1. Field Crops 2. Live Stock

(both by way of example)

The annual field crops of Prince Edward Island farmers are worth from 25 to 30 million dollars. Of late years, rapid increase has been made in farm production. This increased production was not brought about by adding any cleared acreage, as in other countries, but by more intensive cultivation.

The Island's best live stock farmers follow a policy of growing their crop in summer, and manufacturing it into higher-priced finished products, thus securing a double profit.

As with P. E. I. Farmers so with the Province's urban dwellers: comparative prosperity is their good fortune.

LIVE ADVERTISERS

can get a big return on concentrated and attractive advertising and sales efforts, and it is decidedly advantageous to them that P. E. Island has a daily newspaper of the same calibre and category as the best mainland newspapers—

POET MAKES STRANGE WISH

VIENNA, Oct. 23. (A.P.)—Dr. Arthur Schnitzler, Austrian man of letters who died yesterday, will be given a pauper's funeral if his own instructions are obeyed.

A codicil of the author's will, which was read tonight, not only orders a funeral "of the very last" or pauper class, but forbids wreaths, obituary announcements and all accessories to the funeral ritual, such as a guard of honor.

Dr. Schnitzler, a physician before he turned exclusively to writing, asked that the money saved by a pauper's funeral be distributed among hospitals.

The codicil also forbids any funeral orations and specifies that "absolutely no one" is to wear mourning. It is dated April 29, 1912, and also instructs that a needle be thrust through his heart to remove any doubt of his death.

The remainder of the will, disposing of his property, will be read tomorrow.

AFFLECK-JAY

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized in Mt. Stewart United Church on Wednesday evening, Oct. 21st when Amy Violetta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnathan Affleck Mount Stewart, was united in marriage to Earl Frederick Jay of the same place, Rev. M. K. Charman officiating.

The bride who was becomingly gowned in white with conventional bridal veil and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations was assisted by her sister Miss Gladys Affleck who wore a costume of pink with black hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was ably supported by his brother Mr. Levi Jay.

As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away, the wedding march was rendered by Miss Isabel Jay, sister of the groom, who also played most acceptably during the signing of the register.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bride party and invited guests left for the new home of the bride and groom, the party being preceded by Mr. Joseph Duncan who played joyful selections on the bagpipes.

Arriving at the home a reception was held when upwards of 200 invited guests offered congratulations to the bride and groom after which the guests sat down to a most appetizing wedding supper.

Seated at the head table were the bride and groom with their parents and grand parents and the officiating clergyman.

At the conclusion of the repast the evening was spent in games and music.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay motored to the city yesterday where the day was spent, returning to their home in the evening.

Wedding presents or silver, cut glass, linen, etc., testify to the popularity of the young couple.

Previous to her marriage the bride was the guest of honor at several showers where many practical gifts were received.

The Guardian joins with a host of friends in extending hearty congratulations.

Political speaker—I'm pleased to see this dense crowd here tonight. Voice from the Back—Don't be so pleased. We ain't so dense.

Fellowship Circle was very impressive and brought to a close what was considered by all as a very fine Conference. The only report was that the attendance of workers and boys was not as large as it might have been.—A.

That there be conveyed to Father Kelgan, of the Roman Catholic Church of the Town, and to the Church of England our thanks for the use of tables loaned for our banquet.

That we very much appreciate the kindness of the people of Georgetown for the entertainment provided in their homes.

That we are much indebted to the ladies of the Town for the fine banquet provided last evening.

That we appreciate the generosity of those citizens who by their contributions made it possible for us to have the Town Hall for our banquet without any added expense to the Conference.

At this service, the top-notch badges were also presented to the square doing the best work during the Conference. This honour was won by the youngest group of all, the one led by Mr. Matthews. The

Boys Conference At Georgetown

The Older Boys' Conference for Kings County and Eastern Queens was held in Georgetown during the week-end, from Friday, Oct. 18th to Sunday, Oct. 19th, under the leadership of Rev. I. Judson Levi and passed off very successfully. Mr. J. Waldron Lavers acted as Registrar and made arrangements for about thirty boys who were in attendance.

The first session was held Friday evening when Mr. Levi explained the nature of the Conference and introduced the questionnaire that was to be considered at all the group meetings on Saturday. It dealt with the three following questions:

What does it mean to be a Christian? Why should a boy attend Church and Sunday School? What three professions in your opinion offer the greatest opportunities for service? In each case state why you think so.

The boys were then divided into three groups under the leadership of Revs. D. M. Sinclair, of Valleyfield, C. U. MacNevin, of Georgetown, and Mr. Matthews, Principal of the High School at Montague.

At the first session on Saturday the officers for the conference were elected. They were: Grand Pretor, Chas. Fraser. Deputy Grand Pretor, Oliver Ross. Scriptor, Robert Boyle. Comptor, Gordon MacPherson.

At this session, Rev. D. M. Sinclair gave a very fine address on "The Church needs Boys." Another excellent address was given in the afternoon, when Mr. Levi spoke on "The Church's Program for Boys."

Then the Conference Banquet was held in the Town Hall Saturday evening. A fine supper was made ready by the women of the Town and a very happy evening was spent in singing and speeches. Mr. McDonald, Mayor of the Town, was also there and responded in a noble way to the toast to Canada.

Two services were held on Sunday. In the afternoon, it was one calling for special consecration, while the evening service was joined in by the congregation which comfortably filled the Church. At this service lantern slides were used to emphasize the message dealing with the four-fold life. The following resolutions were also passed:

That the thanks of this Conference be conveyed to the Congregation of the United Church at Georgetown for the use of their Church property.

That there be conveyed to Father Kelgan, of the Roman Catholic Church of the Town, and to the Church of England our thanks for the use of tables loaned for our banquet.

That we very much appreciate the kindness of the people of Georgetown for the entertainment provided in their homes.

That we are much indebted to the ladies of the Town for the fine banquet provided last evening.

That we appreciate the generosity of those citizens who by their contributions made it possible for us to have the Town Hall for our banquet without any added expense to the Conference.
