Head Offices in New Prowse Block—Charlottetown.

The latest news, first of all.

Sydney vs Charlottetown at the big Arena tonight.

Sleighting is excellent all over the west and as a result business is quite brisk.

Any person who has a desirable city residence with all modern improvements to let should apply at this office at once.

The Young People's Association of the First Methodist Church meets tonight at eight o'clock. Several interesting papers have been prepared and a profitable evening is anticipated.

It is with deep regret that we announce the severe illness in Boston of Mrs. Mary McDonald, a former and highly esteemed resident of Charlottetown, and the mother of Fred McDonald of this city, the trouble being cancer of the stomach.—Exam.

Walter Buntz of South Rustico has received a telegram from Denver, Colorado, announcing the death of his sister Maria, wife of John A. Dickerson of New Dominion and stating that the body will be brought home for burial. Funeral notice later.

The people of Belfast have presented Rev. S. D. McPhee, their pastor, with a very valuable set of harness and a beautiful sash robe, and Mrs. McPhee with a well filled purse. These gifts are highly appreciated as tangible expressions of loyalty and good will.

At the City Police Court, yesterday, the case of Robert Jenkins vs. Annie Doyle for third offence was dismissed. The case of Robert Jenkins vs. Joseph Alexander was adjourned till next Thursday. Victor Stewart MacDonald for drunkenness and disorderly conduct on Sunday last, was fined four dollars or fifteen days. He paid the fine. In the case of Harry Palmer for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, he was fined twenty dollars or sixty days. He took the days. The case of Alexander Currie charged with drunkenness was dismissed as it was his first appearance.

The hockey team challenge any local team for a friendly game of hockey to be played in the Vics Rink at any date convenient for both parties. If it should be so desirable to their opponents the challengers would like to have a goose supper provided by those defeated, and they in any case guarantee to do the carving of the fowl in a skillful manner. The captain is Joseph Mahar, well known as holding that position on the Vics team. The goal keeper McCusick will uphold his provincial reputation before the nets. Harrington who was starting with the Creams on their recent tour will be in evidence. G. Berrigan will play point and A. Hughes cover point. With J. Reardon the speedy left wing, and A. Trainor as the right, the team promises an interesting struggle with any club, and as the season is nearly over the Knights of the scissors will be glad to receive challenges at the earliest possible date. These should be sent to Captain Mahar, and in conclusion it may be well to add that the popular T. Reardon will exhibit his sporting ability in carrying the hockey sticks.

The grim reaper death visited Hampton on March 10th and summoned from time to eternity one of its most respected citizens, Laughlin R. McKinnon, in the thirty-ninth year of his age. The late Mr. McKinnon was a man of great worth and sterling integrity and by his early demise the community loses a good citizen, neighbor and friend. He was the son of the late Chas. McKinnon of DeSable. At an early age he served his apprenticeship at a blacksmith which occupation he followed till the time of his death. For about 200 years he suffered severely from stomach trouble and despite all that medical skill and kind treatment could do he passed away. He was attended during his last illness by Rev. Wm. McLeod through whose faithfulness he was led to see Christ as his Redeemer. He leaves to mourn a sorrowing widow, five children, an aged mother, three brothers and four sisters, besides a large number of friends and relatives. Mr. McKinnon was a prominent Mason, a member of The Brother's Lodge Crapaud. The funeral took place on Friday March 12th, the services at the house being conducted by the Revs Wm. McLeod and Jas. McDougall and at the grave by the Masons. His remains were laid at rest in the old burying ground at Hampton and the large number of people which followed the hearse fully testified to the high esteem in which deceased was held by all who knew him.

Mrs. C. M. Pate is visiting in the City.

Now for the Vics, it's up to them can they win, see the big game tonight.

A. W. Weeks and daughter Miss Louisa are visiting in Halifax, the guests of Mrs. H. U. Freedy, Elmwood.

The regular meeting of the Kimberley L. T. B. will be held tonight at eight o'clock sharp. A full attendance is requested.

Rev. S. D. McPhee of Belfast, has so far recovered from his serious illness that he expects to occupy his pulpit on the next Sabbath.

East Royalty branch of the Marshfield Farmers Institute will hold its regular meeting in Heartz's Hall Monday March 22, at 7.30 p. m. Discussion, Seed Question and Poultry Industry. All members requested to attend.

