Canadian Airways Plane Resumes Mercy Flight

WINNIPEG, Dec. 1.—A Canadian Airways plane on a 1,000-mile mercy flight to Repulse Bay far up the west coast of Hudson Bay, reached Chesterfield Inlet today. Canadian Airways officials reported.

The plane's crew—Captain Bill Cation, pilot A. J. Hollingsworth and engineer Rex Terpenning—left the plane at Chesterfield Inlet and take off on the remaining 200-mile leg tomorrow, officials said.

Rev. Alvin Bullard, Roman Catholic missionary at Repulse Bay, will be brought back to Chesterfield Inlet for hospital treatment. He is suffering from after-effects of severe frostbite. The plane left on Monday afternoon after a flying doctor had postponed the trip because of weather.

Full Time Wardens
Mr. Earl Ings thought that these fish wardens should be replaced by 3 or 4 full time wardens patrolling the streams.

Mr. Bruce Wonnacott submitted a resolution to the effect that the Association approach the Provincial Government to ask that the R. C. M. P. be given authority to patrol the streams.

Mr. Gaudet informed the meeting that a committee had gone to the Provincial Government asking for better protection against poaching and that nothing was done about it.

CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE

The Adventures Of Huckleberry Finn

STARRING MICKEY ROONEY AT CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn is the picture now showing at the Capitol, and is one that you must not miss, starring Mickey Rooney the picture has caught the full flavor of Mark Twain's whimsical humor and deep understanding of human heart.

The scene is set on location along the Sacramento River, and is beautifully picturesque. The picture follows the book with absolute fidelity. Locations, settings, costumes and all details are authentic to the period.

Mickey as Huck, is given the best opportunity for dramatic acting in his career and makes the most of it. He also has typical Rooney comedy moments. Rex Ingram, the Negro actor, who played "De Lawd" in "Green Pastures" gives a compelling performance. Walter Connolly and William Frawley provide much hilarious comedy as the two crooks, and Elizabeth Risdon scores as the kindly Widow Douglas who befriends the boy hero.

The ranking comedy highlight is the absurd "Pope and Juliet" performance with Walter Connolly as Romeo and Mickey as Juliet's "mama" who are his ex-lover and the crook who is the partner of the crook to save Lawrence and Jo Ann Saye's playing helmsman, from being robbed, and the sequence where Rex Ingram, as the slave, carries the boy, bitten by a snake, back to medical aid, knowing it means his return to slavery.

case is dealt with on its merits and it involves a great deal of discussion and objection.

About 30 officials and technicians are on the board and most are ex-land. In addition there is a large clerical staff recruited locally.

The war supply contract to execute the contracts for the British board which has full authority to approve them without reference to the home government. No intimation was given to the British board that they are believed to be substantial.

Biggest Single Order
One of the biggest single orders which the Canadian board has been asked to execute for the British is for 10 steel anti-submarine boats of the "whale-catcher" type used in the Royal Navy, the total contract valued at about $4,000,000.

Tenders for 30 of these boats, have been invited from Canadian shipbuilders, the addition of 20 being for the Canadian naval service.

Orders for shells of various sizes and types will probably constitute the bulk of the first British orders in Canada.

It is also possible Canadian shipyards will be called upon to construct freighters and possibly destroyers or larger ships of war. Discussions looking toward this objective have been going forward for some time.

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—(CP)—Development of co-operative plans for medical, nursing, dental and hospitalization services in Canada is recommended by the national committee for medical hygiene in a report released today following a two-year survey of the distribution of medical care in the Dominion.

"In view of the fact that medical care is unevenly distributed throughout Canada, together with the circumstance that so many citizens in the lower income brackets are unable to meet the costs of necessary medical attention, such co-operative services would be 'highly desirable,' the report states.

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—(CP)—The Toronto campaign of the Red Cross scored past its objective of $1,000,000 today with a flood of contributions which included an anonymous gift of $50,000 to provide equipment of the first Canada overseas hospital at Taplow, England.

Chairman Norman S. Cauldwell said tonight the objective was reached prior to receipt of the large donation by the city's exact figure was not known because volunteer clerks were behind in their work due to the volume of donations in the past few days.

Announcement of the $55,000 donation, second large anonymous gift of the week, was made by Norman Semmerville, national chairman, who reported a few days ago a donation of $150,000 to erect the Taplow Hospital.

