It was noted that the C. W. L. in England, has established 32 huts and canteens. 4 mobile canteens are operating, also. These have acquired an enviable record in catering to soldiers in isolated districts and in rushing nourishment and first-aid to the homeless wherever towns are subject to aerial bombardments. The League has also a Comfort Depot for Merchant Marines, and it also supplies helpers for many public services, such as the London Meal Services and Air Raid Rest Centres, and a Librarian for a shelter bookshelf.

Reports of the different Conventions showed that excellent work was accomplished during the month. Of particular interest were the reports of the Conventions of Social Service and War Literature Mailing.

Arrangements were made for our annual afternoon tea to be held in the Nurses' Flat of the City Hospital on Wednesday, June 25th.

Plans were discussed and arrangements made for activities to be carried on during the summer months.

RE-BUILDING ROAD — Workmen are busy at present re-building a stretch of pavement on the St. Peter's Highway between Charlottetown and the Brackley Point Road. The section being repaired is approximately one mile in length. The base was badly broken up because of the heavy traffic between the city and the Charlottetown Airport. Further along the road a short stretch of new pavement was ordered. Stone chips were used in this project.

DOCTOR IS FINED — A Medical Doctor appeared last week in the Magistrate's Court and was convicted on a charge of issuing prescriptions in violation of the Prohibition Act. He was sentenced to a fine of $200 and costs or one month in the County Jail. Another party was convicted on a charge of presenting prescriptions unauthorized by law and was also sentenced to a fine or imprisonment. It is understood that the police contemplate further prosecutions on similar charges.

RED CROSS CORPS ACTIVITIES — On Monday night last sixty-four women filled out applications for entry into the Canadian Red Cross Corps under the four different sections. Practically all the classes will be held in Prince of Wales College each Monday and Tuesday evenings for a three month period between 7:00 and 9:00 P. M. The Motor Transport and Nursing Sections are completely filled but a few more applications will be received for the Nutritional and Office Administration Sections. Those wishing to enroll in either of these Sections are asked to come to Prince of Wales College this evening at seven o'clock. The Corps will get away on a good start this evening at seven o'clock sharp when Sergeant-Major Triam will give a half-hour of P. T. and Drill. Everyone will be required to wear low-heeled shoes for this. After the half-hour of drill Major Tierney will explain in detail about the different courses to be taken. Following this a certain number of the applicants will be medically examined at the Red Cross Office.

Itching, Burning, Stinging Eczema or Salt Rheum

Eczema, or salt rheum as it is commonly called, is one of the most painful of all skin troubles.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to heat, or the hands placed in hot water are most unbearable, and relief is gladly welcomed.

The relief offered by Burdock Blood Bitters is based on the knowledge that such ailments as eczema, and other skin troubles, are caused by an impure blood condition.

MAN PICKED UP — Residents near Millview became alarmed last evening when, about dusk, they noticed a strange man stagger along the highway for a short distance then suddenly topple headlong into the ditch where he remained. They sent a call to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police barracks at Charlottetown notifying them of the occurrence. The Police went out and found the man still there. On closer examination they discovered he was just an ordinary drunk who said he had been visiting the city during the day and lived near Iona. The man could not give a coherent account of his travels and was taken back to the city where he spent the night in Queens County Jail. The man will appear before the magistrate this morning.

BACK FROM INDIA

The war is doing strange things to Mother India, where the roar of assembly lines drowns out the moo of sacred cows and the hiss of spinning spindles. "Factories," says Spencer Hatch, "are going up all over the place. This year India will manufacture 3,000 armored cars. She will assemble 25,000 vehicles built elsewhere. She has airplane and chemical plants, shipyards." Mr. Hatch is a spry, gray-haired scientific farmer, whose mission in life—has worked at it for last 18 years—is showing 100,000,000 Indian villagers how to double their incomes.

C.W.L. of Canada In convention

TORONTO, June 4—(CP)—Extensive war work activity was outlined in the National War Service Committee report prepared for delivery today before the annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada by Miss Amelia Haley of Saint John, N. B. Miss Haley was unable to be present and her report was read by another member.

In addition to contributing $25,000 to the C. W. L. National War Fund, reports from 34 subdivisions across Canada told of assistance given the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus Canadian army huts and the national war savings campaign, the sending of comforts, cigarettes, magazines, papers and books to members of the Canadian armed forces at home and overseas and daily attendance at Mass to offer prayers for victory and peace.

Forty-four League subdivisions are giving weekly and bi-weekly service to Red Cross centres and 20 rural C. W. L. groups reported their full membership working in Red Cross units. Other subdivisions reported 2,528 members giving weekly and bi-weekly service.

Marked increase in the work carried on by the Sisters of Service was reported by Mrs. P. J. McGarry of Kitchener, Ont. Mrs. McGarry, national convener of the Sisters of Service, said the increase was particularly in the eastern provinces. Hostels are conducted at Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver.

