Smith-Jacklin Wedding

(Amherst News)

Immanuel United Church was the scene of a lovely summer wedding Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock when Pauline Evelyn, daughter of Mrs. Fred Jacklin and the late Mr. Jacklin became the bride of Lyman Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith of Freetown, P.E.I. Rev. B. E. Carow officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with hackmatack, baskets of Canterbury Bells and yellow flowers under the direction of Miss Helen Fowler. Small bouquets of the flowers tied with ribbons marked the guest pews.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Kenneth Jacklin, was attired in a floor-length dress of white slipper satin styled with a lace yoke and bustle back with slight train. Her floor-length veil of net was gathered to an orange blossom coronet. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Elmer Smith of Freetown, P.E.I., was attired in a white satin gown with many headers and carried a nosegay of varicolored pansies. The bridesmaid, Miss Betty Weatherbee, wore white sheer with headers of pink gladioli and bouquet of similar flowers. Elmer Smith, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride entered the church to the strains of the Bridal Chorus played by the church organist, Mrs. Robert Goodwin. During the signing of the register Lorne Winters, P.E.I., of the bride and groom, the solo "O Promise Me." The ushers were Layton Purdy and Robert Goodwin.

The bride's mother wore a black dress with black accessories and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore a navy green dress with matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother for about fifty guests. The bride's table was covered with a lace tablecloth centered with the bride's three-tier wedding cake and the groom's cake. Those in charge were Mrs. Ernest Winters, Mrs. Harry Keddy, Mrs. Stephen Repeato of Parrsboro and Mrs. Reuben Keddy, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Blair Garland. Those serving were Mrs. Lorne Winters, Mrs. Warren Alsbury, Mrs. Robert Goodwin and Mrs. Irma Smith, sister of the groom. Miss Geraldine Keddy and Miss Marjorie Smith had charge of the guest books.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left later on their wedding trip by car to the South Shore. For travelling the bride wore a turquoise crepe dress with black shortie coat trimmed with turquoise and black accessories with corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Prior to her marriage the bride was guest of honor at several social functions, including showers and presentations. Guests were present at the wedding from Parrsboro, Maccan, East Hiram, Me. Somerville, Mass., and points in New Brunswick and P.E.I. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Freetown, P.E.I.

DAMAGE TO

all the country around it has been completely destroyed. Just to give you an idea of the magnitude of the catastrophe, in one town, of about 3,500 residents (Pellico), about 300 survive.

"Our loss in millions of dollars can not be estimated."

The Government ordered quick burial to prevent epidemics.

Unaccounted thousands of insured are being treated and supplied by rescue workers using an air lift.

The dead in the plane crash were identified as four Government workers, the crew of two and 28 Shell Oil Company workers. They were being taken in a company plane from Shell-Mera, a company supply base, to Ambato to see how their families fared.

Ambato, a city of 50,000, felt a fresh quake at 1 a.m. today and Riobamba, a city of 60,000 and capital of Chimborazo Province, was shaken at 3:30 a.m.

The United States army arranged to fly tons of relief supplies, including drugs and blood plasma, from Baboia in the Panama Canal zone under the direction of Capt. J. M. Adams, and her three-year-old son, Bobby, went swimming at Hamilton beach a week ago and they haven't been heard of since.

Mrs. Allingham had told her mother-in-law that she would be back for dinner but when she did not appear by 10 o'clock that night, her husband notified police. They are investigating disappearance.

The earthquake struck at 3 p.m. ADT and continued until 3:45 p.m. in a series of six violent shocks; during the longest shock—which lasted 40 seconds—most of Ambato's biggest buildings crashed to the ground.

President Gale Plaza Lasso, directing relief work at Ambato with Interior Minister Salazar Gomez, ordered three days of mourning for the dead in this greatest South American catastrophe since 1939, when 30,000 were killed by earthquakes in Chile.

This correspondent found a scene of utter desolation and tragedy framed against the Andean slopes on a 24-hour visit to Ambato, now an almost homeless city of 50,000.

Ambato and Pellico are the centres of the greatest property damage. But the disaster swept numerous villages on the eastern slopes of the Andes.

Six Violent Shocks

The force of the quake is told in the numbers of homes destroyed and great buildings razed, landslides

WENT SWIMMING, HAVEN'T BEEN HEARD OF SINCE

Hundreds took refuge in churches and prayed. Great cracks opened in the streets. Water mains burst and communication lines were ripped apart. Bridges crumbled into bits. Nearly the whole population was left homeless.

The cathedral was destroyed while 50 children were inside taking a catechism lesson. The military barracks crashed to the ground killing 150 soldiers and injuring 60 others. The palace of the Provincial Government was a heap of ruins. Four other churches also were demolished.

Authorities ordered everyone out of all buildings to avoid injury from falling walls. Army demolition squads were called upon to raze hazardous structures.

Silent groups of Indians, some carrying simple coffins on their backs, moved along the roads while vehicles sped by carrying families and belongings toward Quito or other places where they might take refuge.

There were approximately 300,000 persons in the quake area, all affected in one way or another. As far as can be determined, no foreigners were killed in the earthquake.

FATAL DEMONSTRATION AS OLD AS DOMINION

BRIGHTON, England — (CP) — The point of government signs saying it's dangerous to sit under a beech tree during a drought was emphasized here. A beech bough fell 50 feet in Pat-cham Park, killing a man and woman seated under it.

INVERCARGILL, N.Z. — (CP) — New Zealand's oldest resident, Thomas Barrett, of Gore, is as old as the country itself. He was born in 1850, the year New Zealand was founded as a British colony, and today at the age of 109 still takes a keen interest in the country's affairs.

the year to March 22 are owed money by the Government, the tax changes having knocked them out of the income tax brackets. But the refund cheques cannot be sent out until the budget has been ratified by the Commons. There is little chance of it not being ratified. The Government holds 192 of the 262 seats in the chamber.

A matter of particular interest to members is the question of how much there are going to be paid this year. The last session sat from Jan. 26 to April 30. For that the members received $4,000. The old
