

N.S. Coal Mines and Steel Plants May be Closed

President of Company Owning Mines Declares Wages Must be Reduced or Mines Must Close.

(Special to The Guardian.)
MONTREAL, Oct. 24—An announcement that every coal mine in Nova Scotia and probably the steel plants as well will be closed down if the miners do not moderate their wage demands, was made this morning by Roy M. Wolvin, President of the British Empire Steel Corporation which controls the properties of the Nova Scotia Steel and Iron Company and the Dominion Coal Company. The miners union has intimated that negotiations for a new wage scale which begins in November, the present rates of pay will be demanded. Mr. Wolvin says a reduction in wages must come on account of the depression in the coal trade of the world and that the cost of coal mined under the present rates of miners' wages will not allow of steel to be manufactured at today's market prices. Mr. Wolvin contends that the miners are receiving wages from 120 to 200 per cent higher than in 1914. About 20,000 men are affected by the operations of the coal and steel companies of Nova Scotia.

Earlier in the week seventeen foxes were shipped to Wisconsin. Mr. Church left here with a shipment of choice foxes for the Corwin Silver Black Fox Co. of Hart. In this shipment were the celebrated David Arthur, and Lady Hilda, first prize winners at Montreal last winter from the G. A. Callbeck ranch at Summerside. Also a large number of young foxes direct descendants of the prize winners on the Pure Canadian and Willow Hill. This enterprising company did not consider price in their selections but did demand quality and got first choice of some fifty foxes from several hundred inspected.

Musical Recital

At Hartz's Hall

The Hartz Memorial Hall was almost filled last night with an appreciative audience, who were treated to an excellent musical recital by Mr. Earle Spicer and Miss Dorothy Higgins.

His enunciation was faultless and in the selections calling for exceptional skill tempo, every word was heard clearly and distinctly. The programme was well varied, a number of the selections being familiar to many of the audience, comedy grouped with the classic and every number eliciting bursts of applause from an audience who heartily enjoyed every moment.

Miss Higgins the talented pianist contributed several numbers, which were also a treat to music lovers and accompanied Mr. Spicer in his selections.

MR. MEIGHEN'S CREED

"More than any other country, Canada needs a protective system. She is a young country mostly undeveloped. She lies alongside a great big country tremendously developed. The United States has every advantage that Canada has and tremendous advantages besides. It surely follows, to the mind of every reasonable man, that to abandon the protective system in Canada would be simply to invite the absorption of Canadian industry in the far vaster industries of the United States. The principles of the protection of Canadian industry have been proclaimed by practically every statesman who has shouldered the responsibility of government in Canada. They are sound and they are right and the vast mass of the people of Canada know that they are sound and right."
—From Premier Meighen's Portage Speech.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The United States Railway Labor Board today at its meeting in Chicago called the five big unions to appear there next week and solemnly warned the unions not to strike until the Board has heard their grievances and rendered a decision. The Board's action virtually means that there will be no strike October 30, unless the unions should choose to openly defy the Government for it is hardly probable that a decision will be rendered by the Board before that date.

Tanning Of Hides

Hides can be tanned in the following manner without injuring the hair: After removing the fat and fleshy matter, by washing in warm water, soak the skin in a liquor made by putting into ten gallons of cold water eight quarts of wheat bran, half a pint of soap, and one ounce of borax. If the hides are green soak them for eight to ten hours; if dry soak until soft. If they have not been salted, put one pint of salt into the water, and by adding two ounces of sulphuric acid the soaking can be done in four or five hours. Then make a liquor of ten gallons of warm soft water, into which pour one bushel of bran, stir, and let it stand in a warm place until it ferments, after which stir in slowly two and one half pounds of sulphuric acid. Put the hides in and let them stand about four hours, then take them out and run them over a beam until dry. Any old chopping knife, with the edge taken off, would do to scrape them with.

Method for Large Skins.

Another good way to tan either large hides or small skins is by means of a preparation applied to the flesh side. The skin should first be soaked in warm water till soft, then the flesh side should be scraped with an old file or other blunt instrument. Take borax, saltpeter and Glauber salts in equal quantities and moisten with water till a paste is formed, then apply this with a brush to the flesh side of the skin. Fold the skin with the flesh side in, lay away for twenty-four hours, then wash it clean. Take sal soda one ounce, borax half ounce and a refined white soap two ounces. Melt these together and apply the mixture to the flesh side. Again roll the skin up and lay away in a warm place for twenty-four hours.

