IN MEMORIAM

MRS. CHARLES ROSS

The death occurred at 1.30 Sunday morning, after a two years illness, at her home on Orlebar St., of Mrs. Charles Ross, aged sixty years. She was a most estimable Christian woman and an active member of Zion Presbyterian Church.

Sunday during the church services, the pastor, Rev. G. Carlyle Webster, paid a fitting and touching tribute to her memory.

She leaves to mourn, besides a sorrowing husband (who unfortunately has been ill for some time) two sons, Stewart in Los Angeles and Bruce in Charlottetown, also three daughters, Ruth, a trained nurse in Montreal, who arrived Home. Funeral notice later.

garet, both in Charlottetown.

Mrs. Ross was a daughter of the late Neil Stewart, of Charlottetown and she is survived by one brother, John Stewart, of Davenport, Iowa, and one sister, Miss Annie Stewart, of Medford, Mass.

The family who have been so sorely bereaved at this Easter season will have the deep sympathy of many friends in their hour of sorrow.

Mrs. Ross will be laid to rest this afternoon in the People's Cemetery, the service beginning at the house at two o'clock.

MRS. ANNE LAPPIN

The death occurred unexpectedly on Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Anne Lappin, at her residence, 30 Hillsboro Street, in her 89th year.

Although not in robust health for some time the deceased was able to be about and was able to leave her room for a considerable time on Friday.

Of a kind, friendly and loveable disposition the deceased is among the last of a group of fine old ladies who resided in that section of the city. One of her outstanding characteristics was her charity and it is a well known fact that no one who ever called at her door was ever turned away empty handed.

She leaves to cherish her memory, two sons, John, of the C. N. R., Sydney, C. B., and James of the C. N. R. of this city, and two daughters, Mary saleslady with S. A. McDonald and Margaret at home. A sister, Mrs. Bridget Clarkin of this city, also survives.

The funeral will be held this morning from her late residence to St. Dunstan's Basilica, thence to R. C. Cemetery.

Foreign visitors to England last year totalled 186,370, a record, and compared with 181,147 in 1932.

Member Conciliation Board Criticises Miss Parkinson

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

BOSTON, April 2—Charles G. Wood, conciliator for the United States conciliation service, today announced his resignation in a sharply worded letter to Miss Frances Perkins, Federal Secretary of Labor.

Wood charged Miss Perkins with "having fallen down on the job", through failure to take the lead in reconciling industrial belligerents. He accused her of having caused President Roosevelt and General Hugh Johnson, National Recovery Administrator to "devote precious time to do the work which the Congress obligated you to perform."

In addition, Wood, who is regarded as an authority on Communistic activities and was an important witness before the special committee of the House of Representatives which, under the chairmanship of Hamilton Fish, Jr., investigated the activities of Communists in this country, added: "You have permitted avowed enemies of our government, who are conducting an alleged labor organization affiliated with an un-American movement, to enjoy the same privileges as those legally granted to labor unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and others of like high standing."

World Heading For Economic Suicide

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

NEW YORK, April 2—Expressing alarm at war talk and war clouds, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, predicted today that the world will end up in economic suicide unless the nations change their present course.

Comparing present trends with those which generated the Great War, Dr. Butler pleaded for the abandoning of "the outgrown and wicked system" of international competition in armaments and commerce.

"The world," he said, "must find minds and voices which can view world problems as a whole. Important problems which are purely national have almost ceased to exist."

He made public these observations in his capacity as director of the division of intercourse and education of the Carnegie endowment for international peace. He is chairman of the endowment as well as chairman of the division.

Admiral Byrd Alone At Little America

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, April 2—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, yesterday spent his first day of a seven-months' vigil in the world's southernmost weather observation post.

He reported by wireless from his advance base, miles south of Little America, that the main body of the Tractor party had left him yesterday and now was homeward bound. He reported a temperature of 60 degrees below zero and added "all is well."

Admiral Byrd's decision to winter alone at the advance base had been known to the expedition for some time. It was intended originally that the advance base would house two or three men, but the difficulties of advancing heavy loads across the barrier, especially this late in the season, made it important that stores and equipment for more than one man not be transported.

Admiral Byrd recognized the hazards in a lone existence and was anxious to accept the risk. Physically and psychologically he felt himself especially qualified, and besides he was keenly interested in the mental problem involved in solitude so complete.

