A Complicated Problem

HOW ARE INDUSTRIES TO BE ESTABLISHED?

Obstacles Must be Removed. (Historical)

Every time the matter of exodus from this province is mooted, it is met by the reminder that the pursuit of agriculture is the only one we have to attract strangers or retain our own people at home. It is very much to be regretted that this is only too true. Manufacturing, the great drawing card in other places, we are told, does not exist and would not exist owing to a dearth of lumber and, we may add, to a dearth of land. How, then, can we have manufacturing carried on or more agriculturists employed at all seasons of the year.

Before proceeding with the causes thus stated, we must be permitted to call attention to other obstacles which have developed in this Province, longer in existence and more difficult to remedy than the two causes we have mentioned. The scarcity of land, be it remembered, is rapidly increasing. The price of land, and the prices expected to be realized, prevent the purchase and cultivation of land now vacant or otherwise. The price too is increasing beyond the reach of immigrants, who turn about and leave for the West where they can procure homesteads practically free of charge. Is it any wonder, then, that the West is preferred when we know that buying a farm on P. E. Island means to them too much purchase, money? But even if the immigrant has the money he has to outbid island competitors who are purchasing additional farms for increased potato raising, besides the existing demands. Under the Land Purchase Act of this Province, in order to prevent monopoly a clause was inserted preventing any one holder from holding more than five hundred acres of land on this Island. We do not know whether this provision is in force or not; but if so it should be enforced, if there are any new purchasers being debarrated. It is very encouraging and pleasing to see such a demand for more land, but nevertheless a land monopoly would be a very serious matter.

Viewing the conditions in all their aspects it is hard for either farm immigrants or mechanics to find employment in this Province, but in both respects an increase of manufacturing is much more practicable than an increase of farm agriculturists.

It may be noted, however, that there is more room for the latter than the former. We cannot enlarge our geographical boundaries, but there is nothing only high tariffs to close the world's markets against us. These are hard facts which cannot be got over.

There is a very stable argument against manufacturing which is always pulled out when this subject comes up for discussion. It consists of the objection that we have no lumber. This, however, is not strictly correct. The lumber dealers have plenty of it on hand. Why, then, could the manufacturers not be able to import as much in summer as would keep their machinery in operation in both winter and summer, thereby keeping hundreds of men employed all the year round. We will be asked no doubt to name the kinds of lumber which would be required. We leave this to those who delight in using it as a stock argument. One thing we do know, and it is this—we see many sorts of lumber coming in here in boxes, kegs, and barrels, which would have no farther to travel, no wages, freight, or taxes to fight, more than what we would have to pay on the raw material.

Now is this all. Such importations would create employment in our midst for skill and labor of different kinds. It is not far to points in Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, where all the lumber we would require could be secured.

There is another thing that must not be omitted. Those industries would invite outside capital to be invested here and create a market for many small products here which do not now exist, such as vegetables, fruit of all of which would be consumed everywhere daily. They would also settle the

FAVORITE HYMNS AND THEIR WRITERS
By Rev. Archer Wallace

No. 5
"IN THE CROSS OF CHRIST I GLORY"

The author of this hymn was one of the most remarkable men of last century, indeed one writer says that, with the possible exception of Napoleon Bonaparte, no man impressed his generation more. This was Sir John Bowring. It must be said, however, that his fame has not been enduring for comparatively little is known of him to-day.

Sir John Bowring was born at Exeter, England, in 1792. When a youth he showed remarkable precocity as a student of European literature and had a first-hand knowledge of many continental languages and dialects. By some the claim was made that he spoke fluently in twenty-two languages and converse in one hundred. He was appointed Minister Plenipotentiary to China and Governor of Hong Kong.

He was twice a member of the British Parliament and carried several important reform measures. He represented his country in several capitals and succeeded in making treaties for Siam and Hawaii with six European countries. It is a tribute to his great mental energy, that while discharging so efficiently important official duties for his country, he maintained so intelligently a grasp of interest in things intellectual. There question as to whether we require another Car Ferry or two in a very short time.

So much for the present outlook. We hope the study of the new points given above will yet lead to beneficial results.

THE HOG MARKET

Sir—In your issue of November 30th, we note a letter headed "Hogs for Market," referring to our letter of the 28th, in same paper.

We wish to point out that we are not blaming the farmers for poor hogs, but informing them in their own interest and that of the industry as to the condition of the hogs. While dressed hogs, 120—160 are the weights that command the highest price yet in view of the circumstances we would let hogs run somewhat higher. However, at the same time, the product from the heavier weight hogs has to be sold at a lower price, and it is possible the hogs to produce are those that command the highest price.

We are Sir, yours etc.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soften and come out on any part of the body so quickly by a simple method that dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxide powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxide powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.
