

SUMMERSIDE GUARDIAN and Prince County Chronicle

Polo and Tweed COATS $7.75

If these Coats were on sale at $10.00 to $12.00 you'd say "good value." But 1933 sets new standards of its own.

Every Coat is a fresh Surprise!

There's no way we can make clear the values of these wonderful new coats except to have you see for yourself.

$10, $12, $13.95 $16.95, $19.50, $25.

Moore & McLeod Limited

A worker for a charitable institution went one day to the door of a woman and asked her for a contribution.

"We have," said he, "hundreds of poor, dirty, ragged children like those at your gate, and it is our object—"

"Sir," cried the woman, "those are my children."

—This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a new nature may be inserted at 2 cents a word strictly payable in advance.

—BUYING silver fox pelts, good cash prices being paid at the office of B. Graham Rogers, at Summerside. 8473-3-20-61.

—SIGNS OF SPRING—Fourteen geese were to be seen flying over Bedeque harbour on Sunday which is a sure sign that spring is near at hand.—S.

—WEDDING BELLS—A quiet wedding, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at Trinity United Church Parsonage, Summerside by Rev. L. B. Campbell, when Miss Helen Margaret MacFarlane, daughter of the late Leslie MacFarlane and Mrs. MacFarlane of Summerside was united in marriage to Roland McArthur of Summerside. The young couple were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. McArthur will reside in Summerside where a host of friends wish them every happiness through life.—S.

—CLOSE CALL—Master Bobbie Jardine, little son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. P. Jardine of Summerside had a close call on Monday morning from being knocked down by a passing motor car. The little fellow was playing with his sleigh in the snow on the road when a car came round the corner from Spring Street. The driver of the car turned out to avoid the child but the rear of the car swerved and struck a box which Bobbie had on his sleigh. Bobbie was standing quite close to the box and received a bad fright, but fortunately was not hurt. This should serve as a warning to children not to play in the road.—S.

—DEATH OF MRS. AITKEN—There passed away on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence W. Harris of Summerside, Mrs. Isabella Jean Aitken, widow of the late G. Albert Aitken. Mrs. Aitken was 83 years old and had resided at Summerside for the last five years. She was a woman with a pleasing personality and many friends, especially at Georgetown and the eastern end of the Island will regret to learn of her passing. She was the daughter of the late John Ross, Charlottetown. For many years she conducted the Aitken Hotel at Georgetown and was highly esteemed by the travelling public for her generous hospitality and courteous service. She was a member of the United Church and was attended by Rev. L. B. Campbell during her last illness. Her husband predeceased her about sixteen years ago. There are left to mourn three daughters, Mrs. C. W. Harris of Summerside; Mrs. Frank D. McDonald of Halifax and Miss Jean Aitken of Regina; also the following sisters: Mrs. Rod McLeod and Mrs. Jas. Whalen of Regina; Mrs. Charles Nash, Washington; Mrs. V. C. McLeod of Park Corner, to whom sympathy is extended. There will be a service at 10 o'clock this morning at the home of Mrs. Harris, after which the remains will be conveyed to Georgetown by train. Service at Georgetown in the United Church on Wednesday at 2 p. m.—S.

—HORSE NOTES—Weather and ice permitting there will be another race held on Wednesday next, March 22nd, which promises to eclipse anything yet. Mr. Wellington McNeill of Charlottetown, the owner of Lucky Lindy, has challenged the owner of Major S. and Yorkola for any stake. This challenge has been accepted by the owners of Major S. and Yorkola for $25.00 a side, the winner to take all. Oh boy, what a race this will be. Try if you can to pick a winner as any of the three can go a quarter in 30 seconds or better. There is also talk of a match race between Waltz owned by Alvin Campbell of Kensington and P. Xie owned by Robert Humphry also of Kensington. The owner of Emma Watson feeling satisfied, notwithstanding the results of Saturday's race that she can beat Billie Witte and it would not be a bit surprising to see these horses meet again on Wednesday next. There will also be three more well filled classes, so don't miss the best days racing of season. The Summerside Driving Club wish to express their thanks to Messrs R. T. Holman, —CARNIVAL AND FANCY DRESS skate in the Kensington Rink Tuesday, March 21, from 7.30 until 9 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for best costume. Regular skating 9 to 10. Admission 10 and 20 cents. 8463-3-18-31

—SOCIAL EVENING—The Young People's Society of Trinity Church, Summerside entertained the Young People of North Bedeque Church on St. Patrick's evening to a social. Readings, recitations and games in keeping with the day were indulged in. Miss Bessie Smallman rendered very sweetly "Come Back to Erin" and Miss Sue Meadows gave a talk on St. Patrick. Refreshments were served.—S.

