RELIGIOUS SERVICES

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

"Rally Day" in the Sunday School was well attended and the program recommended by the Board of Christian Education was carried out. The general theme being "We too would bring our Treasures." There was a short address by Rev. A. E. McKenzie and a story most interestingly told by Mrs. Hugh Miller. The collection taken goes for the promotion and extension of religious Education throughout the Church.

"Speaking to Ourselves" was the subject of Rev. Mr. Miller's morning sermon "Why are thou cast down O my Soul and why art thou disquieted in me? Hope thou in God." Psalm 42-5. Here we have a man with courage to challenge himself. Mr. Miller then considered some of the things we ought to ask ourselves. We ought to challenge our honesty not in our business transactions and veracity of speech. Outward conformity is not sufficient. Life must be clean at the fountain head. What about our secret thoughts? What about our imaginations? What about our inner life? Jesus was often found speaking to himself. In the carpenter shop. In the temptation. In the Garden. Here again we need to speak to ourselves about our faith. Few things require such constant care for revival and strength as our personal faith. Why are we cast down? Hope thou in God. The call today is to a new consecration that hope must be manifested in a renewed and increased faith, love and service.

The feature of the service of praise was the Solos given by Miss Vera H. M. Campbell, Mrs. Bacc., of Campbellton, N.B. Her solos were "Oh, had I Jubal's Lyre"—Handel, and "Saviour, Hear Me"—Gluck. Miss Campbell's singing was a delight to all present. In the evening Miss Margaret Sterns sang in splendid voice and with much appreciation. "I will sing of thy great Mercies." There was also an anthem by the choir at each service and an organ recital by Prof. Kendall.

Prof. C. H. Mercer of Dalhousie University occupied the pulpit at the evening service and spoke on the subject of "International Peace and the League of Nations." There was a large congregation and his well reasoned address was listened to with close attention and in his closing words envisioned the League of Nations as the instrument of bringing the Kingdom of God on earth.

The flowers today were presented in loving memory of the late D. A. Bruce.

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed next Sunday morning.

ST. JAMES KIRK

Both morning and evening services were conducted by the minister, the Rev. R. Moorhead Legate, at St. James Presbyterian Church yesterday.

The Sabbath School was reorganized for the Fall and Winter seasons yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Legate in his morning sermon stressed the necessity for wholehearted cooperation and interest in the Sabbath School. He appealed to all parents and others in the congregation to assist in keeping the attendance record at a high rate.

"Feed my Lambs" was the text of the ministers sermon. From the word of our Lord, spoken to Simon Peter as recorded in St. John XXI verse 15. This was to be the real test of love for Him. Dr. Legate said that the Sabbath School should not be termed a department of the Church. The Sabbath School is the Church and it is a sphere distinctly its own, and that sphere is a spiritual one. The church should stand behind the work of the Sabbath School and encourage those who give of their time and talent in promoting this work. They receive no reward for the work they do except the approval of God. We should endeavour to make our children worthy of the Church, and the Church worthy of our children.

Flowers adorning the Communion Table had been placed there in memory of the late Dr. A. S. Bagnall. Another floral tribute honoured the memory of the late Dr. and Mrs. MacNeill.

Special music in the morning included a solo, "My Task"—Ashford, sung by Mr. Arthur Bruce, and the anthem, "Hark, Hark My Soul"—Shelly, the soloists being Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Raymond.

Dr. Legate based his evening sermon on St. John VII verse 15. "And the Jews marvelled saying: How knoweth this man letters having never learned?"

Jesus was pointing out to his audience that the Gospel which he taught was divine. He emphasized this fact. The Jews did not believe Him to be divinely sent. They were asking for a proof of the divinity of both Jesus and His message.

Our Lord answered them with the terms of trial. If they would try to live this new plan of life, they would then have sufficient proof. To sum up the words of Jesus, He told them, "It's up to you."

If we at times, feel a desire for some proof of the authenticity of the Gospel, of the divinity of Christ, we have, within ourselves, the power to obtain proof. If we live out this new plan of life, the gospel, it will prove itself to us, as operation of station C.H.C.K.

being far above and beyond any other plan of life; too far to be of man's invention.

