THE MORNING PAPER.

Some Reasons Why it Makes The Best Advertising Medium.

A woman's curiosity to know about society, marriages, births, deaths, forces her to read it.

The Morning Paper is before her all day long, and it is she who is doing her household duties, arranging and improving the appearance of her house, that the missing and necessary articles of furniture, rugs, carpets, curtains or other necessities, show up the plainest, and there could be no more opportune time for a dealer to tell about the new goods, the new styles and the bargains offered, for the day or week.

In a majority of homes the newspaper is practically the bulk of the reading matter, and the long, all-day life from 5 a. m. to 10 p. m. of The Morning Paper gives not only the housewife but every member of the family an opportunity to read it.

The Morning paper is read at the breakfast table, again at home at noon, on the trains, in the restaurants. It is read in doctor's offices, professional offices, clubs, hotels, cafes, barber shops. It is read by daylight everywhere you go by both employer and employee.

It is a known fact that throughout the world, possibly with a half-dozen exceptions, the papers with editorial influence and national reputation are Morning Papers.

With these facts in mind, the business man who is looking after the real money-spenders of the family to interest in his goods will consult his best interests by placing his announcements where the women will read them.

ENGAGEMENT OF PRINCE VICTOR NAPOLEON.

BRUSSELS, January 23.—It is believed here that the engagement of Princess Clementine and Prince Victor Napoleon, will be announced on February 20, the date upon which the court's official mourning for the late King Leopold will end. The Prince is a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy. Leopold opposed the marriage five years ago, on the ground that it might strain the relations between Belgium and France, but the political objections disappeared with the death of her father, when Clementine became the cousin of the reigning monarch of Belgium.

Prince Victor is regarded by the Royalists of France as the hope of a re-established monarchy, but has not concerned himself greatly with politics.
