WARNING

TO DROVERS AND PRODUCERS OF HOGS

Any farmer or drover who brings in underweight hogs or hogs that weigh less than 210 lbs live weight will be obliged to take said hogs back to the farm from which they came.

This action is taken to enable farmers who have overweight hogs to dispose of them before too great a loss is incurred.

There is a great difference in net return between a hog weighing 190 lbs. dressed weight and one weighing 200 lbs.

The Government has extended the weight on Type A hogs to 185 lbs. and on Type B to 190 lbs. on which full price and premium will be paid. For this reason the drop in price on hogs weighing over 190 lbs. will appear to be more pronounced.

Until further notice drovers are asked to pick up only hogs weighing from 210 lbs. up live weight.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Leading Aircraftman Charles Michael McCarron, who lost his life in the sinking of the S. S. Caribou, Oct. 14, 1942.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
There is someone who thinks of you daily,
And tries to be brave and content.

God gave us strength to bear our grief,
Courage to face the blow;
But what it means to loose you,
No one will ever know.

Sadly missed and remembered always by Mother, Dad and Sisters.

RUSSIA APPROVES

Herschel Johnson.

But the accord created by Russia's agreement in principle with the majority was quickly shattered when Egypt's Fawzi Bey issued a formal challenge of the right of the U. N. to act.

"I solemnly and formally challenge the right of the U. N. to decree partition of Palestine or any other country," the Egyptian declared.

He repeated forecasts that such an attempt would bring a blood bath in the Middle East.

This was not resorting to threats, he said, but was merely "the exercise of foresight." Conflict would be inevitable.

The debate in the Palestine committee ended with the shortest speech on record, delivered by Afghanistan's Abdul Hosayn.

"The people of Palestine must have the right to dispose their own fate," he said. "We cannot support any of the report's recommendations."

Russia's attitude was not unexpected. It had been accurately forecast in U. N. circles for the past day or two.

The Soviet Government put up a third-string man—Semen K. Tsarapkin—to present the Russian policy.

He said his counry would have preferred the minority recommendation—a plan for a federalized binational country in Palestine—but said that obviously could not be carried out because of tension between Jews and Arabs.

New Russian Charges

Earlier the U. N. political committee had a typical day in which Russia and her satellites brought all kinds of grave charges against the United States.

Main event was a Russian attempt to put through a resolution that the General Assembly hold Greece responsible for all the troubles on her borders, order all foreign troops withdrawn from Greece and establish a U. N. commission to administer American aid to Greece.

In the economic committee Soviet delegate Aruthinian charged that the international bank and fund were "discriminating against certain nations," and were likely to "become branches of Wall Street." Because they had loaned money to the Netherlands, he said, they were promoting the war against the Indonesians.

J. P. Cubillas of Cuba said Russia had "no moral right" to talk about the bank or fund since she had refused to join either agency.

The Greek-Balkan matter now goes to the General Assembly for approval of the United States resolution, passed in the committee, setting up a Balkan watching committee.

Russia and her Slav associates have determinedly asserted and repeated that they will have nothing to do with the committee and it is assumed they will not allow it to visit the border countries.

Both Russia and Poland are on the proposed committee over their own objections, placed there at the insistence of Canada whose delegate, J. L. Ilsley, argued last week that the place should be prepared for them if they should repent and co-operate.

Tomorrow the committee takes up another controversial item, the U. S. resolution for an interim committee of the General Assembly to sit throughout the year.

Denies Comintern Revived

In one of the flare-up's today in the political committee, Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky denied that the Communist International had been revived and advised the British Minister of State, Hector McNeill, to take something to calm his nerves.

"There is no comintern," Vishinsky declared in the General Assembly's 57-nation political committee debate on the Balkans after McNeill had referred to a possibility that the "comintern is now back in full force."

Turning to McNeil, Vishinsky shouted:

"You have hallucinations. You have nightmares.

"Why don't you take some adrenalin or other medicine to calm your nerves? What are you afraid of?"

Vishinsky said he could assure McNeill that the old comintern had a much broader membership than the Communist parties from nine nations which recently met secretly in Poland and set up an "information bureau" in Belgrade.

Union Speakers Address Largely Attended Meeting

Before a large audience in the Sporting Club Saturday evening Mr. T. R. Jones, secretary of Local 282, United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) stated it was the intention of his Union to remain on strike until Canada Packers agreed "to give us a living wage so that we can feed and clothe our children on a level commonly accepted as the minimum standard of a civilized community."

Mr. Jones said the men of his Union were as anxious to return to work as the farmers were anxious to have them. He realized he said, the seriousness of the situation. In spite of the claims advanced by the Provincial Government, "things were not going very well at the plant." The daily reports released to the newspapers gave the people an impression not in accordance with the facts. It was now costing the farmers of the Province seven times as much to have a hog slaughtered at the plant as it did when the Union was doing the work. The Union had killed the hogs for Canada Packers at a cost of 11 1-2 cents per hog; now the Government was paying 82 1-2 cents to have a hog slaughtered.