—DEATH OF PROSPER P. DESROCHES—There passed away quite suddenly on Saturday at his home in Misouche, Prosper P. DesRoches a prominent farmer and native of Misouche. Mr. DesRoches was 68 years of age and had lived all his life in Misouche where he farmed quite extensively and was very highly esteemed. He was a member of the choir of St. John the Baptist Church and a member of the Knights of Columbus. He will be much missed in the district where he was ever ready to help in all works for the advancement of the community. His wife predeceased him twelve years ago. There are left to mourn three sons and two daughters, namely Leo at Wellington, Eric on the homestead and Louis in Manchester, Mass.; Sister Saint Rosa's of the Congregation of Notre Dame, Montreal and Corinne at home; also two brothers, Louis at Manchester, Mass.; and Stephen on the homestead and the following sisters, Mrs. Alice Williams, Ipswich, Mass.; Mrs. Sylvère LeBlanc, Manchester, Mass.; Mrs. Joseph DesRoches, Wellington; Mrs. Gilbert Gaudet and Mrs. Ronald McNeill, Misouche and Miss Madeline at home, to all of whom sympathy is extended. The funeral is taking place this morning at eight o'clock.—S.

Sinclair and Stewart, F. W. Strong, George Bowness, Jas. A. McNeill for prizes donated for the races.—S.

PERSONALS

—Mr. W. Henry Noonan, of Summerside, is visiting in Moncton and will return on Wednesday evening.—S.

—The many friends of Mrs. T. J. Keefe of Misouche will be pleased to hear that she has successfully undergone an operation in the Prince County Hospital.—S.

—Dr. John F. McNeill and Mrs. McNeill arrived last evening at Summerside from Montreal where the doctor had undergone an operation. His friends will be pleased to learn that he is quite recovered.—S.

—Sister Saint Rosalia, of the Congregation of Notre Dame, Montreal, arrived home on Monday evening to attend the funeral of her father, Prosper P. DesRoches of Misouche.—S.

—Messrs Chester D. Schurman and Urvile J. Schurman arrived at Summerside on the evening train last night for the funeral of their father, Major Schurman which takes place this afternoon at his late residence on Belmont Street.—S.

EASTERN GUARDIAN

—This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a new nature may be inserted at 2 cents a word strictly payable in advance.

—SUBSCRIPTIONS to The Charlottetown Guardian may be handed to their Rep. Archie Hume, or left at H. J. Mabon's Drug Store, Montague. 12-13-diff.

—MR. FRANK A. MACINNON, St. Peters, writes:—"I am seventy-three years of age and was never in jail. I will die in jail before I pay the costs of the recent case or start another law suit. I don't blame the R. C. M. Police, but I object to be unnecessarily interfered with. 8502-3-21-11.

—Y. P. S. MEETS—The Beacon Y. P. S. of the Montague United Church took over the evening service in that church on Sunday evening. The church was filled and a very interesting program was enjoyed. The choir was made up of members of the society. Following is the order of service: Musical Prelude, "Day is Dying in the West"; Invocation Hymn, "The Lord is My Shepherd"; Poem, by Marie Coffin; Prayer, by Rev. G. C. Pringle; Solo, Allison McLean; Poem, Everett Moore; Hymn, "Rejoice the Lord is King"; Scripture Reading, Annie McLeod; Announcements; Choir, "Will Your Anchor Hold"; Offering, Double Quartette, "The Beacon Light"; Poem, Florie McLeod, "At the Cross Roads" and "Faith"; Reading, Francis A. Coffin; "Remembrance," by Edna St. Vincent Millay; Mrs. G. C. Pringle, "The Vision of Mirza," by Joseph C. Addison; Prayer, Rev. G. C. Pringle; Double Quartette, "The Captain is Calling"; Hymn, "The Day Thou Gavest"; Benediction.—H.

Germany is increasing its supply of copper from domestic smelters, which use both foreign concentrates and domestic ores, at such a rate that within a few years it may become independent of foreign supplies of refined metal.

GROCER'S SPECIAL TEA and COFFEE. 1 lb. 18c. 1/2 lb. 35c. 3 lbs. $1.00. QUALITY GUARANTEED.

SEN. HUGHES ON CHARITY SWEEPSTAKES

Distinction Drawn By King's Co. Senator Between Liquor And Gambling Prohibitions: The Former He Declares To Be Immoral

The following speech in protest against the Charity Sweepstakes Bill was delivered in the Senate on March 14 by Hon. J. J. Hughes, (Kings County).

