Horses Training At New Annan And Vicinity

New Annan, Kensington, Summerside and vicinities are second only to Charlottetown in numbers and quality of speedy horses.

New Annan's regular trainer, Blondin Thomas, is living like a potentate on the "Flesh pots of Egypt" those days—the kind neighbors are bringing in pork chops and chicken and the horsemen are sending him their well bred colts to be trained. He has already seven horses under tutelage, with prospects of double the number in a short time. He has at present:

Looking 'Em Over

BY "TEC"

Jim Pendergast, Secretary of the New Annan Trotting Park, was a visitor to the city yesterday in connection with the big matinee slated for New Annan on Wednesday of next week. Judging by the large entry list and the calibre of horses named, it looks as if there will be plenty whiz of sulky wheels and pounding of hoofs on the above mentioned day. Jim is quite enthusiastic about the coming meet and expects to have a big afternoon.

The Redoubtable Connie Mack

Here it is only June 13th and Mister Connie Mack's strong arm squad has just about put the quietus on the other seven clubs who profess to be in the American League race, although they are having a very tough time, indeed, proving same. The strong arm squad, in case you are one of those types who prefer the household hints or society papers to the sports sections, is composed of the Messrs. Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg. Messrs. by the way, is eminently fitting when you consider the manner in which they have messed up the hopes of Walter Johnson and Joe McCarthy, to mention only two managers of rival teams. Here gentlemen, are three pitchers, and when we say pitchers, we mean pitchers, not prima donnas who have to have a four-day's rest cure after each effort, and who are likely to misplace a vertebrae or an elbow just when needed most. If Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg hold to their present pace throughout the season, or even if they don't, they will go down in the records as athletic marvels.

Just take a glance at the American League statistics and be convinced. Since the season opened the Athletics have played 48 games and lost but 12, causing many experts to predict for them a new all-time high in the little matter of games won in a single season. Twenty-nine of the Athletics victories were turned in by the strong arm squad, Grove winning ten, Earnshaw ten, and Walberg nine. That, however, is not all. They have done a great deal of relief work; so much in fact, that the Athletics have played but seven games this year in which one of the men failed to take part. And, if you have a yen for significant facts you might relish the knowledge that four of those seven games resulted in defeat for the world champions.

During 1930 he refereed games in the Ottawa Valley until his failing health prohibited him from carrying on longer and forced him to doff his skates forever. Now "Bobbie" Boucher is gone, and as he glides in ever-lengthening strides to the "Eternal Majors," his friends wish him "Bon Voyage."

Name Officials For Bike Race

What baseball wants to know is how long Lefty and George and Rube can keep it up; how long can they continue the blistering routine of pitching one day and on the next rushing in to rescue a faltering comrade?

Many of the boys will tell you that sooner or later one or all of them must crack under the pressure that even if they stand the gaff through June and July those sweltering days in August and September will collect their toll in strength and stamina.

Maybe the boys have got the right dope and the strong armers will collapse, but right now they are unfolding a drama that is a beautiful thing to watch. Day in and day out they step out there on the hill and shoot the works to win, letting the morrow take care of itself.

Yep, the boys may fold up, but as Joe McCarthy, boss of the New York Yankees said recently, "A few more weeks and they can well afford to fold up. The race will be over, anyway."

Death Claims Another Of The Boucher Clan

"Bobbie" Boucher is dead. The youngest of the famous hockey family has followed with hurrying footsteps his famed father to the grave. The sudden death of his sire was a matter of deep regret. The passing of his latest born son is deplorable. To be carried away in the fulsome of years brings pain and sorrow to those who remain behind. To be cut off when the broad field of life is just opening to the valiant feet of youth is even more saddening and depressing.

Like his brothers, "Bobbie's" career was bound up with the annals of the curved stick and the glittering blade. As a youngster he was mascot for the Ottawa Senators. Rapid development saw him venturing with the "Baby" Eskimos of Iroquois Falls. He returned here to join the gunners and in 1924 signed a professional contract with the Canadiens, with whom he remained for two years. In 1926 he travelled to the coast and joined Vancouver, then, coming east the following year, took a place with Edmonton. 1928 found him with London and Quebec and in 1929 he played his last games with Newmark.

