Prince George Spends Day With Unemployed

Visits Centres Which Go By Name Of Good Companions Clubs

Prince George recently spent a day among the good companions of the Black Country.

It was his second day with the unemployed, and his visits to Walsall, Lichfield, Rugeley, Stone, Stafford, and Wolverhampton took him to a number of centres which have been named Good Companions Clubs.

The Prince covered more than 100 miles of country during the day, and everywhere he went he had a tremendous reception from cheering crowds.

"We love your smiling face, God bless your sympathetic heart," cried a crowd of women at Walsall as he stepped from his car.

Women Gardeners In the Walsall Centre Prince George met a number of women who had packets of seeds pinned on their dresses.

IN TEARS WITH PAIN OF RHEUMATISM "For six weeks," a woman writes, "I had rheumatism, mostly in my feet and wrists. In fact, I have been in tears with the pain. Owing to stomach trouble, I could not take any kind of medicine, as it made me feel sick. So a lady said I should try Kruschen Salts. I am very thankful that I did so, for now I feel completely restored. I have not been taking anything else, so it must be Kruschen that has relieved me."—Mrs. C.

IN MEMORIAM

SAMUEL CAMPBELL

On May 14th, 1933, Samuel Campbell of Uig passed away at the Prince Edward Island Hospital. He was a son of the late John Campbell and Euphemia (Murchison) Campbell, and was born on the 16th day of April 1864. He had always enjoyed fair health until about five days before his death when he became suddenly ill with an intestinal trouble which required immediate attention. He was taken to the hospital and an operation performed. Owing to complications which were discovered his case was considered critical. His daughter-in-law came from their home to wait on him. He remained comparatively bright until the last two days. Many prayers were offered for his comfort which indeed came to him in greater measure than man could dispose for God took him.

He will be greatly missed in the community in which he lived and in which he had many friends and kindred. He was a consistent member of the Church of Scotland, and was a member of the Kirk Session. Much might be written of his honesty, his sincere attention to duty, his hospitality, and his humble devotion. He walked humbly with his God and found peace in Jesus Christ.

He is survived by two brothers and one sister, James Murchison Campbell, of California, and Simon Donald Campbell and Christy Ann, wife of Hugh Martin of Uig. He was twice married. His first wife was Catherine MacLeod, daughter of the late John S. MacLeod of Kinross. His second wife was her cousin Isabella MacLeod, daughter of Malcolm MacLeod of Victoria Cross. Both were estimable women. His first wife died when the family were quite young, they were most kindly treated by their stepmother. The family have grown up and scattered. There are John S. at home, J. D. Wilfred of Long Island, New York, Euphemia, wife of Alan Stewart of Britannia Beach B. C., Mary Isabella, R. N., New York, Ada Ruth, wife of William Benson of Norwood, Mass., and Eva Emily, wife of Samuel Cantello of Quincey, Mass.

The funeral took place on Thursday, May 18th at 2 p. m. The services were conducted by Rev. Ewen MacDougall assisted by Rev. Mr. Pierce of Orwell and Rev. Mr. Sinclair of Valleyfield. Many attended to pay a tribute of respect to the departed and extend sympathy to the family and friends.

The pall bearers were Finley MacDougall, Francis Cook, James Cantello, R. C. MacLeod, Samuel MacLeod and Samuel Hume.

JURY PANEL IS SHORT SO MEN WITHOUT JOBS ROUNDED UP FOR DUTY PHILADELPHIA, May 24—"Have you a job?" "No." "Come over to court, you are wanted."

It wasn't as bad as it sounded. Quarter Sessions Court was short 10 jurors, and a court crier was sent out on the street to round-up unemployed men.

He found them without trouble, and each will receive $48 for three weeks' service.

Members Popular At the Tea Hour

LONDON, Eng., May 24—To have had tea on the terrace of the Houses of Parliament is perhaps one of the most agreeably lasting reminiscences which many of the feminine element who come to town, from the country take back with them. On a fine afternoon the Terrace, looking across the broad sweep of the Thames towards Lambeth Palace on the Surrey side, is thronged with many a gaily chattering party shepherded by "Our Member" who, having shown his guests through the Palace of Westminster, does the honors of the tea table.

Early Reservations

This Summer, however, a great portion of the Terrace is occupied with building material, and the space is considerably restricted. The kitchen committee has accordingly warned members that no parties of more than 20 can be permitted save on Fridays (when the House rises early), and in any event members wishing to entertain parties of eight or more must give three days' notice. Competition for the tea tables is certain to be fierce, for even last year members found it hopeless to expect a table unless they have reserved one quota early in the day.