He comes from a family line of solitary men. He has with him books, phonograph records, and supplies ample to last out the period.

With the writing he plans to do and the work involved in maintaining a continuous meteorological record, not to mention the unremitting struggle to exist, he felt that the vigil should not be as barren as people are tempted to consider it.

"The winter night," Admiral Byrd said, "is a period of tranquillity of a sort you will never achieve in civilization."

From the meteorological records he will keep, Admiral Byrd expects one of the most important contributions of the entire expedition. The advance base is completely equipped as a weather station. Up to now the bulk of Antarctic meteorological data has been collected by ships operating in Antarctic waters.

Japan Boosting Her Cotton Market

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 2—Japan's double-barrelled campaign in Brazil envisaging a bigger market for Japanese products and a cheap source of cotton has been speeded with the arrival of a trade mission.

Five Japanese cotton experts, representing as many big textile companies of their country, are here now studying Brazilian cotton production and transport facilities.

"If the results of our studies here are successful," said M. Okada, member of the mission, "Japan will buy from Brazil all the cotton Brazil can produce."

Brazil in the last crop year produced about 150,000,000 pounds of cotton. The current crop year, however, is characterized by a considerable increase, and the Sao Paulo production alone will come close to last year's total Brazilian production. In the last several years, most Brazilian cotton has been used in local textile mills.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

(By John L. Cooley, Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, April 2—(Associated Press)—Stocks shuffled about rather indecisively today, finishing with the average unchanged. The market had a firm tone at times, but there was considerable backing and filling among the usual leaders, some of which had small net losses. A dozen or so specialties traded briskly, again suggesting professional activity.

Comment on general business trends contributed a cheerful note for the beginning of the year's second quarter. The remark of President Sloan of General Motors that industrial recovery, which apparently began some time ago, was "an irresistable force," and chairman Myron Taylor's words at the Steel Corporation's annual meeting, provided expressions of opinion from two prominent executives on basic conditions. News of more immediate bearing on industrial affairs included another sag in steel production, a number of additional wage increases and announcement that two automobile manufacturers had stepped up prices on some models.

Parking and communication shares, as well as some of the automotive equipments and issues identified with the building industry, were firm, at least for intervals. A few aircrafts also found a fairly good market. Favorites embraced Briggs, Sperry, Curtiss-Wright "A," General Asphalt, Celotex, Foundation Co., Wilson, Armour of Illinois preferred, Murray and Hayes. Seaboard and Phillips were the chief movers in the petroleum division. Postal Telegraph preferred and Western Union got up about 2 points at the best.

Light and power shares were quiet and inclined to ease. Rails, with one or two exceptions, did little. Santa Fe started well, but halved a two-point rise. Metals attracted less demand, perhaps because their recent supporters had had some second thoughts on inflationary possibilities. Motor issues and rail equipments worked higher, but were not especially active. Transactions came to 1,424,720 shares.

American Iron and Steel Institute estimated current steel output at 43.3 percent of capacity compared with 45.7 percent a week ago.

The setback was against the expectations of some quarters which had figured that passage of the automobile strike would stimulate specifications from the motor car makers. However, the time for seasonal letdowns is at hand. Higher wages in both these important industries has been reflected in some price increases.

Money markets appear to be well fortified for the large turnover which the new month is bringing. Excess reserves of New York City member banks were reported to have topped $500,000,000, a new high mark, as funds flowed in from the interior of the country.

Chain store reports, covering the greater part of March, began to trickle in, showing the familiar gains over 1933, although in some instances the percentage improvement was smaller than occurred last month. Car loadings figures for last week were too meagre to give much line on the probable direction traffic had taken.

Famous Canadian Geologist Dead

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wir.)

ALMONTE, Ont., April 2—A Canadian who in the practice of his profession had travelled in nearly every country of the world and who, in his earlier years, was as much at home in the Kara Kum Desert of Turkestan as he was in the Canadian woods, Dr. James MacIntosh Bell O. B. E., M. A., LL. D., is dead at his home here. Dr. Bell, who had been in poor health for several months, died on Saturday in his 57th year.

Dr. Bell was first and last an investigator—a geologist, and it is to his activities that Canadians owe much of their information regarding the mineral wealth of the Dominion.

