DEMONSTRATION
The recent roundtable conference at London could proceed with some approximation of peace. Jubbulpore's Nationalists won their "patience contest" with the police yesterday but lost their position on the main street of the city, where they had been squatting since last Tuesday. The contest started when police forbade a parade that had been scheduled for the Mahatma Gandhi followers, whereupon they settled in the middle of the road and refused to budge.

Narrow Escape For Choiristers
MONTREAL, Que. Jan. 19. (By the Canadian Press)—Investigating a strange movement in the cellar below a room where the Hungarian Roman Catholic Church of St. Emerick Choir was practising, the janitor tonight found a man with two tomato cans on which he had balanced lighted candles. A bottle stood nearby.
The puzzled janitor called a policeman who found the cans contained gunpowder and the bottle filled with nitroglycerine. He placed Joseph Maschuha, 31, under arrest and sought a motive for what appeared to be an attempt to wreck the building.
It was learned that Maschuha at one time belonged to the choir. Defective headquarters stated later in the evening the man had admitted he sought the death of a certain member of the choir, a love tangle being the motive.

Japan Wants Clearer Definition
TOKYO, Jan. 9. (A.P.)—Japan may propose revision of the nine-power treaty to make more clear the definition of "administrative integrity" it was stated on good authority today.
The proposal for revision would be made, it was said, at a conference to be called to consider the present situation.
The recent representations of United States secretary of state Henry L. Stimson, to Japan on the Manchurian question were based partially on the nine-power treaty's provisions.

Took Bribes
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—An accident to a rum-running vessel off Long Island put the coast guard on a trial of petty bribery leading to court martial charges against 24 of its enlisted personnel.
Rear Admiral F. G. Billard, commandant of the coast guard, disclosed today that four men had already faced coast guard court-martial and 20 others would do so. No commissioned officers were involved.

P. E. I. System of Oyster Culture To Be Followed
OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9.—(By The Dominion Press)—The Dominion Government intends to do, through the Department of Fisheries, exactly what was done in connection with the development of the Prince Edward Island oyster beds, declared W. A. Found, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, tonight when asked what the Department's policy would be relative to the oyster farming industry of Shediac Bay.
In the spring physical and scientific surveys will be undertaken in Shediac Bay and investigations carried on with a view to the cultivation and development of oyster farming. When the department is satisfied that that development has reached a point sufficient to warrant the introduction of private capital and the establishment of the industry it will do everything possible to encourage the exploitation of oyster farming by private interests.
Mr. Found thought that the success which had attended the Department's efforts in Prince Edward Island had stimulated the New Brunswick fishermen to ask that the Shediac Bay areas be turned over to the Dominion.
Involved. Billard said no coast guard officer had ever been charged with such an offense.

TURNIPS—During the past week turnip dealers along the line and in Charlottetown were kept busy and the result was a heavy movement to the Boston and New England market. The sharp advance in price with favorable roads and weather caused turnips to load rapidly. Results from such heavy shipments during the week are awaited by the different dealers. The price paid was 14 cents per bushel for "bulk" and 15 cents per bushel "sacked."

TRADE BOARD COUNCIL MEETING—A council meeting of the Charlottetown Board of Trade in preparation for the annual Board of Trade meeting to take place Wednesday, was held Saturday afternoon, President Tweedy presiding. Minutes of previous meetings were read and adopted and a communication from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce asking the Charlottetown Board's opinion on certain phases of the past year's work was read. It was reserved for the consideration of the incoming executive. Mr. S. A. MacDonald stated that the request of the St. John Board of Trade for support of the brief to be presented to the Railway Commission on behalf of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had been placed in the hands of the Provincial Government. Mr. R. L. Cotton was asked if arrangements had been made regarding air mail service. He stated that word had not yet been received from Ottawa. Before the close of the meeting a telegram arrived stating that a decision was expected in a few days.

Annual Meeting Of Bible Society At Summerside
The final meeting of the Week of Prayer in Summerside was held on Friday evening in United Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Wilson conducted the service and a full choir rendered excellent music. Rev. Mr. Jeans and Rev. Mr. Campbell offered prayer.
The speaker of the evening was Adjutant Kimmons of Charlottetown, who delivered a very inspiring sermon on "God's plan for man's life" from the text, "I have found the work Thou gavest me to do," St. John 17, 4.
At the conclusion of the service the Bible Society held their annual meeting. Mr. C. B. Jelly presided, and prefaced his address with the words, "that just as a workman needs tools so do the missionaries need the Bible."
Mr. W. W. Smith read the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer Mr. W. G. Phillips read the financial report, which showed that $316.17 had been donated by the several churches.
The late Mrs. Katie Passmore, in her will left $50 to the Bible Society which was included in the Presbyterian donation.
The election of officers resulted as follows:
President, Mr. Major Townsend.
Vice President, Mr. Donald Baker.
Secretary, W. W. Smith.
Treasurer, W. G. Phillips, (both re-elected).
Members of Advisory Board: St. Mary's Church, Ernest Mills; St. John's Church, Sidney Richardson; Church of Scotland, Mr. Cairns.
A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers by Rev. Mr. Campbell and seconded by Mr. William Muttart.
Rev. Mr. Jeans made the suggestion that in future the last meeting of the Week of Prayer be devoted to the Bible Society. This motion was adopted. It was announced that at the next United Prayer meeting in February the collection would be for the Bible Society. S.

