Large Assemblage Greet's Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett on His Visit to Charlottetown

Notwithstanding A Downpour Of Rain Which Disappointed A Great Many, Particularly In The Country Who Had Planned To Attend, The Exhibition Building Was Well Filled By An Audience Which Listened With Rapt Earnestness To One Of The Finest Speeches Ever Delivered In The City.—A Dinner In Honour Of Mr. Bennett And Miss Bennett Was Tendered At Beach Grove Inn, When A Delightful Evening Was Spent.—Great Credit Reflects On Those Who Had Charge Of The Excellent Arrangements.

In spite of the heavy rain which fell on Saturday afternoon, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett was greeted with a very large audience considering the circumstances. The Conservative leader was in splendid form, and his excellent reasoning and forceful speech captured the attention of his hearers.

RT. HON. R. B. BENNETT

As he drove home point by point of his discourse with splendid logic, hearty bursts of applause bore witness to the excellent impression he was making on his audience.

The annual meeting of the Queens County Liberal-Conservative Association was held first, followed by a delightful programme of music played by the Canadian Legion Band. This in its turn was succeeded by a series of Scottish dances performed in costume accompanied in true Highland spirit on the bag pipes by Captain MacDougall.

Following on this the meeting was addressed by Mr. Bennett and Miss Bennett. On the rostrum, Mr. Al. Stewart, President of the Queens County Liberal-Conservative Association, presided. Among the ladies present were Mrs. J. S. Bagnall, Mrs. S. R. Jenkins, Mrs. Murdoch MacKinnon and Mrs. Andrew Murphy.

When Miss Bennett rose to address the audience, she was presented with a lovely bouquet by Miss Jessica Jenkins, daughter of Dr. J. S. Jenkins.

Mr. Bennett was introduced by Hon. J. D. Stewart, who recalled to the audience the man who propounded the policy of the Conservative party. Sir John MacDonaid, "I wish now to introduce," he said, "the man on whose shoulders has fallen the mantle of the great MacDonaid."

He recalled the gathering at Quebec on Monday, October 10, 1864, when the foundations of Canada were laid. On Monday, October 10th, 1927, the convention was held in Winnipeg which appointed his successor to the chieftainship of the Conservative party.

He prophesied that Mr. Bennett, like his illustrious predecessor MacDonaid, would, as Premier of Canada, carry on the great work which he had founded.

His Worship Mayor Yeo then expressed his pleasure at welcoming to Charlottetown Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and Miss Bennett.

He took a leaf out of their book, and decided to think about Canada, and to look after our own interests—and our own interests alone.

As to Canada—there was no country in the world, with so large an area and so few people which had ever accomplished as much, said Mr. Bennett.

He contrasted the pessimism of liberals in confederation times with the optimism of the conservative fathers, who caught the great vision of busy and prosperous cities and fertile fields of grain, where there lay but forest covered hills and far expanse of the rolling prairies.

And as to the present—in the last six years of liberal rule we have had 590,000 of our sons have left our country, while, in the meantime, only 570,000 people, and those from assorted European nationalities, came into Canada.

And why do they leave us? Because there are no jobs for them? Why are there no jobs for them? Because, while to the whole world we sold 1220 million dollars worth of goods, we bought from the United States alone 750 million dollars worth of manufactured goods.

Mr. Bennett gave statistics in detail of these purchases and sales. In this connection the speaker stressed particularly the fact, that whereas two and one half years ago we had exported 25 million lbs. of butter, this year we had imported 15 million pounds.

This was due to the unfair competition of New Zealand butter, under the treaty negotiated with that country by the King Government.

He also dealt with the dumping of fruits into this country at the end of the American season, underselling the Canadian fruit growers.

What happens is this: We ship the Americans our raw materials—grain from our fields, wood from our forests, forests which it will take two generations years to replace, and minerals from our soil which we can never replace.

How long will we, a sensible people, keep this sort of thing up? Fancy a Pittsburgh at our doors. And that is what we may have, if we stop buying iron and steel in the United States, and put the iron mills and factories to work in Cape Breton.

Mr. Bennett stated that we should manufacture our own goods, and sell manufactured goods abroad. In reply to a question from one of the audience as to where the capital would come from, the speaker replied that it would come freely from Great Britain, Canada and the U. S. A., provided they were assured of stability.

