—A CONVERT.—Among the many visitors to Montague Saturday by auto was Mr. John Sanphy, of New Perth. Mr. Sanphy though at one time opposed to the autos, has become one of the most enthusiastic of motorists.

—OBITUARY.—One of Cardigan's old and respected ladies passed away on July 15th, in the person of Mrs. Parmenas McLeod, at the age of 85 years. Her funeral to Cardigan Cemetery was largely attended. Rev. Mr. McVicar officiated at the house and grave. The pall bearers were: Daniel Dockerty, Henry Collins, Alfred Tatar, Donald McPherson and John D. McDonald.

—GUERNSEY COVE.—Miss Janet Smith, New Perth, and her grandniece, Miss Beryl Morson, Upton, are spending a very pleasant holiday in Guernsey Cove, the guests of Mrs. John Winsloe. During the absence on his holidays of Rev. Mr. Weeks, pastor of the Murray Harbor Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Sellar, a former pastor of this church, is taking his place. His many friends are glad to see Mr. Sellar after an absence of seven years. The farmers of Guernsey Cove are busy hay-making. The friends of Mrs. Thomas Davey, Sr., are glad to hear that she is recovering from her recent severe illness.

—INSTITUTE MEETING.—On Friday evening, August 2d, the Elmira Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Stevens, with an attendance of nine members and two visitors. After reading and adoption of minutes the members discussed the sending away of boxes to the soldiers. They decided to send them as soon as possible. Four pounds of rolls are to be distributed among the members for the purpose of knitting socks for the soldiers. It was also decided to proceed with the lottery. Two very interesting papers were read: "The flags of the British Empire" by Miss Stella Harris, and "Making the most of Life" by Mrs. Stephen Mellick. The meeting was brought to a close by the National Anthem. The next meeting was invited to the home of Mrs. Stephen Mellick.

ISLAND LADY'S DEATH IN MEDICINE HAT The following is from the Medicine Hat News. The Mrs. Daniel McLean referred to was formerly Miss Jennie Johnstone, of Mill Valley Mills, near Freetown. She had many relatives in that section and in New London. Mr. McLean, her husband, was formerly an engineer on the P. E. Island Railway. He is a native of Bangor, near Morell, and has relatives there. He drove the first passenger train over his section of the C. P. R. to the coast. Afterwards he was mechanical foreman of the C. P. R. He later resigned to take up ranching near Medicine Hat, of which he made a great success. He is now living quietly in Medicine Hat, his family all being married. The clipping, which follows, was handed to The Guardian by Hon. H. D. McEwen, of Morell, who was recently in Medicine Hat, and spent some hours with Mr. McLean: Medicine Hat has lost one of her most highly esteemed citizens. The funeral of Mrs. Daniel McLean was held from the family residence, 527 First street, on Tuesday afternoon, and many friends paid their last tribute of respect. Mrs. McLean was born in Prince Edward Island in 1856, being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnstone, one of the oldest families on the Island, of whom it is said, "Their word is as good as their bond". Like her parents, Mrs. McLean became a pioneer, coming west as a bride, after her marriage on Christmas night, 1878, by Rev. J. Patterson, and reaching Winnipeg in 1882. Mrs. McLean's life in the west was truly that of a pioneer, and is filled with the most interesting records. Mr. McLean being connected with the C.P.R. as engineer, master mechanic and trainmaster at various times, changes were inevitable. From Winnipeg they came to Regina in 1883, and later to Moose Jaw, where Mrs. McLean was one of the first white women to enter the town. During the many trials and hardships of those early days, she was the friend of all, and there will be many in Moose Jaw who will recall the kindly acts of this gentle woman. With Mrs. John McKay's assistance she nursed the soldiers in Moose Jaw at the time of the Riel Rebellion and was active in mission work among the Indians. At the time of the Rebellion, fearing for the safety of the women and children further west, Mrs. McLean besought her husband to bring them all from Swift Current to Moose Jaw for greater protection, and a large number of them were kept in her own home through those troublesome days. The family lived in Moose Jaw until 1900 when Mr. McLean started ranching south of Walsh, but was moved to Calgary and later to Winnipeg, where he was foreman of the C. P. R. shops. But the climate was too severe for Mrs. McLean and they came to Medicine Hat in 1902 where the deceased lady's life has been devoted to making those around her happier. She was a member of St. John's Presbyterian church in whose various branches of work she was deeply interested. One of the old-fashioned mothers, her life's interest was centered in her home, and family—she gave all and asked nothing in return. While devoted to her home she still found time to visit and comfort many a needy family and there will be many who will grieve over the loss of this good woman, who was honored and respected by all. Her's truly is a place that cannot be filled. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Morrow, the pastor of St. John's church, assisted by Rural Dean Rev. E. A. Davis, of St. Barnabas church. Interment took place at Hillside Cemetery. The pall bearers were, Messrs. J. McLean, J. Keohan, J. McDonald, M. Cawker, T. C. Blatchford and J. A. Cameron. A list of the floral tributes is given: Heart, Mrs. D. McLean; pillow, the family; wreaths, Mrs. Lea and Mrs. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Blatchford, Mr. Fleming and family, Mr. J. Mc-