The Christian gospel is the one and only divine message from God to us. By following it in daily practice we may be enabled to say with the great St. Paul, "I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

The evening service the choir sang the anthem "Hear our Prayer"—Ryder.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

"What of the next hundred years?" was the question taken up by the Rev. J. H. Denton in his morning sermon, based on Exodus 14:10. "Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." Last week the people of this church stood still for a little while, to think with grateful hearts upon the blessings and achievements of the past, and to honour those who have laboured and passed on. These heroes of the past are not just lying silent in the grave, they have joined in our thankfulness and eternally they go on, a host of heavenly compatriots, whom we honour most as we strive to emulate their deeds.

We are challenged by the past. We believe that we are accompanied by, witnessed by those loved ones gone before. To us there comes the trumpet call of duty: to us is thrown the torch, be ours to lift it high.

To the young there is a challenge. This is the hour in which it belongs to Christian youth to build a new world, the Son of God goes forth to war; in His name do your duties and be ready for the responsibilities that come with the passing of those who now serve.

There is a challenge to keep faith with the years to come. As we commemorated the work of the fathers of this church we know that the little group who builded better than they knew, gave thanks with us and looked forward to our bearing the burden worthily. Last week we heard the history of the past century. Shall the historian one hundred years to come longer with approval upon our record, or shall he be compelled to pass over in sorrowful silence the period in which we shall have lived? We are challenged to a purpose, to a plan, to a standard of great Christian living. May God help us to sustain with courageous faith that which has been so nobly won.

Mr. Denton spoke to a large evening congregation on "passing by" a thoughtful and brilliantly expressed consideration of "preaching and practice on the Jericho road."

The morning anthem presented by the large choir was "Oh ye that love the Lord"—Coolidge-Taylor. The evening anthem was Protheroe's "The Shepherd psalm. Miss Vera H. Malcolm Campbell Mus. Bac., gave a moving expression to "One sweetly moving thought" in the setting of Ambrose. Sunday School showed an improved attendance and interest at its afternoon session. Services of the day were made available to the wider audience of the air by the kind cooperation of station C.H.C.K.

Young People Hold Conference in Charlottetown

"We are building character not for the hour or the day but for all eternity" Rev. George W. Titus of St. John, N.B., Maritime evangelist reminded the young people of the Prince Edward Island churches of Christ at their annual week end conference yesterday. Speaking at the afternoon session on the subject "Building for security" the evangelist declared that the future of the present civilization would be determined by whether it was built on the principles of the Christian religion. In Christ lies the security and safety of mankind, he said.

The conference sessions opened Saturday evening at the Central Christian Church with a banquet and devotional period presided over by President Lloyd Williams. Visiting young people were welcomed by Miss Edith Ling, of Charlottetown. Replies were made by Miss Martha Ling, New Glasgow and Miss Isobel Robertson of Brudenell. An address was delivered by Rev. J. W. Hayter, pastor of the Hazelbrook, Cross Roads Churches. He took as the theme of his address "Waiting in Prayer" and made an appeal for widespread observance of the principles of Christianity.

Yesterday morning at the communion service the speaker was Rev. S. C. Cooper pastor of the Central Christian Church. He spoke on "Working in Co-operation" and stressed the need for all Christians co-operating so that the message of Christ might be more effectively carried to all mankind.

At a business session which followed the devotional service yesterday afternoon Mr. Ivan MacDonald of Brudenell was elected president of the conference. Other officers were: Mr. Lester Keenan, Murray Harbor, vice-president; Miss Ott Hamilton, New Perth, secretary; Miss Merlene MacNeill, Charlottetown, treasurer. Camp committee: Floyd MacKinnon, Montague, Doris Warren Rustico; Lloyd Williams, Charlottetown, and Eric MacGregor, Charlottetown.

"Welcoming into Discipleship" was the subject of an inspiring sermon by Rev. S. C. Cooper at the closing conference session last night.

Included in the special music during the conference was a duet by Miss Hazel Clark, Summerside and Miss Jean Enman, Charlottetown; a solo by Mr. Harvey Barnes of Boston, Mass., a selection by the Wyand quartette of Cavendish and solos by Mrs. Silas MacKay, Murray Harbor, Miss Ruth Vickers, Montague and Miss Margaret MacKay, of Charlottetown.
