THE KING'S COUNTY GUARDIAN

Office in Montague, Capt. Wm. Johnston, Manager, and in St. John's, St. A. G. G. G. G.

The latest news first of all.

There will not be any service in the English Church, Georgetown tomorrow.

J. J. McDonald, Montague, received a message yesterday from Chateau, Montana, that his son Hector was killed by a team on Thursday last. What makes doubly sad this bereavement is, that on Tuesday of this week, Mr. McDonald received a letter from his son stating that he was in good health and spirits.

The following are the Montague market prices—Butter per lb. 20c, oats per bus. 35 to 40, turkey per lb. 12c, geese per lb. 10c, ducks per lb. 10c, chickens per lb. 8c, eggs per doz. 20c, corn per lb. 7c and hay per ton $8 to $8.50.

SAD DEATH OF A PROMINENT FARMER

In the midst of life we are in death. Seldom has this been more exemplified than in the sudden demise of James McKenna, farmer of Newton, Lot 26. In the prime of health he was taken suddenly ill on the 29th, of January, and medical skill was immediately summoned. It was found he was suffering from a stricture of the bowel and an operation was considered the only hope. His spiritual adviser, Rev. J. J. McDonald, was sent for and administered to him the rites of the church. He realized the situation and trusting in His Redeemer he consented to undergo the operation. The shock however proved too much for him, and 24 hours after passing away peacefully from heart failure. Born at Newton in September, 1848, of good honest Irish parents, who emigrated to this province from County Monaghan, Ireland, in 1848. He was the eldest of a family of six, three of whom predeceased him. Two survivors, viz. Michael of Newton, and Mrs. Jas. L. Duffy of Emerald. He was twice married, first to Mary Jane Kelly, daughter of John Kelly of Kinrossa. She died about twenty years ago, leaving a family of seven small children. His second wife, Rose Ann Kelly, Mahon, daughter of the late Peter Mahon of Emerald, survives him. He leaves a family of fourteen children, nine sons and five daughters. The deceased was one of the largest and most progressive and well-to-do farmers having left one of the best properties in Prince County. He was an enthusiastic worker in any cause tending to elevate the interests of his fellowmen. As a citizen he was identified in his own humble and modest way with every movement calculated to advance and promote the welfare of the community in which he lived. As a man and neighbor he was sociable, kind, obliging and intelligent, of sober and exemplary character and always ready to assist the needy. He was a noble and faithful husband, a kind and loving father. He was a model Christian and a devoted member of the Roman Catholic Church. He was also a respected and honored member of the Emerald Branch of the C. M. B. A. Kensington. Five of his eldest sons were absent from the Province at his death. They were immediately telegraphed to and made all haste to reach home before the funeral. The remains being held for five days to allow them to reach home, but unfortunately they were deprived of the consolation of even seeing their dead father, on account of the winter steamers being unable to cross for days. The funeral took place on the afternoon of Wednesday, Jan. 27th at St. Malchia's church, Kinkora. The service was preceded by about eighty members of the C. M. B. A. Kensington and Kinkora branches of the C. M. B. A. The funeral cortege was very large considering the uncertainty of the time and the cold stormy day, there being upwards of one hundred teams. The funeral service was conducted by the pastor Rev. J. J. McDonald. A good man was laid to rest to await a glorious resurrection. May the soul rest lightly on his head. "Blessed are the dead who die to the Lord for they shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven." Com.

ISLAND MAN HAD TO SEEK SHELTER

ST. JOHN, Feb. 11.—The storm of last night caused something like an overflow of patrons at the Salvation Army shelter in Water street. Adjutant Cornish reported that there were a fifty-five in the house, being five more than could be accommodated in the regular beds. Shakedown on the floor of the smoking room were provided for these five. It was noticeable, the adjutant said, that during the last two weeks there had been a falling off in the number resorting to the shelter. This he thought, was due to the fact that the army had secured chances for one of the regular customers to go away on boats, while others had gone off of their own accord. The class of men applying lately have no money nor any immediate prospect of getting any, and are helped either by the army or by citizens who give them orders for bed and food. Seeking shelter from the storm, Thomas McArthur, a young man, called on the police at headquarters last night and was given a place for the night. He said he had been working in the woods in Maine and came here from Bangor on a freight train and had no money. He said he was trying to get to his home in Cape Breton. Another who sought protection in central station last night was John Driscoll, who claimed to belong to P. E. Island. He said he had been working in the province but, having had the ill luck to lose his employment, his savings were soon spent.

FURTHER NEWS OF STEEL-COAL CASE.

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—Wallace Nesbitt, who fought for the Dominion Steel Co. before the Privy Council, is highly elated. The damages will be very heavy, and will include the difference between what the Steel Company paid since November, 1906, between $2.75 and $3 per ton, and will of course be refunded to them. The company is also entitled to get a large sum for short delivery in 1906 and for shutting down the works. There are but fleaties, however, to what comes when damages are assessed for 99 years for a breach of contract. The tonnage used is about a million a year, which at the contract price would make it about a million and a quarter dollars. The Coal Company said it would not supply coal for steel making at less than $2.50 per ton, and I believe damages payable to the Steel Company between seventeen and twenty millions.
