Laughs and Drama
 In Quillan's Latest

For laughs, for drama, and for new thinking situations, "The Big Shot," Eddie Quillan's latest starring vehicle for RKO Pict. undoubtedly will find a high ranking position among the season's best motion picture offerings. The picture opened an engagement of three days last night at the Prince Edward Theatre.

The story revolves around an auto camp, that great institution for the itinerant motoring public which wanders the highways from Florida to California and from Maine to Mexico, caravan fashion.

It is the tale of an ambitious youngster whose only asset is an auto camp, purchased sight unseen, and his mad struggle to put it on a paying basis. The interference of his enemies and complications in his love-affair make this novel story absorbing and appealing in both comedy and dramatic entertainment.

Quillan's performance as the ambitious young man stamps him as being one of the most versatile of the younger stars and his handling of the dramatic scenes is outstanding.

Supporting the young stars are Maureen O'Sullivan, Mary Nolan, Roscoe Ates, Belle Bennett, Ralph Ince, Arthur Stone, Louis John Barrios, Olga Savin, William Eugene, Harvey Clark and others.

Extra added feature, The Schmeling vs. Walker Fight pictures. Eight rounds of sensational and dynamic boxing. Don't miss this big week end bill.

Good Coffee

By observing certain precautions and rules it is possible to serve consistently good coffee. The blend, the choice of the coffee itself, method of procedure and accuracy are factors in the brewing.

When purchasing coffee, the blend is of first importance. Without good coffee to begin with, one cannot hope to secure a delicious beverage. Experts originate the various brands or blends on the market, and the mixture is calculated to please individual tastes.

The roasting of the coffee berry brings out the flavor and makes the berry brittle enough to grind. There are several different degrees of roasts—heavy or dark, light, medium, Italian and French. As might be expected, the degree of roasting affects the flavor and color of the beverage.

Care of Coffee Pot

Grinding is done so that all the possible flavor can be drawn into the finished cup of coffee. The method of making the beverage determines the grind chosen.

If good coffee is to be secured every time it is made, the care of the coffee pot is most important. It should be emptied as soon as possible after using, to prevent discoloration. Wash it thoroughly in clean, hot soapy water and rinse it thoroughly in lots of clear boiling water. Wipe dry with a clean towel and let remain open to air. A stale odor which affects the flavor of the beverage develops if a coffee pot is kept closed. The pot which is used only occasionally should be washed and rinsed early in the day and allowed to air thoroughly. Scald it again just before making the coffee.

No matter how you make your coffee, by boiling, by steeping, percolating or drip method, both coffee and water must be measured and the boiling, steeping or percolating stopped at the proper time. The drip method requires only the precaution of keeping the beverage hot until ready to serve.

Serve Right Away

Another important point in coffee making is the necessity of serving coffee as soon as possible after it is made. The longer it is issuing new pence in Mint condition for Christmas. So long as the surplus continues the minting of penny pieces will be suspended. New half pence and farthings will still, however, be issued on demand, where it can be shown that they are required for genuine business purposes and not merely as bright coin for the Christmas shopping.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. JOHN R. BRUCE

Death's Angel came with startling suddenness to the Ch'Town Hospital on November 3rd, and summoned the soul of John R. Bruce to his eternal reward.

Afflicted with heart trouble his sufferings, at times excruciating, were borne with such rare patience and cheerfulness as to commend the admiration of all.

The sweet consolation of an abiding Faith in A Merciful Redeemer, and the life beyond sustained him in his hour of need.

A faithful member of Zion Presbyterian Church, serving for many years as elder, the daily visits of his beloved pastor with sweet words of hope and peace afforded him much happiness.

His kindly, generous nature made him friend of all and he will be missed by a wide circle of friends.

On Friday, November 5th the remains were placed in the church, where friends and relatives assembled to pay a last tribute of love and respect to one whose serene acceptance of the decree of Divine Providence was an inspiration to all.

The beautiful service for the departed and a sermon appropriate to the occasion was delivered by the Minister Rev. G. C. Webster, after which the funeral cortege wended its way to Orwell Head Cemetery, the remains being laid beside that of his wife who predeceased him 29 years, there to await the Resurrection Morn.

Service at his grave was conducted by Rev. Mr. Webster, assisted by Rev. Mr. Sinclair.

There are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father his grief stricken widow who so tenderly ministered to him in his long illness, five daughters and two sons—"Diana", Mrs. E. H. Ross, Calgary; "Mary" Mrs. A. F. Murphy, City; "Catherine", Mrs. D. McCullough, Vancouver; "Maude", Mrs. S. Hunter, Calgary; "Lillian", Mrs. K. W. MacLeod, Brookline.

Eat Your Way To Good Looks

Men and women in search of beauty will soon cease to consult plastic surgeons, masseurs or beauty specialists. They will try to attain good looks by feeding.

Such is the opinion of a noted French dietitian, who has been carrying out experiments in his laboratory in the Faubourg St. Honore in Paris to find the relationship between personal appearance and feeding. The results have been surprising. The professor has proved that receding chins, snub noses, small eyes, scraggy necks and other blemishes that mark the difference between good looks and plainness are due to faulty feeding.

"Looks are no guide to character," says the professor, "only to appetite."

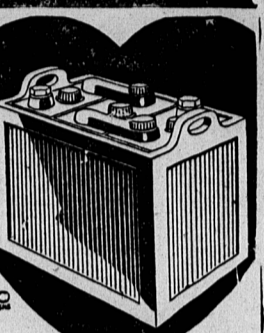

"My claim may at first appear fantastic, but if you think for a moment you will realize that many races have facial characteristics owing to their national diet. People who eat a great deal of vegetable food have coarse features. Vegetables mean healthy bodies but distorted features. Vegetables do not have enough fat forming substances.

"Irishmen, for example, usually have long upper lips and snub noses. That is due to the amount of potatoes they eat. The trait is even more noticeable in the negro races, where potatoes, yams and bananas are the principal items on the menu. The short nose, thick lips, and wide mouth are the result. Even vegetarians without ancestry of vegetable eating, show signs of their diet by their wrinkled faces.

"Underfeeding for generations results in the narrow temples which you see in the slums, and overfeeding results in bad skins and weak eyes.

"These are the results of my investigations. So far that is simple enough.

"My task now is to apply these findings in order to regulate looks in the future. Obviously my experiments must be carried out on human beings. I can only obtain satisfactory results by experimenting on babies right from their birth, but no mothers are willing to lend me their babies in the cause of science.