Dr. Leard thanked the donors with mixed feelings. The spoon was attractively dressed up. Among those present were Col. Dawson, Major Strong and others. Col. Dawson, of Bedeque, has received the information from Colonel-in-Chief, General A. L. Cameron, of the Royal Highland Black Watch, that His Majesty the King has graciously consented to the Prince Edward Island Highlanders being allied to the Royal Highland Black Watch, one of the crack regiments in the Imperial Army. This is a distinct honor for the Island and is granted on account of service rendered by the Island regiment in years gone by, when a company of the Black Watch was raised on the Island and served as part of the 2nd Battalion.—S.

'S SIDE RIFLE CLUB ANNUAL MEETING

P. E. Island Highlanders Now Allied To The Crack Imperial Army Black Watch Regiment.

(Special to The Guardian) The annual meeting of the Summerside Rifle Association was held in the Armory last night, Mr. L. R. Allen, Captain, presiding. After the usual routine of business had been disposed of, Mr. Allen was reappointed Captain of the Association and Lieut. A. L. MacDonald Secretary.

It was decided to have practice shoots at the Rifle Range on Monday and Friday mornings throughout the season. The Club is looking forward to a successful year. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation by the chairman, Mr. Allen, of the prizes won during the winter at the Indoor Rifle Range. These prizes, solid silver spoons, are donated by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association at Ottawa.

Prizes were as follows:—Lieut. A. L. MacDonald, M.M., special spoon and vase for best shot, 97; Walter Schurman, first class spoon, 95 2-3; Cliff Rogers, first class spoon, 95; Harry Allan, first class spoon, 95; Lowell Hancock, second class spoon, 94 2-3; Jas. Morrison, Jr., second class spoon, 93 1-3; Henry Noonan, second class spoon, 92; A. W. Leard, second class spoon, 92. A humorous incident was the presentation of a large mixing spoon to Dr. A. W. Leard with the Summerside Rifle Club's compliments for being the most erratic shot in the club.

Dr. Leard thanked the donors with mixed feelings. The spoon was attractively dressed up. Among those present were Col. Dawson, Major Strong and others. Col. Dawson, of Bedeque, has received the information from Colonel-in-Chief, General A. L. Cameron, of the Royal Highland Black Watch, that His Majesty the King has graciously consented to the Prince Edward Island Highlanders being allied to the Royal Highland Black Watch, one of the crack regiments in the Imperial Army. FALCONWOOD training work. There was a movement afoot a year or two ago to have Falconwood nurses train a year at a large general hospital. This Dr. Dewar believed was an excellent practice to follow.

The first year to the nurse in the new sphere of activity was very difficult. In the second year responsibilities were added, and in the third year the real training was accomplished. In training the responsibility of mistakes had been always upon somebody in higher authority. In practical work the conditions were entirely different. Dr. Dewar reminded the nurses.

The superintendent of nurses quickly finds out whether or not a nurse in training has the necessary qualifications, the speaker stated. The nurse must have an attractive personality, must be able in handling patients, must be able to observe symptoms. Thus it was seen that the superintendent of nurses has a great responsibility.

There was a similarity between the medical profession and the nursing profession, in the irregularity of life and habits demanded. Both nurses and doctors have very responsible positions. Mistakes were always costly, as a mistake in those professions cannot be remedied as in other vocations.

Among the attributes necessary to a person starting practical nursing after training, was the ability to cope with and overcome difficulties. There should be loyalty to the doctor, consideration of the patient, satisfaction patients, doctor and relatives should have tact in dealing with delicate situations. A nurse should have kindness and gentleness in her work especially in dealing with the old and with children. Nurses who had manual skill were able to look after their patients well. The attribute of leadership was a very important one for the trained nurse to cultivate. It enabled the nurse to lead a patient to do things which the latter might not desire to do. Persistence in work was ever necessary. By intuition a nurse might observe that a patient was ill when he was to all appearances well. Sympathy was the last great attribute which the speaker believed necessary. Florence Nightingale, he said, had possessed sympathy, pity and real practical Christianity as well as all the other qualities which a nurse should have.