Next wash the skin clean again, then take four ounces of alum and eight ounces of salt dissolved in a gallon of hot rainwater. When cool enough for the hand to bear, put the skin in this liquid for twelve hours, then take out and wring and dry and hang up for two hours. Repeat the last soaking and drying from one to three times, depending on the degree of softness desired. Finish by stretching, pulling and working with the hands. This method requires much more time and labor than the simple bath of sulphuric

Earth Rushing To Perpetual Summer

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The earth is rushing toward a period of perpetual summer according to a French astronomer who offers explanation of the present abnormal warm and dry weather. Oscillation of the inclination of the earth's axis is the cause of the upheaval of the seasons he says and this oscillation is between a 35 degree maximum and a 9 degree minimum every 21,756 years. The last maximum was reached during the ice age he contends and the maximum will come in the year 2296. Therefore according to the astronomer the earth's temperate zones will henceforth become progressively more tropical in the matter of climate.

"I greatly appreciate your invitation and will not forget it. I do not yet know however whether political and other considerations will permit my visiting America and I greatly fear in any case that I shall have little time to spare for public engagements outside of the work of the conference but if I visit Washington I shall be exceedingly anxious to go to Canada too if only to say one word of heartfelt thanks to your dominion for the immortal service it rendered to the Empire and humanity at our side in the Great War. acid and salt, but is more suitable for large skins and hides.

In connection with the above Mr. Henry McKenzie of McKenzie's Corner, informs the Guardian that last winter he tanned a cow hide by the above recipe and made a pair of working traces, which he has been using ever since and has found very satisfactory and as durable as those made out of the ordinary leather. When hides are as low as at present and leather as high, it will pay the farmers to do their own tanning. Mr. McKenzie suggests that, for large hides, a larger quantity of the ingredients be used than is specified in the above recipe.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Speaking at the Labor Conference at Southampton Arthur Henderson maintained that even if the Irish Conference broke down it would be no justification for plunging the country into an immediate election. Premier Meighen Reassures Mr. MacKenzie King

That He is in No Danger from the Explosive Discovered at Levis. Explanation of Affair by Minister of Militia.

(ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 22.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Speaking to a large gathering of West Elgin voters in the Star Theatre tonight, Premier Meighen answered a series of questions put to him by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, relative to a shipment of high explosive shells which Mr. King saw unloading at Levis, Quebec. The Premier's answer was positive to a degree. "There hasn't been one dollar spent for munitions since the end of the war," he told his audience. "Let me hasten to assure Mr. King that he is not in the least danger from these explosives. They are for use in the active militia, and, as far as I know, he is not in it."

The Premier's explanation of the fact that a shipment of shells was unloading from the Canadian Government Merchant Marine vessel "Canadian Runner" when Mr. King passed through Levis, was that the explosives were allotted to Canada by the British War Office. During the progress of war, the War Office had taken charge of the distribution of arms and equipment and when the armistice came and demobilization was decided on, equipment and ammunition in possession of the Canadian troops, had been turned into army ordnance deposits. Requirements of the Canadian active militia were met by the War Office on demand from the Militia Department at Ottawa, and the shipment referred to by Mr. King had been sent in response to these demands.

King's Constitutional Premier to King.

(ST. THOMAS, Ont., Oct. 23.—The following letter in answer to Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King's published Saturday morning was given out by Mr. Meighen: "Dear Mr. King, I see by this morning press that you have written me a letter, dated Ottawa, Oct. 22, making a long series of inquiries as to munition supplies which you discovered at Levis. This letter has not yet reached me, its publication being evidently deemed more important to you than its communication to myself. "You ask for an immediate and explicit reply to the various questions set out. This you shall have. The matter concerns the Department of Militia and Defence and I am not disposed to think you could have obtained the information by inquiry of that Department. However, I have no objection to making the inquiries myself and as soon as the facts are in my possession will give them to you without delay, and will hope that in the future you will be equally explicit in making replies to questions I have put to you. Please accept my assurance that no time shall be lost in removing from the public mind the wholly erroneous impression which your letter is designed to convey. Yours faithfully
(Signed) "ARTHUR MEIGHEN"

The Explanation.

"Referring to the press article regarding shipments of ammunition from England to Canada, there has been no ammunition nor any war equipment of any sort purchased by Canada since the termination of the war. When war broke out, all available guns and ammunition in Canada were shipped to England as soon as possible, and handed over to the war office.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE RESUMED

LONDON, Oct. 24.—With the Prime Minister Lloyd George week-ending at his country home at Chequers Court and Michael Collins, head of the Irish delegation in London, gone to Dublin, no important developments in the Irish situation are expected until the conference is resumed this afternoon.
