 Today sees a change in the rectorship of St. Dunstan's College—Rev. Thomas Curran, D. D., who has for a number of years been the presiding officer of that institution going to assume the duties of parish priest at Kelly's Cross, and being succeeded by Rev. Terence Campbell who has been directing the affairs of that parish of late—making an exchange as it were. Under the rectorship of Dr. Curran the College has advanced until it now occupies an honored position among the seats of learning in this Dominion. Dr. Campbell who will now assume the rectorship of the College has had a distinguished record and is well qualified as a successor to the many scholarly men who have held the reins of government of St. Dunstan's College.