The Provincial Government, Mr. Jones said had tried to break the strike. Contrary to its statement that it was not taking sides between the Union and Canada Packers, it had sent men to every Union member to try to persuade those members to become "scabs" by returning to work against their Union's orders. Of the 70 men in the Union, two had returned to work. They were now blacklisted across the country and would lose their jobs once the strike was settled.

Mr. Jones said the statement in the advertisement in the press that the Government was offering per-

Heads Agricultural Services At Ottawa

The appointment of James Gordon Taggart of Ottawa to the position of director in chief, Agricultural Services in the Dominion Department of Agriculture is announced today by the Civil Service Commission. This is the highest ranking post in the Dominion Public Service ever to be filled through the process of open competitive examination.

The appointment of a director-in-chief of Agricultural services reflects the new situation of the Department resulting particularly from the growth of Canada's participation in international food problems. In this post Mr. Taggart will assist the Deputy Minister, Dr. G.S.H. Barton, in the administration and co-ordination of the many services and branches of the Department and will act as the Department's representative in the work of major interdepartmental meetings.

Mr. Taggart, who will shortly take up his new duties, is now the chairman of the Agricultural Prices Support Board. During the war he held the post of Foods Administrator in the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and was chairman as well of the Meat Board. He has been actively associated in the post-war period with the work of various committees on food and external trade.

Mr. Taggart was born at Parrsboro, N.S., and obtained his early education there and at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College, subsequently graduating from the Ontario Agricultural College with the degree of B.S.A. This was followed by additional study at the University of Wisconsin and a normal school course at Camrose, Alberta. His work in the field of professional agriculture began prior to World War I, when he served as agricultural representative in several counties in Ontario. Later he became an instructor in the Agricultural School at Vermilion, Alberta and after a period of service in the Army returned as the school's principal.

From 1921 to 1934 he was on the staff of the federal Department of Agriculture as Superintendent of the Swift Current Experimental Station, which is one of the largest in the service. Mr. Taggart's career has included a ten year period from 1934 when he was Minister of Agriculture for the Province of Saskatchewan.

School Improvement League Meeting

The School Improvement League met at Queen's Square School on Thursday, Oct. 9th, with over 70 members and parents present, including teachers and Lt.-Col. L. Macdonald who added considerable interest to the evening.

The chairman of the High School Committee, Mrs. Gordon MacDonald, presided and opened the meeting by giving information on the series of talks on Radio by Dr. Jones of Dalhousie University. The subject is Child Study, and the attention of parents was drawn to the forthcoming talks on "Why was reading difficult" and "Discipline". Brief mention was then made regarding the Composite High School project and it was hoped that Mr. Steeves, architect of New Brunswick Educational Board, would be here for consultation very shortly.

The next item that aroused much interest was the providing of records for the schools. Mrs. MacDonald stated that the Educational Board were sympathetic to the idea, and all present were in favour. The Treasurer's report followed showing cash on hand $179 at June 6th, and mention was made that all monies raised were the result of pantry sales and membership fees.

Mrs. G. MacDonald called upon Miss Clarkin, teacher of Queen's Square School to talk on the course undertaken at Summer School in Toronto. Her talk was extremely interesting to all and helpful information was given to parents on the way to assist children in their studies and general behaviour.

Mrs. MacCormick was the next speaker, auxiliary teacher of the school, and she spoke of her work in helping children individually and said that about 45 were taught in small groups daily at various times. Mr. McCallum followed with a brief talk on the Charlottetown School Police, and also paid compliment to the School Improvement League. He said that the discipline of the whole school had improved since the organization of the police and that the sense of responsibility was good for the boys.

Mr. Barlow, manual training teacher, gave an amusing and instructive speech on his work. He produced some splendid specimens of the boys' work including a coffee table made by a pupil of 14 years of age.

The Principal of Queen's Square School, Lt.-Col. L. Macdonald, then welcomed those present and expressed appreciation and pleasure that it was possible to have such a meeting in the school. He asked parents to help children by checking their homework, and to insist on accuracy and perfection in all things. A few words were said regarding the recently installed radios, and an emphatic assurance of the pleasure obtained by the pupils. Lt.-Col. Macdonald concluded with some amusing anecdotes from his war time experiences. His informal talk was very much enjoyed.

The meeting adjourned for refreshments and informal discussion.

Refreshments served by Mrs. A. W. Allan, Mrs. Bohaker, Miss Moran, Miss Butler, Mrs. W. Scantlebury, Mrs. H. L. Sear, Mrs. L. Macdonald.

The next meeting to be held on Oct. 21st, at Rochford Square School.

PENNFIELD STATION, N. B., Oct. 13 — (CP) — The second holiday hunting fatality in New Brunswick occurred tonight when Pietro Castrichimi, 50, of Maynard, Mass., Italian-born United States citizen, was shot and killed near here as his rifle accidentally discharged. It was undecided if an inquest would be held.

Tiny Tot Tries Solo St. John To P.E.I. Jaunt

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Oct. 13 — (CP) — Chubby, five-year-old Johnny Bent, who set out alone to visit his father in Prince Edward Island last Friday was snug at home today after hanging up a record as possibly the youngest unassisted traveller to patronize a Canadian railway line.

