of Europe.

Two Drowned In St. Lawrence River

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, May 6. — Two men lost their lives by drowning and a third had a narrow escape from a similar fate when the boat in which they were fishing in the St. Lawrence River here today capsized. The accident occurred when one of the fishermen stood up in the boat to haul in his line. The victims were Arthur Plante, 50; and Alfred Jordin, 28, both of this city.

Favor Increase In Judges Salaries

(Special to The Guardian)

OTTAWA, May 5.—The committee on judges' salaries will complete their work in another sitting and will be prepared to report to Parliament their findings next week. Apparently the majority of the committee strongly favors an increase in salaries to the judiciary. Counsel whose practice lies chiefly before the higher courts stress the necessity of larger salaries for the judges of these courts while other counsel are pleading the cause of the county court judges.

Miss MacPhail has shown much sympathy toward the request for more money for the judges. Hon. N. W. Rowell, K. C., today urged that judges of the supreme court receive $20,000 per annum where the salaries are now $15,000 for the chief justice and $12,000 for other justices.

Canada To Have Two New Torpedo Boat Destroyers

OTTAWA, May 5. — The Citizen today says in a newspaper feature:

"The Government is calling for tenders for the construction of the two new torpedo boat destroyers which are to be added to the Canadian Navy. Proposals are being invited from some fifteen British builders through the Canadian High Commissioners.

"The destroyers are designed to be of the 'A' class of the Admiralty, but those tendering are authorized to submit alternative designs.

"The combined cost of the two vessels will be $3,000,000. No mention is yet made of the time the new vessels are to be delivered."

Appointments In Commission's Hands

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5.—The Secretary of State for External Affairs has placed the appointment of a first secretary and a third secretary in Canada's new diplomatic service in the hands of the civil service commission. It is specified that the vacancy is for male secretaries and there is comment in Ottawa against the discrimination that women are being kept out of the senate and now out of the diplomatic service.

The Star understands however that there will be no sex discrimination in the diplomatic service in future but that women will be put on the same basis as men.

$1800 Secured By Holdup Men

(Canadian Press)

TORONTO, May 5.— Eighteen hundred dollars was secured by two holdup men who accosted N. K. Reid, and Miss Maysie Farr, employees of a structural steel company, as they left a motor car in a garage at the rear of premises on the east esplanade at noon today.

22 Children Drowned

(Canadian Press)

MOSCOW, May 6. — Twenty-two children were drowned today when a boat which was carrying them down the Kuban River capsized. Twelve bodies have been recovered. The Kuban River rises in the Caucasus and flows into the Sea of Azoy.

Eugene Lafleur, K. C., and G. H. Montgomery, K. C., Montreal, G. F. Henderson, K. C., Ottawa, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K. C., Peterboro, and Nicol Jeffrey, K. C., Guelph, all advocated salary increases. Messrs. Henderson, Jeffrey and Gordon particularly urged the claims of county judges.

In Ontario county judges at present receive $5,000 per annum and another $1,000 for other work. They are asking a minimum salary of $9,000. The prevailing sentiment is to give county court judges a minimum salary of $7,500 a year and to increase the salaries of the judges of the higher courts $2,500 per annum.

VALLEY IS THREATENED BY DISASTER

Twenty Thousand Residents Fearing Dam Break, Flee from Homes to Higher Ground.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 5. — Saluada river valley was deserted today as the spectre of flood disaster hovered over the mill towns and farms along the river's banks.

Impending collapse of the huge new earthen dam of the Greenville water system sent 20,000 residents of the valley to higher ground last night when B. W. Andre, Table Rock inn keeper, broadcast a warning that the 5,000,000,000 gallons of water impounded in the artificial lake were boring through a large leak around the outlet valve at the bottom of the dyke.

The inn keeper's warning was carried by courier and telephone and the thousands left their homes to the mercy of the floods, taking only what possessions they could carry.

While no loss of life was feared, extensive property damage was inevitable.

JAPANESE WAGE WAR IN TSINAN

Number of Casualties in Battle Between Chinese Nationalists and Japanese Troops.

(Special to The Guardian)

PEKING, May 5.—Scant advices from Tsinan, battleground of Chinese nationalists and Japanese troops who formed a protective cordon around foreigners concentrated there today, indicated that the situation continued to be extremely serious. Word was received at Shanghai from Tsinan consulate that all Americans were safe.

The firing which continued all day yesterday, however, ceased at 7 p. m. Four hours later a message from Tsinan said there was no more firing at that hour. Advices said several Japanese women were assaulted and killed by the southerners, the nationalists. The naked and maltreated body of one Japanese woman was found near her countrymen's lines of defense

The Japanese captured from the nationalists two mountain guns, 20,000 shells, 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition and 2,000 hand grenades. The last information put the Japanese military casualties up to 10 a. m. yesterday at 10 killed and 33 wounded.

The northern government protested to the Japanese legation against the sending of the Japanese troops into Tsinan on the ground that the Chinese authorities were able to maintain order.

LONDON, May 5.—Official nationalist sources at Tsinianfu have informed the British Foreign office that the British Consul General and other British residents are alive and safe.

TOKYO, May 6. — All Japanese and other foreign residences at Tsinan with the exception of those inside the settlement which the Japanese troops are defending, are being looted systematically amid the most gruesome scenes, according to messages from that city.

The bodies of six more Japanese, residents of the area outside the settlement, including those of some women, have been discovered, all bearing the signs of the most brutal atrocities.
