MURRAY HARBOR NORTH

Rev. P. W. and Miss Christina Currie were absent most of last week, being in attendance at the annual meeting of the P. E. Island Bible Society and the Annual Presbytery of the Women's Missionary Society at Tyne Valley Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Morgan E. Genge, of Marshfield Presbyterian Church preached in the Presbyterian Church here at the morning service last Sabbath. He gave an excellent discourse on comparative values. The attendance at the service was large and interest good. Rev. Mr. Genge was formerly stationed on the South side of the Harbor and a number of our people remembered him in his ministry there.

Several of our local Orangemen attended the parade to the United Church at Murray River on Sabbath evening last when services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Goudge. Rev. Mr. Currie was invited to preach the sermon, but owing to absence at Marshfield he could not accede to the request.

If the weather proves suitable, the morning service on Sabbath, July 19th, will be held at the monument for the fallen soldiers, which is on the site of the former Presbyterian Church and in the evening in the church will be a special service for the Women's Missionary Auxiliary that was organized 21 years ago by the Rev. Andrew Gray and which has had a successful career all these years.

Hay making, spraying potatoes, will soon engage the attention of our farmers as grass and bugs both seem to be a plentiful crop this season.—C.

MANCHESTER FIRST IN MUSICAL WORLD

(Canadian Press)

MANCHESTER, England, July 14.—Manchester is the most musical city in England, according to Dr. George Dyson, a member of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music, who presided at the annual distribution in Manchester of certificates awarded by the Board. George Dyson, Mus. D. (Oxon), is Master of Music at Winchester College and Professor of the Royal College of Music.

Dr. Dyson said: "There is no sort of question about it at all amongst the people who know anything about music, Manchester is the most musical city in England." He himself is grateful to Manchester for its music, he said. Manchester had a real interest not only in music but in all the arts. Referring to the annual report, Dr. Dyson said that examinations were only a stage on the journey. Music was a language just like speech, and, into this language "some of the greatest men who ever lived, some of the most sensitive some of the most 'brains' some of the most spiritual men, had expressed what they thought and felt. Being musical meant that you understood and could interpret what those thoughts and feelings were.

T. B. Killip, honorary representative for Manchester of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music, referred to the place of music in modern life. He said that at a time when we could sit and listen to wireless or gramophone music by some of the finest players and singers in the country there was a temptation to listen only and neglect performance. Much could be learned by listening, but more enjoyment could be had from one's own practice.

Asthma Brings Misery but Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy will replace the misery with welcome relief. Inhaled as smoke or vapor it reaches the very innermost recesses of the bronchial passages and soothes them. Restriction passes and easy breathing returns. If you know as well how this remedy would help you as do thousands of grateful users, there would be a package in your home to-night. Try it.

Picking Your Life Work

BY JOSEPH E. SHEEDY
Shipping Expert

As told to J. V. Fitzgerald of American School of the Air. You can get a berth with one of the ocean lines as an apprentice if you are thinking of a career at sea. Or you can go to a nautical school. California, New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts provide such training. They maintain school ships. The number of graduates is small compared with the growing needs of our merchant marine.

The state and other nautical schools furnish excellent training. Students receive practical and theoretical instruction in all branches. Graduates are competent to perform the duties of junior officers on merchant ships.

You can come up from the ranks so to speak. But if you take this course you will need to study considerably and to have a mind that grasps the elements of seamanship quickly. Otherwise, the nautical school men are likely to have the advantage.

Character, ability, courage and tenacity are important. A love of adventure, determined and ambition is also necessary. You will find great opportunities if you are the right sort. You will find a liking for mathematics helpful.

You can leave a qualified school and start as a subordinate on shipboard at $70 a month. Remember, you have practically no living expenses while you are at sea.

Back of passenger and freight carrying ships are the shore organizations. If you mix well with people, you will find a chance to sell passage to travelers.

You can do quite as well financially as a freight traffic man. It requires knowledge of economics and of world conditions to make a success in this field.

If you are an accountant you will find an opportunity in the shore departments. There is also a call for skilled engineers who can supervise the maintenance of vessels in operation.

OPERATION ON TWINS WILL BE
MEDICAL MIRACLE IF SUCCESSFUL

BALTIMORE, Md., July 13.—Search of medical records yesterday failed to disclose a parallel to the case of the conjoined twin girls separated shortly after their birth here three days ago by a daring surgical operation.

The children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Forster, of Baltimore, were "doing so well" today that a second surgical operation, considered necessary to save their lives was postponed for a week or ten days or until a definite change in their condition takes place.

Dr. Kyle W. Golley, who was in charge when the twins were born, said he knew of no successful operation on true so-called Siamese twins and that Johns Hopkins Hospital obstetricians could find records of no successful cases.

Physicians and surgeons expressed the opinion that the second operation would be a medical miracle if successful.

The twins, who weigh four and a half pounds each and were otherwise normal, were born without colons. They were joined at the abdomen, it was explained by Dr. Golley, by a fleshy segment, and it was judged necessary to operate to save their lives.

Meanwhile the twins have stomachs and small intestines, and though human life is possible without colon, the second operation is considered necessary to provide a normal outlet for body poisons.

Dr. Daniel J. Pessagosa, a surgeon, performed the initial operation. Associated with Dr. Golley is Dr. Edward P. Smith.

Mrs. Forster is 36 years old and the twins were her first children. No fear was felt today for her recovery.

EUROPEANS DRIFT TO SOUTH AFRICA

(Canadian Press)

PRETORIA, South Africa, July 14.—Significant of the drift from country to town is the fact that the increase in the European population of the Union of South Africa, as shown by the preliminary results of the census, has taken place in urban areas only.

The shift of population has been to the Transvaal and Natal from the Free State and the Cape; in other words from relatively dry parts of the Union to areas of relatively better rainfall. The country side has not maintained its natural increase. The movement of population has been practically equal with the natural increase. The Director of the Census considers that different methods of farming have to be followed more adaptable to the need of carrying a larger rural population. He is also convinced that modern farming methods, resulting in less labor

PICTURES, HIRED OUT
BY LENDING SOCIETY

LONDON, England, July 14.—Art on hire is something new in this country. Pictures may be rented by the week in London now, some as low as 60 cents a week and others as high as $7.50 a month, according to the values placed on the pictures.

Gul St. Bernard, are critic of the News-Chronicle, says: "I once suggested to a well-known artist that works of art should be obtainable on hire. He called me everything short of a scurvy knave, and said that such an idea would 'cheapen' art; it would lose its appeal to cultured people, and sink to the level of machine-made goods.

A COMING RACER—Mr. James Benedict MacMillan, of Summerside, familiarly called (Jim Ben), owner and driver of the trotting horse Sharpshooter, has since early manhood been a fancier of horses, especially those of the speedy kind. Over forty years ago he built and managed a race course on his own farm in Summerside, where he sponsored many a good day's sport, and when the racing of Sea Gull, War Cry and Scott Act gave as much thrill to the rural spectators as the faster time and exciting finishes of a Billy Cope or a Lucky Lindy gives to the race-track fans of the present day. Mr. MacMillan has owned and raced many fast ones, is a good driver and a true sport. His latest speed proposition, Sharpshooter, though having lots of speed, was formerly considered too erratic in behavior, and lacked that racetrack etiquette needed in a winner, but under the experienced management of Mr. MacMillan, is settling down to a real race-horse with lots of staying power. Jim's many friends wish him good luck on the eastern circuit.