"Honourable members, a Bill similar to the one now before this House was rejected by the Senate last year and the year before. The members who spoke and voted against the previous Bills did so for social and moral reasons, and I feel sure, judging by the comments of the press, that public opinion approved of their action at that time.

"The promoter of this Bill says that public opinion in British Columbia, for material reasons, has changed during the past year, and is now favourable to the proposed legislation. If this be true, it is very regrettable. He also said he believed that public opinion in the other provinces had changed. I do not share in that belief. I have no doubt in my own mind that the present troubles of the world are largely due to the adoption by many persons of the principles underlying this Bill. The putting aside of the homely virtues of thrift and industry, and the adoption of schemes to 'get rich quick' to get something for nothing, to exploit the weaknesses of the multitude, and take advantage of the weaker brethren for monetary gain, have been the besetting vices of this century and the last. We are told by the promoter and the supporters of the Bill that these vices will be practised by Canadians anyhow, and that, therefore, we should provide facilities to enable them to indulge in a large way, without inconvenience. I should not like to mention the name of the real author of such reasoning. This particular line of argument was advanced by the honourable senator from Lanaudiere (Hon. Mr. Casgrain) and the honourable senator from Hamilton (Hon. Mr. Lynch-Staunton). They declared that we had numerous laws on the Statute Books to enable the gambling fraternity to ply their trade; that we were a race and a nation of gamblers, and that, therefore the Bill should be taken off and every restraint against the evil of gambling removed. And yet these two honourable gentlemen are honest, intelligent, upright men and one of them is a jurist of repute." Hon. Mr. PARENT: "That just proves what intelligence can produce." Hon. Mr. HUGHES: "My honourable friend says that is proof of what intelligence can produce. For myself, I cannot follow their line of reasoning. Needless to say, I was shocked to hear such statements. Do not these men see that if such a principle were adopted, it would justify the commission of every crime in the calendar? Surely the honourable gentlemen have made some mistake in advancing arguments of that kind before this House. I cannot help thinking that if the promoters of this proposed legislation had read and digested the scorching and searing arraignment of such practices pronounced by the President of the United States on the day he entered upon his official duties, this Bill would never have seen the light of day. Allow me to quote his remarks. "The money changers have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization. We may now restore that temple to the ancient truths. "The measure of the restoration lies in the extent to which we apply social values more noble than mere monetary profit. Practices of the unscrupulous money changers stand indicted in the court of public opinion, rejected by the hearts and minds of men." "We see by the daily press that the Senate of the United States is almost unanimously behind the President in his efforts to eradicate and destroy these gigantic evils. Yet this is the time chosen to ask the Senate of Canada to legalize and promote similar evils here. It is certainly hard to account for the things that sometimes happen. We are told that this legislation would do a great deal of good; that large sums would be given to charitable objects—and the Bill itself enumerates a long list of regulations that would be adopted to ensure the strictest honesty in the carrying out of the details. And we, who know that the whole scheme is founded upon dishonesty expected to take this kind of thing seriously. We are told upon the very highest authority that when Satan has a particularly vicious job to do he transforms himself into an angel of light, and that he is far more dangerous in that disguise than when clothed in his ordinary habiliments. For my own part, I should have much less objection to the Bill if it were presented to us in all its naked deformity, stripped of all its trappings of pseudo-charity. Prohibition Immoral

It is argued by the honourable senator from Vancouver (Hon. Mr. McRae) that the legislation known as prohibition produced far more and greater evils in the United States than it cured; that, in fact, it intensified the very evil it was designed to cure, and has broken down wherever tried; and that, therefore, we should legalize and promote gambling. Surely this deduction cannot properly be drawn. Such reasoning is an attempt to compare two things that are not comparable. While drunkenness is a widespread social and moral evil, and total abstinence, if undertaken voluntarily, a most heroic virtue, this virtue can never be enforced by law, and it is immoral to try to enforce it by law, because the use of alcoholic beverages in moderation is neither sinful nor improper. Our Lord himself not only partook of wine in moderation, but provided it for others, and in consequence was called a wine bibber and a glutton by certain people in His day. But even those people never called Him a gambler. The prohibitionists made the mistake of trying to add another commandment to the ten and of course they failed. But surely it is the negation of reason to say that because prohibition failed, and was bound to fail, we should promote gambling. I cannot find a single argument worthy of the name in favour of this Bill, except the very specious one that a part of the ill-gotten gains would be given to hospitals and other worthy objects. Surely the Senate of Canada will never make merchandise of its moral principles. Every proper human law is founded upon, and must be in conformity with the divine law, and every member of this honourable House should be able to see that there is a vast difference between prohibiting a thing that is not contrary to divine law, and legalizing a thing that is, to say the least, morally doubtful. If we refrain from passing this Bill, we shall be on safe ground; if we pass it, we shall as I see it, be taking a momentous and dangerous step—one that we may regret, but cannot retrace. I hope the Senate will not pass the Bill.