Fear Commission May Suggest Ry. Amalgamation
(Special to the Guardian)
TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Concern for the future of the railway workers in Canada, including the telegraphers through the threatened possible amalgamation of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, was expressed last night by W. L. Lucas, general chairman of the Canadian National Telegraphers System Division No. 43, Commercial Telegraphers Union of North America, Montreal who was in Toronto in conference with D. E. Galloway, assistant vice president of the Canadian National Railways in charge of telegraphs and telephones. W. L. Allen, Chicago, a deputized international president from Chicago was also here for the conference which had to do with schedule matters.
General chairman Lucas estimated that with amalgamation effected 40 percent of the railway workers in Canada or about 100,000 would be thrown out of employment. Telegraphers and railway workers generally are taking up the fight against drastic action that they feel would create a situation previously unheard of anywhere.
A large number of resolutions have been passed in all parts of Canada and have been forwarded to Premier Bennett at Ottawa for consideration when the report of the railway probe commission is received.
General chairman Lucas left for Ottawa last night to discuss the situation with Department of Labor officials.

GERMANY
Sir Horace Rumbold, the British envoy, published in London, Paris and Warsaw, capitals were looked upon here as indicating that the Chancellor expressed himself to the British Ambassador more sharply than he actually did.
On the other hand, it was believed that Chancellor Bruening welcomed the opportunity to tell the world and especially the German people that he would not sign any document at Lausanne, seat of the international reparations conference tentatively set for the latter part of this month, which involved further financial reparations obligations on Germany's part.
The Chancellor's interview came at a time when he was negotiating with Adolf Hitler, leader of the Fascist National Socialists, and Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, head of the National lists, over extending President Paul Von Hindenburg's term. Political circles, therefore, thought his interview was calculated to strengthen the Chancellor's hand, showing that his cabinet was no less "patriotic" than Hitler and Hugenberg.
In support of the "torpedoing" assertion, foreign office circles remarked that two days ago the Gazette de Toulouse, which they said was close to the French government, suggested in an editorial that reparations ought to be done away with. Further, it was remarked, this papers' attack on reparations was to be followed today by various important French newspapers, especially those in Paris, endorsing its standpoint.
By giving what was authoritatively described here as "an entirely unwarranted twist" to the Chancellor's utterances to the British ambassador, the supposed plans for France's new viewpoint toward the reparations question were regarded as having been badly disturbed.
"The German government at the coming conference can do nothing else but expound the existing state of affairs and urge the other governments interested that they, on their part, also take this situation into account and not strive after a solution or compromise for which no possibility based on reality any longer exists," Dr. Bruening said in the interview yesterday.
"I firmly believe that in no camp is there longer any lack of intrinsic recognition of the urgency of the final conclusions which must be drawn."
"It is a question of finding courage for realization of this recognition and, as the report of the experts (the Young Plan advisory committee which met recently at Basel) states, of not permitting the treatment of economic problems again to be influenced by political trends of thought."
Discussing the Basel report, the Chancellor said:
"It is now up to the powers concerned to draw conclusions from the Basel experts' report."
"The report once more showed up the tremendous dimensions of the world crisis and especially depicted the disastrous results this crisis brought in its wake, especially for Germany."
"It all demonstrates to the world the measures, going to the uttermost limits undertaken by Germany for combating the crisis and recognizes concerning them that they are unprecedented in modern legislation."
"At the same time the report