Short of height, years and money, but gifted with precociousness, the blue-eyed tot gravely boarded the Friday afternoon train for Moncton.

To amazed police officers at Moncton, he confidently declared that he was on his way to Morrell, P.E.I. where his father is a bank manager. Unknown to Johnny, his father was at the moment on the way to Saint John to join his family for a vacation. Mr. Bent is a native of Granville Ferry, N.S.

It was the second railway jaunt in less than a week, harassed Mrs. Bent declared tonight. In a warm-up for the P.E.I. venture, Johnny tried out his travelling knowledge by boarding a train for Hampton unnoticed, and paying a visit to family friends there.

Conductor E.B. Wilson of Moncton, noticed the debonair babe Friday shortly after the train left Saint John.

By the time the train pulled into Sussex, a diligent search and some quizzing had convinced the veteran railroader that the juvenile commuter was alone. He shot a fast wire to Moncton.

Johnny, rosy-cheeked and beaming, was met at the Moncton terminal by Constable J.A. Cormier and the C.N.R. police, to whom he outlined his plans for crossing Northumberland Strait.

With a helping hand from the railway city police, Johnny was taken to a children's home for the night, while C.N.R. despatchers worked to trace the youngster's father.

Meanwhile in Saint John, Mrs. Bent was frantically trying to find the tot. Her fears were tempered, she explained, by the knowledge that Johnny had come through the Hampton experience unscathed.

At the home and the city police station in Moncton, the youthful traveller was "the life of the party".

In the chilly pre-dawn darkness of 4 a.m. Saturday, Johnny started the return journey to Saint John, this trip under the wing of C.N.R. Constable W.H. Legoff.

Primate Replies

In a brief but powerful address the Primate thanked the Lieutenant Governor, the Premier, and all those present in an official capacity, for their attendance at the service.

He was pleased, he said, to see such a large congregation and he hoped that those present had come more for the purpose of worshipping God than for the purpose of seeing the Primate of the Church of England in Canada.

As for himself, he realized his unworthiness for the high office to which he had been called. The office had not been of his choosing. But when the 27 Dioceses of the Canadian Church of England met in conclave, then he believed their choice was the Will of God and to that Will he had bowed. Since the great task of leading the Church of England in Canada had, therefore, been thrust upon him, he needed the prayers of every Christian in order that he might, the Spirit of God sustaining him, do his share for Christ in his day and generation.

The Primate stressed the virtue of humiliation. "Though God has seen fit to exalt me", he said, "I trust that I shall never depart from that humility which must always be present in a follower of the Lord. And so I ask your prayers that I may ever walk humbly before that Cross of Jesus Christ."

Thanking the Anglican people of the Province for their splendid evangelical work, the Primate said the knowledge of their devotion to the cause of Christianity was and always would be a source of deep satisfaction to him.

Commenting on the first meeting of World Churches to be held at Amsterdam, Holland, next year, the Primate said he planned, God willing, to attend. There was a great work which all the various Christian denominations could do by working in harmony without necessarily infringing upon the individual doctrinal differences peculiar to each denomination.

The Rev. Canon Malone and the Rev. J.T. Ibbott assisted at the service by offering prayer.

The Hallelujah Chorus was sung by the choirs of St. Paul's and St. Peters with assisting choristers under the direction of Mr. R.F. Mugford, organist and choir master of St. Pauls.

After the concluding of the service with the Blessing of the Primate, a reception was held in St. Paul's Parish Hall.

Among the callers upon the Primate at the reception were His Honour Lieutenant-Governor J.A. Bernard; His Excellency the Most Reverend James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown; Premier J. Walter Jones; His Worship Mayor B. Earle MacDonald, Rev. J.W. McCardle, and members of the City Council; and others prominent in the political and business life of the Province.

Send Equipment

Fire departments of New Brunswick and Maine border communities rushed to the blaze from Edmundston, Madawaska, Fort Kent, Me., Van Buren, Me., St. Leonard, Green River and Ste. Anne, N. B. Lack of water handicapped their efforts. About 1,900 feet of hose were required to reach the St. John River. Dammed water of a small brook is ordinarily used for a fire here but the dam could not be opened today until almost two hours after the fire started.

Equipment rushed from nearby centres included a railway water tank, an oil truck laden with water, fire extinguishers and stirrup pumps. A change in the wind was believed to have averted destruction of the whole village.

The only fire-fighting equipment in this community of 1,000 persons had been a pump and 3,000 feet of hose.

Quarter-mile in 15 Minutes

From the hay-filled Mercure barn the fire flashed a quarter mile in 15 minutes. Mr. Mercure's house escaped damage.

The St. Basile sub-chamber of the Edmundston - Madawaska Chamber of Commerce decided immediate action was necessary for the 54 persons left homeless. All received temporary shelter with relatives and friends.

With winter approaching, the need for clothing and bedding in particular was emphasized in hope relief would be forthcoming from other New Brunswick communities.

Of the $125,000 loss tentatively estimated, little was protected by insurance.

Telephone service to and from St. Basile was disrupted when eight telephone poles burned.