the Bill should be taken off and every restraint against the evil of gambling removed. And yet these two honourable gentlemen are honest, intelligent, upright men and one of them is a jurist of repute." Hon. Mr. PARENT: "That just proves what intelligence can produce." Hon. Mr. HUGHES: "My honourable friend says that is proof of what intelligence can produce. For myself, I cannot follow their line of reasoning. Needless to say, I was shocked to hear such statements. Do not these men see that if such a principle were adopted, it would justify the commission of every crime in the calendar? Surely the honourable gentlemen have made some mistake in advancing arguments of that kind before this House.

I cannot help thinking that if the promoters of this proposed legislation had read and digested the scorching and searing arraignment of such practices pronounced by the President of the United States on the day he entered upon his official duties, this Bill would never have seen the light of day. Allow me to quote his remarks. "The money changers have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization. We may now restore that temple to the ancient truths. "The measure of the restoration lies in the extent to which we apply social values more noble than mere monetary profit. Practices of the unscrupulous money changers stand indicted in the court of public opinion, rejected by the hearts and minds of men." "We see by the daily press that the Senate of the United States is almost unanimously behind the President in his efforts to eradicate and destroy these gigantic evils. Yet this is the time chosen to ask the Senate of Canada to legalize and promote similar evils here. It is certainly hard to account for the things that sometimes happen. We are told that this legislation would do a great deal of good; that large sums would be given to charitable objects—and the Bill itself enumerates a long list of regulations that would be adopted to ensure the strictest honesty in the carrying out of the details. And we, who know that the whole scheme is founded upon dishonesty expected to take this kind of thing seriously. We are told upon the very highest authority that when Satan has a particularly vicious job to do he transforms himself into an angel of light, and that he is far more dangerous in that disguise than when clothed in his ordinary habiliments. For my own part, I should have much less objection to the Bill if it were presented to us in all its naked deformity, stripped of all its trappings of pseudo-charity.

Prohibition Immoral It is argued by the honourable senator from Vancouver (Hon. Mr. McRae) that the legislation known as prohibition produced far more and greater evils in the United States than it cured; that, in fact, it intensified the very evil it was designed to cure, and has broken down wherever tried; and that, therefore, we should legalize and promote gambling. Surely this deduction cannot properly be drawn. Such reasoning is an attempt to compare two things that are not comparable. While drunkenness is a widespread social and moral evil, and total abstinence, if undertaken voluntarily, a most heroic virtue, this virtue can never be enforced by law, and it is immoral to try to enforce it by law, because the use of alcoholic beverages in moderation is neither sinful nor improper. Our Lord himself not only partook of wine in moderation, but provided it for others, and in consequence was called a wine bibber and a glutton by certain people in His day. But even those people never called Him a gambler. The prohibitionists made the mistake of trying to add another commandment to the ten and of course they failed. But surely it is the negation of reason to say that because prohibition failed, and was bound to fail, we should promote gambling. I cannot find a single argument worthy of the name in favour of this Bill, except the very specious one that a part of the ill-gotten gains would be given to hospitals and other worthy objects. Surely the Senate of Canada will never make merchandise of its moral principles. Every proper human law is founded upon, and must be in conformity with the divine law, and every member of this honourable House should be able to see that there is a vast difference between prohibiting a thing that is not contrary to divine law, and legalizing a thing that is, to say the least, morally doubtful. If we refrain from passing this Bill, we shall be on safe ground; if we pass it, we shall as I see it, be taking a momentous and dangerous step—one that we may regret, but cannot retrace. I hope the Senate will not pass the Bill.

Re-Roof NOW while prices are low. Let us show you how you can save money with PEDLARIB Roofing and Siding. A farm may be rated according to the condition of the barn that houses its crops. The opportunity to re-roof your barn with PEDLARIB at today's lower prices, should not be overlooked. This high-quality, thickly ribbed material gives all the lasting protection of sheet metal, zinc-coated against wear, weather and fire—plus a smart appearance that lasts for years. PEDLARIB is made in both the "Council Standard" extra heavy galvanized and the ordinary galvanized grade. We also manufacture Nu-Roof A Rib Roofing covering more area per sheet. Nu-Roof is one of the most popular designs made in our Montreal factory. This roofing covers 33 inches in width when applied and because fewer sheets are required, the cost is considerably less than any other metal roofing. A saving in both time and material is effected. THE PEDLAR PEOPLE LIMITED. Montreal Office and Factory, 24 Nazareth St. Factors—Oshawa, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver. Get our low prices on Farm Entrance Culverts and Well Casings.