"In the field of mining, geology and geography, he occupied an outstanding position and brought the name of Canada to the attention of the world," said Dr. Charles Camselw, deputy minister of mines, here tonight. "Dr. Bell was intensely Canadian and he never spared himself in his efforts for Canada."

Born at St. Andrews, Que. in September 1877, the late Dr. Bell was the son of Andrew Bell, who in his day had been a distinguished mining engineer, and of Marianne Rosamond. His ancestry was Scottish and French Huguenot. He came to Almonte with his parents as a child and received his primary education in the town schools.

MICHAEL REID

The funeral of the late Michael Reid took place from his residence, Avondale, to St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River, on Tuesday morning, March 27th. Although the weather was most disagreeable, a large procession followed his remains to their last resting place. A High Mass of Requiem was chanted by the pastor, Rev. P. D. McGuigan. Rev. J. Basil Croken of St. Teresa's was present in the Sanctuary and assisted at the services at the grave, while St. Joachim's choir sang the responses. The pall bearers were six nephews, namely: Walter, Leander, Leo, John T. and James B. Reid, and Caroll Hughes. Deceased was the last surviving brother of a family of eight brothers and four sisters, Mrs. Keaveny of Tignish being the only surviving sister.

There are left to mourn his wife and the following family, Rev. Alban Reid of Rapid City, S. D., Daniel B. of Moose Jaw, Sask., Mrs. C. H. McGuigan, Hunter River, Lewis and Ira at home. Three of the family, Agustine, Hilda and Estelle predeceased him. Many Mass Cards and messages of sympathy were received by the bereaved family.

MRS. HARLEY L. DODGE

WINDSOR, April 1—Suddenly stricken, Mrs. Harley L. Dodge, one of this town's best-known residents, died at an early hour Saturday morning. For many years prominent in church, welfare and social organizations in Windsor, Mrs. Dodge was widely known. Mr. Dodge, general sales manager of the Maritime Coal, Railway and Power Company, Amherst, is in Montreal on business at present and the sad news was conveyed to him by their only son, John of the Royal Bank branch at Truro, who was planning to spend the Easter season with his mother here. Daughter of the late Constant and Mrs. Church, Mrs. Dodge enjoyed great popularity and her death will be greatly regretted by a host of friends. Among the organizations in which she labored were those of her church, I. O. D. E. and Ladies Hospital Aid and in these her activity will be greatly missed. Active in the I. O. D. E. Trinity Church organizations, she was president of the Evening Bridge Club and was secretary of the Milk Fund Committee distributing milk to children at school. Besides her husband and son, Mrs. Dodge is survived by a brother and sister, Edward Church of Brookline, Mass., and Mrs. B. D. Payzant of Upper Falmouth. Funeral of Mrs. Dodge will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Ryan, Trinity United Church, officiating. Mrs. A. L. Hardy, Kentville, who was with her cousin, the deceased, as an Easter week-end guest, will remain until after the funeral.

Cabot Strait Is Packed With Ice

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, April 2—Ice conditions in Cabot Strait, 60-mile wide stretch of water between Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, were reported as decidedly unfavorable by the captain of the Dominion Government icebreaker Montcalm today in reporting to the Department of Marine.

(Cabot Strait must be cleared of ice, by the work of nature, before trans-Atlantic navigation may open to St. Lawrence River ports, the passage through the Straits of Belle Isle, to the north of Newfoundland, not usually being opened for navigation until some weeks after the southern passage is being used.)

The Montcalm, enroute from Sydney, N. S., to the Magdelen Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence with passengers, mail and freight, has made little progress beyond Cabot Strait. She gave her position as 25 miles northeast of St. Paul's Island and about the same distance due west from Cape Ray, the southeastern extremity of Newfoundland.

The ship was in heavy, rafted ice and it would be possible, the captain said, "to walk from here to Newfoundland." Another message stated the ice was "the worst we ever saw." Cabot Strait was compared in the message to Foxe Channel, which extends north from Hudson Bay along the western coast of Baffin Island, a spot noted for bad ice conditions.

Heavy, open ice is reported from Cap Des Rosiers, at the extremity of Gaspe Peninsula, while a report from Fame Point, 25 miles to the westward, stated ice was heavy and closely packed there.
