Many sources did not attempt to side their alarm over the Russian demands on Finland, Premier Molotov's statement to the extent of the Russian demands made a much bigger sensation here than his views on Italy and France. It was impossible throughout northern Europe to forecast what would happen, but Soviet invasion of Finland might have a most alarming effect on Germany. It was believed that the Balkans, which in recent days have shown signs of solidifying and settling down in a calmer atmosphere—namely what Britain and France desire.

Meanwhile Great Britain generally hailed Mussolini's cabinet shuffle as another stage in Italy's tendency toward a confirmed and political independence.

MAKING CHILD'S BED

In making a child bed it is best to arrange the topmost blanket with its longest sides across the bed so that there is a long trap on either side which can be tucked well in under the mattress. This blanket will probably not be broad enough to be tucked under the foot of the mattress, nor will it reach over the pillow, but provided the sheets and other blankets have been tucked in at the foot of the top blanket, arranged in the way described, will keep the whole bedding neat and ensure a night free from chills for the most restless child.

these regulations not because he has been tried and found guilty of any offence known to law... but simply because the minister (for home security) thinks it desirable that he should be detained.

"I suppose that is what is meant by the posters which tell us that our freedom was periled."

"In days when we are governed almost entirely by orders in council all that members of Parliament can do is exercise vigilance and service function nowadays is to watch and pray."

Mr. Foot said that if the home secretary "disallows a man he can order that to associate with other people," and asked "is the suspect to carry a scarlet letter like the heroine in Nathaniel Hawthorne's novel?"

STRICT WAR

Kingsley Griffith seconded Mr. Foot's call for annulment of the regulations. He said the provisions permitting detention of suspected individuals were "really terrifying" and involved complete abolition of habeas corpus.

"The secretary of state (for home freedom) was given powers under which he could produce all the conditions of a German concentration camp in this country," he said.

"Sir John Anderson—to say 'I will not use these powers badly' Mr. Griffith declared.

"The principle to justify unsound legislation by a blind confidence that it will not be used in the sense in which you put it on the table is a vicious one."

Herbert Morrison, Labor declared that under the regulations "anybody the home secretary does not like can be hauled down and quarantined without any reasonable and proper means of defending himself."

Mr. John answered criticism of the defence regulations with a statement that "there was no thought of imposing the restrictions without a person's consent."

The provision for detention of a person through executive order he said was "admittedly drastic."

Repel Forces Win Skirmish in Neutrality

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(AP)—Advocates of repelling the United States arms embargo won the first skirmish over neutrality legislation in the House of Representatives today when that chamber agreed to send the measure to a conference committee to adjust differences between the Senate and the House versions.

The vote, which prevented the embargo from offering amendments from the floor was taken amid angry cries of "city slicker tactics" administration men replied that the procedure was normal.

There was no roll call on the question, but administration leaders hailed a previous roll call, on which they mustered an unexpectedly high majority of 60 votes, as indicating a safe margin for repeal of the embargo when the final test comes.

Starace, "at his own request," was relieved of the secretaryship of the Fascist party and was succeeded by Ettore Muti, veteran of the first great war.

(Diplomatic quarters hailed the shifting of Starace and Alfieri as evidence of a lessening of Nazi influence in Rome. These quarters asserted that Mussolini's purpose in the shake-up was the creation of a "government of neutrality.")

(Official comment was not forthcoming in Berlin, but authoritative sources denied that the stunning home Sunday of the Reich's ambassador to Rome, Hans-Georg Viktor Von Mackensen, was in any way connected with the cabinet shift.)

LIVERPOOL, England.—(CP)—Twenty pools of coffee, addressed to His Excellency, Herr Hitler, President of the Republic of Great Germany, were seized as contraband by the navy from a Danish vessel.

Mr. Crerar in London

Close cooperation and understanding between the Allies was necessary, the Prime Minister said, and for this reason Resources Minister Crerar went to London for conversations with the British Government.

"Our military effort we are determined to avoid wasteful sacrifice," the Prime Minister said to make it more effective.

Turning to the economic side of Canada's effort the Prime Minister stressed the importance, somewhat overlooked by the ordinary citizen, of a constant flow of the material necessities of war.