Red Cross Branch Is Organized

At Summerside

Mayor J. E. Campbell Named To Head Organization.

A branch of the Canadian Red Cross was formed last night at a large and interesting meeting in the town hall at which Mayor Campbell presided and who was afterwards appointed president of the newly formed society.

Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, president of the Island Red Cross Society addressed the meeting and in a stirring address to the organization going war work. At the same time, he pointed out that the Red Cross society is the only official organization through which supplies of comforts, gifts, hospital supplies and every need for the soldiers at the front are allowed to be sent. They are first and foremost in the field.

There is no intention on the part of the Red Cross to sink the identity of any separate organization doing war work. The organization is welcome to become a member of the Red Cross Society and still retain their own identity. The organization doing war work should cooperate with the Red Cross society as that society is the only one through which supplies can go to the soldiers. The public idea is cooperation, only by the supreme effort of all can we hope to win out in this struggle, which is only just beginning.

This and, said Dr. MacMillan, is blessed in that it does not know what war really means but nevertheless there are vacant chairs in the hospital, a result of the last great war. Islanders a Canadians must see to it that those boys, who have again left their homes to fight, do not suffer more than is necessary for want of supplies of coats, hospital needs and the many things that the Red Cross supplies.

Dr. MacMillan reminded the audience that should Great Britain and France not win this war Canada would be the greatest of all prizes for Germany. Its rich grain fields, forestry, fisheries and untold wealth in minerals. No people in the world have more freedom as we do; as a part of the British empire let us see to it that we do our bit to retain it. Dr. MacMillan then outlined what the Red Cross had done in the war of 1914 to 18 which went into billions of dollars for the relief of the sick, and wounded, erecting hospitals, maintaining ambulances, sending tremendous supplies to prisoners of war besides the supplies to hospitals and soldiers.

In speaking of the help given to prisoners of the Red Cross, Dr. MacMillan reminded the audience of the revelations of the British government of the dreadful tortures that prisoners have undergone as prisoners of Germany.

In speaking of the present effort of the Red Cross, Dr. MacMillan said that the Red Cross had already been spent for supplies for soldiers. Several speakers who spoke after Dr. MacMillan said they were amazed at the amount of work the Red Cross is doing and has done in the past. Dr. MacMillan was thanked by a number of speakers for his wholehearted support of every citizen.

The officer appointed were:—President—Mayor Campbell and Vice-President—B. W. Robinson and J. Arnett; treasurer—W. A. Currie; secretary—J. M. Larabee; executive committee—Mayor Campbell, H. T. Holman, A. S. Brennan, J. P. MacInnis, Dr. J. A. McPhee, S. G. MacInnis, Miss C. O. Holman, Mrs. L. A. Moore, Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Mrs. G. E. Smith, Miss Eganor Green, Mrs. Peter White, Mrs. Archie Spahr, Mrs. G. Ennis Smith was appointed head of the work.

The work was then turned over to Dr. MacMillan for his excellent address.

DEFENCE DEPT. New Government

Cajander and the former Foreign Minister Elias Erkkö, who were assailed by Russia as inimical to the Soviets were dropped from the cabinet.

The two-day-old invasion this afternoon and two other air raids alarmed the city. Heavy bombing were followed as flames spread through the capital.

Helsingfors' police chief said the 30 women and children were killed in the working class district by Soviet bombs during the afternoon raid.

A railway warehouse was demolished, but rail traffic was not affected.

There was no bombardment of Helsingfors by Soviet warships. The Finnish navy and naval bombardment of Hangoe was described as extreme and it was expected Soviet forces might attempt landing to reduce the stubborn fortress there.

What was described as a "tremendous" Soviet attack along the southern coast of Finland, was reported repulsed by Finnish troops, with hundreds of Russians taken prisoner and a heavy loss of life on the Soviet side.

Sixteen Russian tanks were wrecked by mines or gunfire in this engagement, military authorities said.

Soviet troops dropped to earth in parachutes from large airplanes were said to have captured Petsamo, the remote port on the Arctic coast of Petsamo and the town of Linnahamari were reported in flames from repeated air raids.