There was no royal road to success, Dr. Dewar said. Success could be attained only through effort and service, never by short cuts. The doctor's closing advice to the nurses was that they should deal honorably with their patients, with those with whom they came in contact, and with one another. Miss Eva Beer in her paper remarked on the great difference between the shy probationer and the graduates. The uniform worn by the nurse indicated a putting away of individuality.

The personal equation was the important factor to be taken into consideration in addition to the usual requirements. The trinity of attributes required was fitness, physically, mentally, and morally. Tact and knack were of greatest importance. The nurse should have endurance, and knowledge of how to conserve her strength. As regards moral fitness the nurse should exercise self-restraint, self-discipline and patience in dealing with trifles. Hon. J. P. McIntyre congratulated the graduates. Dr. McLaughlin was an excellent medical superintendent, he stated. Mr. McIntyre referred to the death of Dr. George Green. Mrs. Houston, the matron, who was responsible for the care of the nurses was a very efficient person. The $100,000 to $125,000 spent each year in maintaining Falconwood had been well spent, he stated.

His Worship Mayor Prowse congratulated the nurses on their obtaining their diplomas and Dr. Dewar and Miss Beer on their addresses. The work of nursing required much hard work, and in it there was short road to success. Hon. Peter Sinclair, in congratulating the nurses, stated that he hoped the white uniforms would ever be symbolic of purity of life, and rectitude of conduct.

Dr. R. D. McLaughlin, medical superintendent, expressed his gratitude to those who assisted in the programme. He congratulated the nurses on the excellent work accomplished. Out of a possible of 800 marks, the leading members had made 796 and 791 marks respectively.

Following was the valedictory read by Miss Eille Cotton of the graduating class: Your Honor Lieut.-Governor Dalton Your Worship, Mayor Prowse, Trustees, Dr. Dewar, Dr. Ramsay, Medical Superintendent, Superintendent of Nurses, Nurses—Ladies and Gentlemen:

We, the Graduating class of 1931, Falconwood Hospital, feel that tonight we must say some word of appreciation to those who have done so much for us during our years in training. To Dr. MacLaughlin, our Medical Superintendent, we are deeply indebted for the patience you have shown with all our failings, and for the many hours you have spent with us in the class room. We wish to express our gratitude to you. To the Superintendent of Nurses, Mrs. Houston, we say we will do our utmost to fulfill the ideals and principles which you ever held before us. We can do this by the manner in which we practice our profession, where our graduation is not at an end, but a beginning.

Those of us who have had the privilege of a year of training in the P. E. I. Hospital wish to thank the Faculty and Staff of the Institution for our tuition, for forbearance with our many mistakes, and for the many courtesies extended to us while in residence. We feel we have gained much in character and that knowledge which is necessary for the care of the sick and afflicted during the year spent there. To the next class we leave the task of upholding the reputation of the school by the conscientious manner in which you assume your duties. We know you will have days of sunshine and sorrow, but remember that the keynote of our profession is service, and service faithfully and gladly rendered means happiness. We cannot bring sunshine into the lives of others and keep it from ourselves. Strive always to keep the heart tender and the mind open to hear the cry of the suffering.

I ask thee for a thoughtful love, Though constant, watchful, wise, To meet the glad with joyful smiles, And wipe the weeping eyes: A task at leisure from itself, To soothe and sympathize. In closing, we the class of 1931, transfer to you who follow us these responsibilities.

He was taken back to Prince County Jail by Constable White. Mr. L. G. Lewis of Summerside prosecuted for the Crown. The prisoner was not represented by counsel and reserved his defense. 8