"In order to have the tremendous quantities of supplies available at the right time and in the right place it is imperative that the economic life of Canada be reorganized, but not disorganized."

The Prime Minister said overseas economic forces of the country require to be mobilized just as the armed forces are mobilized. This task can be performed in the main only by the national government. Its adequate performance, however, demands the cooperation of Provincial and Municipal authorities, as well as business, labor, the farmers and other primary producers, and of voluntary organizations of all kinds.

Outlining steps leading to establishment of the War Supply Board which tomorrow takes over the duties of the pre-war Defence Purchasing Board, the Prime Minister said this body would mobilize Canadian resources and also act as purchasing agent for the British purchasing mission which came to Canada Sept. 8.

Mr. Mackenzie King said Canada's contribution to the economic warfare "may easily prove to be most important of all."

He stressed the importance of mobilizing Canada's resources so that the United States assistance may be given in food and war material.

The Prime Minister reviewed steps taken at the first sign of hostilities to mobilize the militia consisting of two imperative to Canada's security than to their own—"was being carried out with fully armed regular and auxiliary fighting ships.

Last night, for a time a small flood caused excitement in the eastern section of the town when four hydrants were turned on full blast—three streams of water shooting from each.

A minor accident occurred during the night's activities when a car driven by Capt. Burke of this city crashed into the rear of the Maritime Electric Truck which was parked at the time. The collision took place at the corner of Weymouth and Richmond Streets when the attention of the driver was taken up by watching the stream of water coming from the hydrant which had been opened by the pranksters. Nobody was hurt but Burke's car was badly damaged.

Quick action on the part of City Police resulted in the arrest of one young man in connection with the opening of the hydrant and the Police are in possession of the hydrant which they expect will lead to the arrest of the other young men implicated.

City Police were reinforced by fifteen special "cops."

Australia Makes Change In Air Plans

SYDNEY, Oct. 31.—(CP Cable)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced today Australia would send an air expeditionary force overseas as originally planned. He said the commonwealth would instead send personnel to overseas military bases on nine Short-Sunderland flying boats on order for Australia and form an Australian general reconnaissance squadron for service in and about Great Britain.

The original scheme, announced Sept. 20, involved sending personnel of six air squadrons overseas to service before the end of the year.

The new plan was decided upon, said Mr. Menzies, after consultation with the British government.

Australian attached to the Royal Air Force are already manning three of the Short-Sunderland flying boats, and the commonwealth will send 166 air crew to man the remaining six. This will form the first dominion air force unit on active service.

MILLIONS GET OLD YEARS TOO SOON

Rank carelessness the cause

Among your friends there are some of middle age who appear to have retained the endurance and vitality of youth while others accept premature ageing as the lot they must bear. Do you want to feel younger, eager to tackle any kind of work or play, thousands of people just don't bother to do anything about constipation. They won't refuse to believe they are constipated. They think that if a person is regular, that is all that matters. Occasionally they take a good dose of something when the need is urgent, but they do not take it regularly. The way to keep feeling fit, to keep youthful exuberance, to keep the entire system free as possible from impurities and poisons. That means the blood, the bowels and the bladder. To do that your body must contain certain minerals in some way.

We make no exaggerated claims for Kruschen salts but experience tells us that the daily dose because Kruschen contains several valuable mineral salts in highly refined form. Each salt has its particular function in combination they help rid your system of excess poisons, free the blood from impurities, effects of accumulated impurities you are much less apt to suffer from splitting headaches, indigestion, rheumatic aches, flatulence, because your excretory organs are kept in good function normally. Thousands upon thousands of people throughout the world refer to the general well-being it imparts as "that million dollar Kruschen feeling!" Start "the little daily dose" right away! Just you! See for yourself! At all drug counters 25c, 45c, 75c.

Take off the mask of premature age

BUCHAREST, Oct. 31.—A speeding up of a shipment of war materials from Germany into Rumania prompted divergent interpretations tonight as big assignments of airplanes, artillery, ammunition, trucks and other motorized equipment arrived by rail and Danube barge.

