Many speakers referred to the necessity of some order players to take the younger kiddies in hand and coach them in the fundamentals of hockey, and exhorted them to consider the future hockey teams of Montague. It was also suggested that next year an all-star team be selected early in the season so that they might acquire sufficient practice together before the intermediate playoffs. All were well pleased with the co-operation which they had received this year and since bigger plans are being made for next year, it is hoped that similar co-operation will be forthcoming, thereby benefiting the community as a whole, and each individual in particular.

DURANGO KID ROUTS OUTLAWS IN THRILLER

Go in great guns with bullet-blazing action and rousing songs of the range, Columbia's "Six-Gun Law" was warmly received by an enthusiastic audience when it opens today at the Empire Theatre.

The new Western adventure saga is the latest film in the popular "Durango Kid" series which stars Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette, and this reviewer rates the drama as the team's best!

In support of the two stars are Nancy Saunders and Paul Campbell with Hugh Prosser giving a very convincing portrayal of a Western badman. Curly Clements and his Rodeo Rangers are around for some lusty antics.

Barry Shipman's original screenplay pits Starrett, as a stalwart rancher, against a town big-shot jealous of the rancher's reputation for honesty among the citizens. Starrett soon finds himself accused of murder and implicated in a bank robbery! But then the Durango Kid comes riding and he clears his name and forces the outlaw to confess his crimes.

"SWORDSMAN" GREAT ROMANTIC ADVENTURE

The great tradition for romantic adventure on the screen has seldom, if ever, hit such a peak of excellence as in Columbia's "The Swordsman," which opens today at the Prince Edward Theatre. Filmed in all the glory of Technicolor and boasting an exuberant performance by Larry Parks in the dashing title role, "The Swordsman" is completely captivating film fare.

Sweeping action and tender romance feature this swash-buckling of a picture. Its swiftly-moving story of two feuding Scottish clans is replete with duels to the death, galloping horses, fiery love and colorful background.

Parks, as the young scion of one warring clan, falls violently in love with Ellen Drew of the opposite faction. He longs to bring the eternal clashes to an end but circumstances dictate that he himself come into violent conflict with his enemies. Parks kills one opponent in a thrilling exhibition of sword-

Travel conditions on the ice on the harbour and rivers is becoming dangerous and from now on will be indulged in only by the most venturesome. Areas at the heads of the rivers and at the harbour entrance, which a few days ago were being travelled over by horse and sleigh, are now open water. As most of our ice this winter is of salt water formation it is not expected to stand up to the ravages of the spring sun and rains.

The engine of the Georgetown-Lower Montague ferry is being put in first class running order in preparation for the commencement of harbour crossings. The earliest spring crossing by our ferry, since Captain Larsen took over command some years ago, was on March 29th and last year the first crossing took place on April 8th, three days after the harbour was officially open for navigation by the arrival of an ocean going freighter to load potatoes which was under escort of the C. G. S. Sorrell, on April 6th.