What we want is an even chance with any of the people of the world in our own markets. And this is said in no party spirit, but simply in the interests of the country. This chance will keep Canadians home, and give them jobs. Is any policy which permits half a million Canadians to go within six years to find jobs worthy of the name of a policy?

Mr. Bennett went on to read certain recommendations of the Duncan report among them being a re-consideration of the customs duties in regard to steel and coal, in order to re-habilitate these industries in the Maritime Provinces. In this connection he complimented Hon. J. D. Stewart on his representation on behalf of this province before the Duncan Commission.

The conservative party had introduced at the last session of parliament a resolution, voted down by the Liberal governments, calling for instant action on the Duncan report.

The conservative party, he stated, will assist the government to the extent of its ability and power to carry out these recommendations, and if they fail to do so, then, as soon as the Conservative party attains power "whether I am its leader, or another," said Mr. Bennett "we will carry them out at once."

He closed with an appeal to his audience to think over these matters, to get the statistics and report on the subject, and ponder them well. Then they would be able to cast an intelligent vote for Canada, and would so use our heritage of Canada, our land, as to pass it on, unimpaired to those who come after us.

"Faith in Canada" he said, "I want to leave with you as my last word, but faith without wise legislation is dead." We should use every legislative instrument to our hands to aid Canadians to develop Canada with an equal chance against the peoples of the world.

Hon. J. D. Stewart then introduced Miss Bennett to the audience. Miss Bennett, in expressing her pleasure at visiting the Island—the last province they had visited—thanked the audience most heartily and asked the women to ponder carefully her brother's address.

There was a very large attendance of ladies and gentlemen at the banquet at Beach Grove Inn Saturday evening, at which Rt. Hon. Mr. Bennett and Miss Bennett were distinguished guests. The Hon. J. D. Stewart presided.

After the toast to The King had been proposed Hon. John A. MacDonaid, M.P., followed the chairman's opening remarks by proposing the health of "Our Leader" in a few well chosen words, to which Rt. Hon. Mr. Bennett replied in a brilliant address, which was punctuated with frequent and hearty applause.

Mr. Bennett's speech was a challenging appeal to true Canadian democracy. He insisted on the danger of apathy and indifference with regard to public issues and on the need of British-Chinese Agreement Signed (Special to the Guardian) NANKING, Aug. 11.—A British Chinese agreement for settlement of the so-called Nanking incident was signed last night by C. T. Brain Of Lenin Dissected (Special to the Guardian) PARIS, Aug. 11.—The brain of the late Nicolai Lenin, the Bolshevik dictator has been cut up into 31,000 slices and particles. For two and a half years the entire scientific staff of the Lenin Institution, at Moscow under the direction of the famous German savant, Professor Otto Vogt, has been busy with the task of dissecting and analyzing the gray matter of the Apostle of Communism.

Professor Vogt has, at the invitation of the Paris Sorbonne authorities just given a report of his activities to an international group of scientists. The result is that France, and perhaps some other European governments, plan the institution of a pantheon of the brain, a place where the brains of great statesmen, scientists, writers, musicians and artists will be preserved and analyzed.

Cerebral examinations of great men have been made from time to time previous to the experiments of Lenin's brain. It will be recalled that the gray matter of an Anatole France caused a surprise in that it did not exceed that of a child in weight but never before have such thorough and scientific methods been employed as this has been the case with Lenin's mental remains.

While one group of experts set to work on preserving the body of the Bolshevik chief, a work that also entailed months of hard labor, another group began examination of the brain of the dead leader. In the case of the body a secret method of embalming was evolved that is now recognized to insure the perfect preservation of the mummy for several centuries.

Old Relics Found In Soot

DIXIE, Ont., Aug. 11.—While tearing out an old fireboard some days ago in her home, Mrs. C. H. Gill came across a pair of spectacles which, she believes, had been buried in the soot for 22 years. Also buried in the soot were a pair of old iron "fire dogs" which are said to be over 70 years old. The "fire dogs" have a fancy scroll iron work on the front of each. The spectacles have steel rims and with the exception of having one lens missing, are none the worse of their long sojourn out of sight.