Military authorities said the flow of armaments was primarily due to German efforts to meet Rumania's demands for payment under the barter clearing arrangements and thus to assure a supply of oil and wheat from Rumania.

Many foreign observers, however, regarded the arms influx as a sign of German military aid to Rumania against the possibility of a Soviet Russian thrust into the Balkans—a possibility Balkan officials admittedly fear.

Despite the Russian-German amity, it is widely believed here in foreign circles that Germany is first opposed to any Russian advance into this area which the Nazis regard as part of their economic domain.

Many Rumanians were said to believe that this attitude on the part of Germany is one of Rumania's strongest assurances against Soviet expansion in southeastern Europe.

Rumania, seeking to complement their assurance by a strong Balkan neutrality bloc, has made efforts to come to a friendly understanding with Bulgaria as a prelude to the formation of such a bloc.

The shake-up of Italian leadership by Premier Mussolini today was regarded in Balkan diplomatic quarters as a favorable omen to the formation of the neutral bloc because it was believed that Italy now would become more active in aiding its development. These same quarters said they believed the move was unfavorable to Germany.

King Carol was reported by a reliable source to be ready to cede to Bulgaria "psychological settlement" in the territorial dispute over Dobruja. Bulgarian demands for this territory, over which Rumanian sovereignty was confirmed in settlements after the first Great War, were said to be backed by Russia.

Charlottetown Man Seeks Return To Penitentiary

AMHERST, N. S., Oct. 31.—Released recently from a Dorchester County Jail, John Edmond MacKay of Charlottetown tried to enlist with the Canadian Active Service Force but was turned down. His efforts to find work were fruitless.

He concluded the only thing to do was to return to Dorchester. Last night he broke into a freight car and then informed police.

Today he pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and was sentenced to two years in Dorchester.

Dancer Impassive As Espionage Hearing Opens

GENEVA, Oct. 31.—A dark-eyed dancer known as "Nina" in continental night clubs sat impassively in the prisoner's box today while 33 prosecution witnesses, including arms factory workers and military attachés, testified at her trial on charges of espionage and treason.

Reports leaking from the closed courtroom said the woman whose real name is Virginia, Capt. Rota, 35, followed the trial closely, but showed little or no emotion as she listened to the testimony of her witnesses.

Her handsome friend, Roger Jell, one-time draftsman at a Swiss armaments factory, allegedly conspired with her to steal and copy designs for Miss Rota. The state prosecutor of Switzerland will serve a life term if Rota is found guilty. Her trial was traced the link between the dancer and Joel.

Stresses Value Of Air Training In Canada

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—Concentration of the Empire's basic air training in this Dominion may well mean that final victory will be shaped on Canadian soil.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared in a broadcast address tonight.

Describing the increased responsibilities of Canada for coastal defence, as compared with the first Great War, the Prime Minister prophesied that Canada's progress for training in Canada of thousands of airmen for the forces of Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

"All the countries involved, including ourselves, will be individually responsible for elementary training," said Mr. Mackenzie King.

"Advancing on a very large scale, involving the first year, many millions of dollars and many thousands of men, will be concentrated in Canada."

"This may well mean that the final victory will be shaped on Canadian soil—for who can exaggerate the importance of this cooperative effort in the training of men and the forging of an overwhelming air strength."

Mr. Mackenzie King gave a warm review of Canada's program from the first rumblings of war to the present in an effort to "afford some idea of what is involved in changing the nation's economy from a peace-time basis to a war time basis."

Dividing the Dominion's responsibility for prosecution of the war into three phases—military and economic—the Prime Minister said the latter would be of tremendous importance, the less speedily the operations of the democratic nations have become of paramount importance in armed cooperation with the Allies, the Prime Minister said.

As a result these two branches of the service were being speedily augmented and had already performed valuable service in convoy and patrol work on the Atlantic coast.

"Our dockyards are, and our shipyards will soon be, working to capacity," the Prime Minister said.

He added that protection of the Newfoundland coast and the French Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon were of paramount importance to Canada's security than to their own—"was being carried out with fully armed regular and auxiliary fighting ships.