Neil McQuarrie, of Summerside, was called home from Malde City Wednesday, by the news of the sudden illness of Mrs. McQuarrie, whom it is pleasing to report has slightly improved although not considered out of danger.

Dr. Ings, of Calgary, (a native of Charlottetown, P. R. I.) is being strongly urged by his friends to accept the Conservative nomination of Okotoks against the Liberal candidate Malcolm McHardie. He has not yet made any announcement upon his intentions.

A very large congregation gathered at North Rustico Church, Rev. John Stirling preached most impressively from John 12-32: And I if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto Me. At the offertory Miss Mal Woolner sang Come Unto Me which was beautifully rendered and much appreciated.

The funeral of the late William C. McCarthy took place from his father's residence, Spring Park Road, yesterday morning at 8.45, and despite the bad weather, was largely attended. The pall bearers were John Duffy, Thos. Doyle, Alfred Callaghan, Edward Hennessey, Percy Down and Robert McClary. A Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Hogan, and the funeral proceeded to the R. C. Cemetery.

The following clipping is taken from The Chelsea Gazette, Mass., of March 6th and Mr. Rice referred to is well known in this Province which he visited each summer and has many relatives here—Obadiah Rice a prominent and highly esteemed citizen of this city died suddenly at his place of business on Long Wharf, Boston, Tuesday afternoon. He was apparently in the best of health when about 3 o'clock in the afternoon he went to open a window in the office, fell to the floor and expired. Mr. Rice was born in Boston in 1836, the son of Obadiah Rice a well known silversmith of that time. In his younger years he followed the sea, his voyages taking him to the West Indies and the west African coast. He left the sea to take a position with Franklin Snow one of the pioneer fish merchants of Boston. Some 25 years ago he became associated with E. T. Russell & Co., large fish jobbers, and as a salesman covered the New England coast, the Provinces, Newfoundland, also went to Ireland and the continent. He was with this concern at the time of his death. Mr. Rice took an active interest in city affairs and was honored by his fellow citizens in being elected a member of the Common Council and the Board of Aldermen serving two years in each body. Previous to the fire he resided for 22 years at 133 Shurtleff street, and succeeding it he lived in Everett until a few weeks ago when he took up his residence at 53 Bellingham street where he had just become pleasantly settled. The sterling qualities of Mr. Rice, his affability and kind words for every one won for him a host of friends who sincerely mourn his loss. He is survived by a widow and one son, Aquila Rice of this city, three sisters Mrs. Joshua Reynolds and Mrs. James Emery of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Frank Wheelock of Washington, D. C. and one brother, Aquila Rice of Philadelphia.

FAMILY TROUBLE ENDED IN TRAGEDY

BUCKSPORT, Me., March 17.—Famously, troubles between Raymond Heath, 70 years old, and his wife, a few years younger, culminated this afternoon when Heath slashed his wife's throat. Both are dead. The tragedy took place in the heart of the village. Mrs. Heath living in a cottage on Centre street, a few doors off Main street, and in sight of the post office. There were no eye-witnesses but Coroner E. L. Beasley, who made an immediate investigation, says there is no doubt but that he dashed into where Mrs. Heath was washing dishes at the sink, slashed her throat and then went up stairs and served his own jugular. A trail and pools of blood about the house plainly tell the story.

The double tragedy ended a married life stormy for a number of years, and husband and wife had been living apart for some months the latter having applied for a divorce. Heath, who was formerly a fisherman and who has been mate of a coasting vessel, was a widower with a number of grown-up children. He married Mrs. Alden Harriman, a widow, also with several children, about thirteen years ago. Heath spent the most of his time at sea, but when at home frequently quarrelled with his wife. While she was out of the house and he was not a hard drinker, he was of a quarrelsome disposition when not people rushed to her assistance. Last fall he was before the municipal court on complaint of his wife, who showed bruises which said had been inflicted by her husband. The judge ordered Heath to furnish bonds to keep the peace and sons by his first wife—John of Kansas, and Fred of Guilford. Mrs. Heath began proceedings for divorce, and Heath when not at sea lived in a boarding-house. Mrs. Heath kept house for her two grown-up sons, employed in the tannery here, and relied upon them to a considerable extent for protection. The first intimation of the tragedy was about 9 o'clock this morning when Mrs. Heath was seen to run from the house screaming, with blood
