CATHOLIC POETRY SOCIETY

The first Canadian Unit of the Catholic Poetry Society of America was organized at the home of Mrs. P. W. Clark on Wednesday evening. The interest and enthusiasm displayed by the members present indicates the need of such an organization and presages helpful associations in the months to come. The Catholic Poetry Society has a very large membership in the United States and a scattered membership in Canada. It is a source of gratification to the Prince Edward Island members that the smallest province in Canada is the first to form a Unit, and that the members of this Unit have nearly all of them demonstrated their ability as poets and prose writers. Although their program of work is not entirely complete it will include constructive criticism of poems submitted by members, and a study of the best in literature, music and other arts. "Spirit," a magazine published by the Catholic Society, is already in its infancy. It is already an attempt to publish only the work of members, and demanding the best in poetic endeavor; this publication will do much to discourage the mediocrity of modern verse.