Urges Building of U. S. Navy Up To Limit
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—A navy built up to the limit of the London treaty was urged upon a United States senate committee today by Admiral William V. Pratt with the assertion that "no sane man can say war is not going to come some day."
He added that an optimistic view is borne out neither by the history of the world nor by present conditions.
The navy's chief of operations and highest ranking officer defended naval men against charges of militarism he said had been made by "many peace societies," asserting their only intention is to see their country amply prepared to resist attack.
A dramatic moment came when Senator Davis, Republican, Pennsylvania, asked Pratt flatly whether the present navy is adequate to defend the country.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH
Quite a large number of people braved the stormy weather yesterday to join in worship in St. Paul's Church. In the morning the Litany common action, nay, immediate action.
Taking his text from the 44th chapter of Isaiah, "I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy transgressions, and, as a cloud, thy sins return unto me; for I have redeemed thee," the Rector said this is a wonderful verse, one of the gems of sacred scriptures and one we would do well to mark and read often. We all want forgiveness. Isaiah, the evangelist prophet saw down through the ages to the time when Christ would come, that through Him, we might have forgiveness. Looking at the text we see something of the nature of sin. Two words are used. Transgression means rebellion, not against the law, but against the law giver. We do not always think of sin in that way, returning to obey the will of God. Sin is the missing of a mark, falling short of the aim God has set for us. Each day we are writing our book of life. God too is keeping a record of each one of us, a kind of ledger, the good deeds and the bad ones. Our sins are like a cloud coming between us and the light of God's presence. But Jesus gave His life to save us. If we will accept God's redeeming love and return to Him, His presence will shine through the darkness of our sins. Let us lift our hearts in praise for His great love and forgiveness.
In the evening the Rector spoke from St. Paul's message to the new Christians at Colosse, bidding them to hold fast to the faith and not move away. St. Paul had had much experience. People were ready to listen to a certain point, but not willing to commit themselves. Some people are like that today. It is so easy to get enthusiastic about religion. The Cross is the background of our religion. We are touched by the story of the Cross. God expects a fruitful life in response to that touch. We do well to test ourselves from time to time to see that we are holding fast to the faith and not becoming indifferent and sliding some safeguards against back-sliding. We need to cultivate a conscientious companionship of Christ. Remember His promise, "Christ I am with you always." So I taught us to pray. Pray regularly and make it real prayer.
We shall find much help by reading the Bible. More regular attendance at public worship in church, and accepting the invitation to meet at the Lord's Table. Let us look for a vision of Christ in our fellow men. There may be a possibility of service close at hand. Christ said "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye did it unto me."
The choir rendered the anthem "The sun shall be no more thy light by day," during the evening service. Lillian MacKenzie presided at the organ for both services.

MAKES LOVE FOR SCIENCE
CHICAGO, Ills., Jan. 9.—Sheldon Klein, 19 year old student of psychology at a university, admits he made love to 100 women by mail for science's sake. His research led him to conclude:
"Any woman will listen to a hard luck story, but blondes are more sympathetic."
All women like to think the man paying them attention is handsome.
When women are at a loss for words of romantic endearment, they snap up the banal endearments of popular songs.
Most women are anchored to a narrow routine, and want to break away in imagination. So Klein told them he was a tea planter from India.
Love is the only illusion that women won't surrender.
Francis J. Kennedy, assistant district attorney, who began an investigation into Klein's activities because of his huge mail from women, listened to the conclusions and decided that such experiments were too trivial for prosecution.
"What, more trouble?" inquired the cheery old fellow. "What is it this time?"
"Domestic," groaned Greyday.
"Why, only yesterday you were telling me what a darling your Pearl was," said his companion.
"So she is," said Greyday. "It's the mother of Pearl that's the trouble."

FINDS BETTER QUALITY IN FARM PRODUCTION
"The markets for Canada's agricultural products for the future would seem to depend upon quality as well as quantity of production," observes Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Federal deputy minister of Agriculture. "Canadian producers are evidently becoming more and more conscious of this situation, bending their efforts towards the improvement of the quality of their products. Many of our agricultural products going overseas command a premium on the British and other markets." Dr. Grisdale also points out that prices for all agricultural staples are now on an export market basis and that while these are probably not quite so satisfactory as they might be, production is definitely expanding and the farmer knows exactly where he stands relative to prices, that is to say: Canadian prices are world prices and are not likely to be seriously affected by any consistent increase in production.

Reply Withheld
The Admiral was about to reply when Senator Hale of Maine, chairman of the naval committee and author of the Treaty Limit Construction Bill under consideration, asked him to reserve his reply for an executive session on the ground that this was information which should not be made public.
"We have a right to know but we ought not to advertise it," remarked Senator Keyes, Republican, New Hampshire. Other committee members agreed.
The Admiral told the committee passage of both the Senate and House bills would mean that "Congress for the first time in the history of the navy would have adopted a definite naval programme extending over a period of years."
He predicted economies would result from the long term planning.
The Hale bill provides in general terms for a treaty limit navy, while the House measures sponsored by representative Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, calls for a definite $616,000,000 programme.
The Senate measure, he said, would involve expenditure of $988,000,000 and would permit modernization of battleships, 21 submarines and numerous aeroplanes in addition to the construction provided by the Vinson bill.

Increasing Use Of Canada Ports
OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9.—(By The Canadian Press)—Increasing use of Canadian ports both for imports and exports is evidenced by a report issued today by the Department of Trade and Commerce. It is noted that sugar, tea and coffee imports are entered 100 per cent through Canadian ports, while bananas, cocoa and raw wool range between 85 and 86 per cent.
In exports, however, only 54 per cent of Canada's wheat makes its exit through Canadian channels; but lumber is exported via Canadian ports up to 100 per cent. Practically all of Canada's crude