IN MEMORIAM MRS. WILLIAM O'BRIEN. It is with sorrow and sadness that we record the death of Mrs. William O'Brien which took place at her home at Waterville on March 7th. She was sick for fourteen days with bronchial pneumonia and other complications. Everything that medical attention could do was done. No storm or bad roads prevented Dr. Martin from being at her bedside almost daily. Likewise Rev. Father Croken through storms, bad roads, and night travel visited her several times during her illness. Mrs. O'Brien was born at Donagh the daughter of the late Thomas Creghan and Bridget McAdam, both natives of Ireland. During her childhood the family moved to Waterville where she resided the greater part of her life, she, however, resided in Charlottetown for several years while her husband was Accourant of the Department of Dredges and made many lasting friendships. Mr. O'Brien retired from the civil service in 1921 and bought a farm at Waterville and they settled down to farm life. Mrs. O'Brien was a good natured kindhearted, gentle and unassuming woman, she was a kind neighbor ever ready to assist in time of need and had not an enemy in the world. She leaves to mourn besides her husband, two sons and three daughters: Frank, Lena, and Kathleen, Charlottetown and Thomas and Henrietta at home. Also two grandsons, Francis and Reggie. Two brothers and one sister survive her: Bernard Creghan, Boston, Mass.; Michael Creghan, Millenocket, Me., and Mrs. Elizabeth Trahor, Millenocket, Me. Her funeral one of the largest seen for a long time took place to Fort Augustus on March 9th. A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. Father Croken who also performed the services at the grave. Among the many condolences received were letters of sympathy from: Hon. M. W. Wood, M. L. A. Charlottetown; Miss Lillian McKenzie, Charlottetown and J. A. McDonald, K. C. M. L. A. Charlottetown. Messages of sympathy from: Mrs. R. H. Stewart, Charlottetown and Mr. Francis Haughey, Charlottetown. The pall bearers were: John T. Grimes, John McGuirk, Frank Hughes, Edwin Corrigan, James Byrne and Harry Kelly, R. I. P. (Patriot Please Copy) Effective for three miles, a combined radio transmitter and receiver has been developed for military and police purposes that, together with a battery unit, weighs only 22 pounds and can be transported on a man's back.

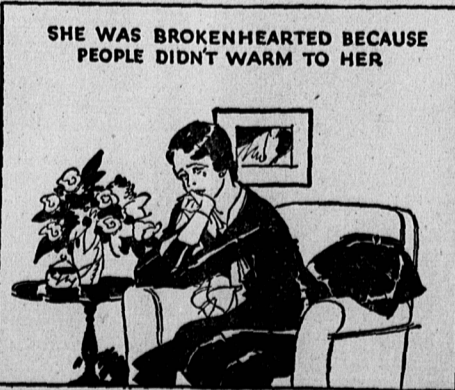

LOVELY YET LONELY UNTIL... by ALBERT DORNE

OTHER GIRLS POLITELY SNUBBED HER

MEN NEVER DANCED WITH HER TWICE

SHE WAS BROKENHEARTED BECAUSE PEOPLE DIDN'T WARM TO HER

THEN SHE SAW THIS ADVERTISEMENT —AND BOUGHT LIFEBOUY THAT VERY DAY. BEWARE OF "B.O." Lifebuoy

NOW SHE HAS MANY INVITATIONS. NO "B.O." TO KEEP HER UNPOPULAR

END "B.O." DANGER! PORES are constantly giving off odour-causing waste. Unless we take some precaution we never know the moment "B.O."—body odour—may offend. Play safe! Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. Its creamy, abundant, penetrating lather purifies pores—removes every trace of odour. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you, "No more 'B.O.' danger now!" Safeguards health—beauty Wash hands often—always before meals—with Lifebuoy. It removes germs as well as dirt. Use it as a complexion soap. Its gentle, pore-purifying lather keeps skin fresh and radiant. LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, TORONTO

EAT HEARTILY! Life Savers aid digestion. No need to be "choosy" over your food. After every meal, just slip a Pep-O-Mint Life Saver onto your tongue. The good old fashioned peppermint makes them a real aid to digestion. And you'll find your mouth sweetened and refreshed, too. Try some today and look for the hole... if it hasn't a hole it isn't a Life Saver. LIFE SAVERS are made in Canada. 5¢ EVERYWHERE. THE NEW, COOLING TASTE THRILL! CRYSTO-MINT Crystal Cool Peppermints Life Savers Newest Taste Adventure.