The business and professional women's subdivisions membership figures were: Kathleen E. Murray's 678, Miss Kathleen E. Murray's 678, Miss Kathleen E. Murray's 678, Miss Kathleen E. Murray's 678.

considerable time discussing this bill I should like first to compliment the chairman of the committee, who did a fine job. I might add that the members of the committee were fairly harmonious in their deliberations. Some of us may not have obtained all that we would like in the way of amendments, "except the fact that the bill in its present form is scarcely recognizable as the one with which the committee started."

"I believe that the able minister, the special chairman of the committee and all its members deserve the thanks, gratitude and unanimous support of the house and the country in the good work which they have done since this session started. I am personally aware of the committee's good work, because I have read every day its proceedings and was a witness before it. I have had applications for copies of the minutes from some of the senators of four of the largest communities and from prominent citizens in Canada. The committee has given good and efficient service and is a great credit to the committee system of this house."

JOHN R. MACNICOL, (Cons. Davenport, Toronto): "I should like to compliment the chairman upon the expeditious way in which he deals with the sections of the bill, and in what I am about to say I shall not hold up the committee. I had, however, asked a question on section 16, and I have not yet received an answer. I had asked about widows of soldiers who in their lifetime drew less than fifty per cent pension."

VICTOR QUELCH (S. C. Acadia, Alberta): "First of all, I wish to voice my appreciation of the very fair and efficient manner in which the chairman of the committee conducted its business and also to the services contributed to that committee by the chairman of the pension board."

CLARENCE GILLIS, (C. C. F. Cape Breton South): "First, I want to join with the hon. member for St. John's (Mr. Ross) in complimenting the chairman of the pensions committee, of which I am a member, upon the manner in which he handled a most difficult job. I think he

Tributes paid to Hon. Cyrus Macmillan As pensions chairman

HON. H. A. BRUCE, (Cons. Toronto): "In conclusion may I pay a tribute to the unflinching courtesy and ability of the chairman of the committee, and express the hope that the committee may be continued under his chairmanship during the present war, so that if any matters arise which need adjustment they can be referred to it at any time."

made a good job of it. Second, I should like to make a few observations with respect to the manner in which the committee itself handled its work. This is the first time that I have served upon a pensions committee and I had some apprehension that the committee might adopt a partisan attitude because government members dominated the membership. I am naturally suspicious of this, because I have seen the problems relating to men who are serving in this war and who served in the last war were considered on the basis of merit alone. I think every member of the committee was fully conscious of his duty with respect to these problems and had no thought of politics or anything like that."

J. F. POULIN (Lib. Temiscouma): "Let me first compliment the chairman and the members of the pensions committee who made a painstaking study of the problems of pensions and reached unanimity, which is an accomplishment. I also commend the minister upon the attitude that he has given to this problem and all hon. members who have spoken, and particularly my friend the hon. member for Vancouver South, the hon. member for St. John's and the hon. member for Brandon. China's "Little Devils" Make Life Miserable For Japanese Invaders

Secret "Army" Of Children Is Harassing Foe

Mask of Innocence

Many of the children, orphaned by the war, actually live with the guerrillas. Other young war orphans who were rescued by Mme. Chiang Kai-shek's orphans' homes, which are financed through United China Relief, have slipped out of the orphanages to join the guerrilla bands.

The "little devils" work in a variety of ways. Many of them don't need to leave their native villages. They do their guerrilla work while supposedly engaged in innocent childhood pursuits. In addition to watchdog duties, watchdogs, protecting the "vest-pocket cooperatives" which carry on manufacturing inside the peasant huts in occupied territory. Japanese searching parties seldom have been able to surprise the hidden workshops.

In addition to watchdog duties, the youngsters act as intelligence officers for the regular army. They observe troop movements and "spot" ammunition trains. Their small size helps them slip through the Japanese lines at night with this intelligence.

Couriers who keep the individual guerrilla bands in contact with the regular army are entirely taken from children volunteers. Waterboys in the Japanese camps, kids lounging along the roadside—all may be spies.

NOT TOO YOUNG FOR SABOTAGE

Nor are the children too young to work as active saboteurs. An unbolled plate, stolen rails that wreck many a Japanese military train or a snipped telephone wire that interrupts Japanese military communication can often be traced to a children's "picnic" the night before.

concealed weapons they are able to recognize a guerrilla by secret signs and guide him to a hidden ammunition storehouse.

Stores of guerrilla exploits are fed to Chinese children from babyhood, and the youngsters are well equipped to be guerrillas. From childhood games they have learned the hidden paths and hiding places in the mountains. Their service as guides through underground mountain routes through the Japanese lines is invaluable.

In bombed areas, the "little devils" also act as volunteer medical helpers, carrying first aid and supplies to air-raid wardens and victims.

They have a high nuisance value at equals their military worth inside the occupied territory, where the Japanese live in daily fear of their lives, the "little devils" play on this fear with relish. One pet trick is to light a bunch of firecrackers near some Japanese—and watch the scramble for shelter from "snipers."

So effective are China's "little devils" that the Japanese today suspect every Chinese child of being a spy or a guerrilla.

Young as they are, China's "little devils" carefully plan their activities. Above, a group sits around, listening to a leader.