Helsingfors was not the only city in Finland. The only low-flying planes, bombed principal ports on Finland's south coast, particularly Viborg and Kotka, about 85 miles east of Helsingfors, and also struck at Abo (Turku), on the west coast and 250 miles from the Russian frontier.

Ten bombers were said to have been shot down at Viborg. It was reported, without confirmation that civilians in Abo were machine-gunned as they were in Helsingfors.

There were no estimates of the air raid casualties in Finland. In Helsingfors, Finnish anti-aircraft guns were said to have shot down several enemy planes.

One captured Soviet pilot carried Estonian money, authorities said, tending to corroborate their belief that the air raid was a diversion. They were coming from nearby bases in Estonia, gained by Russia through concessions granted in October.

During the afternoon, Russian fliers dropped handbills containing a Finnish translation of a speech by Russia's Premier Molotov, saying he would deal with the Cajander Government.

IN THE NORTH
KIRKENES, Norway, Dec. 1.—Russia's Red army, using bombers, parachute troops and regular infantry, today reached across narrow northernmost Finland to garner its harvest of towns, villages and industrial property.

This afternoon, according to reports received here, the Russians were 10 miles north of Petsamo and its Canadian-owned nickel industry. They were expected to be in possession of the town.

CONCERT BY

Of special interest were two of the artists' own compositions, "Dirge of the North," composed in Scarborough in 1929, and "Caprice," composed in the "Dwarfs" by Fritz Kreisler, who transcribed the music for violin and gave their first performance in a concert at Carnegie Hall, New York in 1904.

The audience warmly applauded their presentation last night.

As encores Mr. Balogh played two works of a contemporary Cuban composer, Ernesto Lecuona. The first was a Spanish dance, "Malaguena," of stirring rhythmic quality; the second, "Andaluzia," quite different in mood but equally enjoyable. Other encores numbers included "Dances of the Dwarfs," by not Mr. Balogh explained, the "Dwarfs of 'Snow White'"; Liszt; a Schumann composition, and the E Flat and C Sharp Minor waltzes of Chopin.

Following was the program in detail:
Rondo in E Flat, Op. 11. (Hummel)
Consta. Op. 27, No. 2 ("Moonlight")
Adagio, Allegretto. Presto. (Beethoven)
Fantasia-Improvisata. Op. 66; Waltz in A Flat, Op. 42; Nocturne in F, Op. 15, No. 1; Polonaise in A Flat, Op. 53 (Chopin)
Dirge of the North; Caprice antique. (Balogh)
Rhapsodie Hongroise, No. 15. (Liszt)
Waltz (Rubinstein)
Blue Danube Waltz. (Strauss, Schullz-Evler)
Mr. Balogh, who is remaining in Charlottetown over the week-end, is a graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Budapest. He studied under Bela Bartok and Soltan Kodaly, and before coming to America toured widely in concert throughout Hungary, Germany, Holland, and the Scandinavian countries. He has been acclaimed for his straightforward, unaffected style, brilliance of tone, poetic feeling, and technical mastery.

His playing was outstandingly evident in his performances last night. He possesses also a charming manner, and an evident capacity of entering fully into the enjoyment of his audience.

Canadians Are Safe In Norway

SUBSBURY, Ont., Dec. 1.—(CP)—All 12 Canadian formerly at the new International Nickel Company plant in Kirenes, Norway, is safe in Kirenes, Norway, it was learned tonight in a cablegram.

The cable advised Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Robertson of Copper Cliff, was sent by I. J. Simcox and asked that relatives and friends of the party be notified by telephone or telegraph.

Fears had been held for the safety of the 12 since the Russ attack on Finland began, particularly since Petsamo was in a region under bombardment. Included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Simcox and their two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kearns and their two children and Miss Eva Christilaw, tutor to the children and formerly of Copper Cliff.

Pound, Franc and Dollar Make Gains

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(CP)—Brisks advances in the pound sterling and the French franc contrasted with fresh releases in most other major European currencies in closing foreign exchange trading today.

Jerling gained 1-3-4 cent to $3.90 in relation to the United States dollar and the French franc .02 cent to 2.21.

The Belgian belga lost .02 cent and the Netherlands guilder and Swiss franc cent each.