Belfast

The boys of McEwen L. O. L. Pinette, were greeted by a full house in the Belfast Public Hall on Tuesday evening, May 16th, when they held their annual concert. Mr. Hector MacLeod performed the duties of chairman. From the opening number till the National Anthem, the order was perfect and the good attention of the audience showed that each number held their interest all the evening—also the encores.

The boys showed their patriotism by the opening chorus "Canada the land of the Maple." This was followed by a recitation "Housecleaning" by Allene MacEachern. A solo "I'll lo'e nae a laddie but ain" by Mrs. Clarence Mackenzie came next, then a dialogue entitled "Women's rights." This was played by Mr. John Nicholson and Miss Annie Murchison as Mr. and Mrs. Penelope respectively, assisted by Mr. Leonard Murchison who acted the part of a hen-pecked husband as was also Mr. Penelope.

Fortunately before the end it was realized that woman's place is in the home and Mrs. Penelope agreed to remain there but without making her better-half realize that the woman's job is as clean and we trust they lived happily ever after.

A pleasing Irish duet was sung by Miss Rita Macdonald and Mr. R. C. MacPhee in costume and ended as usual by "winning the fair lady" and they left the stage in great hopes for the future in numbers and otherwise. Their encore showed that they intend to reside in Belfast so no doubt we will have the pleasure of knowing them again.

Mrs. Mabel MacEachern delighted the audience with a monologue entitled "A Woman's Intuition." This contained food for thought and gave the impression that you can't be too sure of anything in this world.

The next number was a solo, "A new star in Heaven," by Evelyn Murchison, followed by a recitation entitled, "Tomboy" by Kathryn MacLeod. Mr. Jack Griffiths in semi-comedy garb then sang "Home on the range" and "Mother the queen of my heart, accompanied and assisted by Mr. Herb Worth.

The darkies were all dolled up by this time and appeared heartily singing "Lucy Long" and Ring ring the banjo.

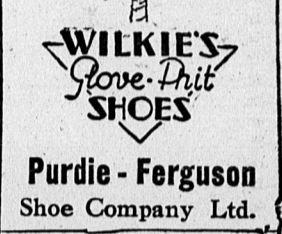

Instrumental music is always a delight to any audience and was very pleasingly rendered at this time by Miss Anguena MacLeod, piano, Mrs. Chas. Ross, mandolin, and Mr. Walter MacLeod, violin.

The next number was a solo, "Out of the Dusk," by Mrs. Angus Murchison. Intermission followed, during which the young people waited on the audience with candy and boxes and the receipts of same were gratifying to the committee in charge. When the curtain again rose a musical tableau was presented and judging by the expression on the faces of the audience was one of the "all right" numbers on the programme, although rather taxing on the modesty of some of the performers.

For easy grace and poise, slip your feet into the right pair of Wilkie's Glove-Phit Shoes. The feminine foot is so often hard to fit that Wilkie's have made their many up-to-the-minute styles in a surprisingly wide range of sizes and widths. The result is that you have your choice of styles, and yet are assured of a shoe that is moulded on lines of comfort and grace, to fit your foot snugly and give you the full freedom of natural, easy poise.

SERIOUS NOSE BLEED THREATENS LIFE PHILADELPHIA May 24—A nose bleed which has continued almost without interruption for 10 days threatens the life of Dr. Frank C. Abbott, head of the Temple University Dental School.

Since May 10, he has been in a hospital and today his condition was described as serious. He has had several blood transfusions since he was stricken.

Surgeons said the case is unusual in that they have been unable to reach the seat of the trouble, believed to be a ruptured blood vessel.

ter-in-law, and seated beside her white-bearded husband she seemed quite content as her family performed the different household tasks which were lightened to a great extent by that wonderful charm—music. This was supplied by that artist in her line, Miss Anguena MacLeod, assisted by her "gay cavaliers" on the mandolin.

The performers were told the only fault with this number was its brevity but it is always a good thing not to wear out your welcome. Another group of young people then brought down the house with a dialogue entitled "The Storm."

The leading part in this was played by Miss Jean MacKenzie and Mr. Roderick MacRae as Betsy and Judasiah respectively, ably assisted by Miss Christine Gillis and Messrs. Sinclair and Frank Morrison who acted as Belinda, the daughter, Joshua Sloum, her beau, and her troublesome young brother John, who always spoiled things for the young couple. The storm was threatening all through the act and finally reached a fitting climax as the curtain fell.

The closing chorus, "Where the Sugar Maples Grow," followed, after which all the actors came on the stage and with the audience all joined in the National Anthem. Miss Florence MacPhee, Mrs. Angus Murchison and Mr. Herb Worth were the accompanists for the evening. The chairman thanked the audience for their attention and the committee in charge reported the evening receipts as $42 and again take this opportunity of thanking all who took part to make the evening the success it was, also to the public for their presence and patronage.