The Canadian dollar at a discount of 12 1-2 per cent, went up 7-8 cent. The gains were made despite the nervousness created in foreign exchange circles over long-range implications of the Russian-Finnish battle and eventual repercussions on international currency balances.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 1.—There is likelihood that the Anglo-French allies will make it their business to restore Finland, if that country's sovereignty or territorial integrity is infringed by Russia, in the view of Dewitt MacKenzie. Associated Press foreign affairs columnist, as expressed in a talk before the Yale press club here tonight.

"The ending of armed aggression is the chief war-aim of the Allies, and under this they are pledged to restoration of both Poland and Czechoslovakia," the writer said.

"Finland's plight falls in the same category and the Allies are generally expected to regard it from that standpoint."

"England and France now being preoccupied with the German war, they presumably will deal with the Finnish problem if and when they have disposed of the argument with Herr Hitler."

In discussing the conduct between Germany and the Allies, MacKenzie said there is strong probability that it will be settled on the waters of the English Channel and North Sea rather than on the battlefield.

Timely Notes

consist, announce their next auction of Fromm and Federal silver foxes to take place December 4th and 5th, the pelts to be on show November 30th. The offering will consist of 10,000 Fromm silver foxes and 5,000 to 10,000 Federal fox pelts. The Federal mink offering will consist of from 12,000 to 15,000 mink pelts. The Fromm pedigree foxes are described as all Fromm pelts of the new crop containing a high percentage of the pale and silvery type for the select trade and the popular priced pelts also well represented. The Federal silver fox collection will also appeal to the trade, states the advertisement, because of its popular price range as well as quantity of select pelts.

The fact that Fromm Bros. can place 10,000 pelts from their fur farms on show November 30th would indicate that they must have started pelting very early in November. Years ago it was the practice of Fromm Bros. to start pelting on Thanksgiving Day, which prior to the new Roosevelt Thanksgiving inaugurated this year, was the last Thursday in November. It may be that Fromm Bros. have set their date ahead a bit this year in order to get more of their merchandise distributed for the Christmas trade.

The Borden Silver Fox Show was as usual a great success and the animals on view were better in quality than any previous year. Robert Humphrey, president of the Grand Championship at Charlottetown, was also Grand Champion at Borden. Our congratulations are extended to Mr. Humphrey and to all the prize winners at the show. Fromm Bros. Captain John L. Read, for his excellently conducted Exhibition.

Had a visit from an old friend—Keith Boswell, Victoria,—yesterday and we discussed the war and silver fox farming. He reminded me of one afternoon in November, 1928 when we sat side by side each holding a silver fox on the judging table at the Provincial Fox Show, Charlottetown. I told him he would be very close to the top when the ribbons were awarded and so he was, because he held a magnificent specimen. As he rose from the table smiling with satisfaction, B. Graham Rogers, Summerside, plucked his arm and said, "How much for the fox?" Keith did not know what to ask, finally said $550, and the sale was consummated very quickly, the fox going to a Norwegian who wanted something very much out of the ordinary.

Keith had some other very beautiful foxes at that show, one of which was either first or second. No doubt there are many foxes in quality today, but that particular silver coloring, intensely blue and very bright, is not seen too often.

The question we asked ourselves in our conversation was, are we producing as good three-quarters and pales as some years ago? It brought out recollections of a number of silvers in London, England, more bought from W. K. Rogers the fall of 1928, that Mr. McCure and myself paid $185.00 average for on behalf of the Hudson's Bay Company in London, England. They were the offspring of James Paton foxes, mostly, and some Jim Tuplin strains, and without question they were one of the finest large collections of silvers either of us has ever clapped an eye on. They sold well in London so that everybody was perfectly satisfied with the transaction.

Believes Allies Aim To Restore Finland—Later

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—High government officials were reported today, to be considering imposition of a "moral embargo" on sales of war planes to Russia as an expression of protest against the Soviet invasion of Finland, already condemned by President Roosevelt.

The embargo, as in the case of a similar action taken against Japan, would amount to an appeal by State Secretary Cordell Hull to American manufacturers not to sell the planes.

Munitions exports to Japan have ceased almost entirely since Hull put moral pressure against sales of munitions which might be used to bomb civilian populations.

Commercial sources reported Soviet agents have made inquiries in the last few days which indicated their intention to place orders for military planes of all types. Where no disclosure of military secrets is involved, there is no legal machinery for turning down export licenses, hence the consideration of the "moral embargo."
