IN MEMORIAM

FIRST DEATH IN PATRIOTIC FAMILY

Mrs. John Croken, Charlottetown, will have the sympathy of her friends and the whole Empire in the death of her son Joseph Arnold, who was killed in action on May 7th. Arnold would not have reached the age of seventeen years until next month, although he was about three years in khaki. He enlisted in June, 1915, with the 105th Battalion, and crossed to France last August, being on active service for three months before his death.

He was a bright boy of pleasant and genial disposition and was popular with all who knew him. His mother could have stopped his going overseas, but recognizing his eager determination to do his share for suffering humanity she refrained. This is a record which his family (which has given four sons to the service) and all of Canada might well feel proud. He died that others might live.

To his parents and family The Guardian extends its sincere sympathies. There are left to mourn besides his grief-stricken parents, three sisters, Mrs. George Carter, Jr., Charlottetown, Misses Helen and Kathleen, at home, also seven brothers, Frank, in France, Edward, who was invalided home from the front, Eugene, who was wounded in France, and who has been in the hospital in England since April 9, 1917, Patrick and Rudolph in Western Canada, Andy in Boston and Bernie at home.

ANOTHER ISLAND MAN IS CURED

Still they come. Another name is added to the long list of those who claim to have been cured by the Parador. Those who know the underlying truth will not question his authenticity. Even the prejudiced must admit that "something" must have helped him.

Brackley Point Road, Charlottetown R. R. No. 6, May 13, 1918.

Sir—It gives me much pleasure to add this word of endorsement on behalf of the Parador, which I commenced using about two months ago. Before that time I suffered a great deal from rheumatism in the shoulder as well as from loss of sleep. It was impossible for me to raise my right arm above the level of my shoulder. I am glad to say that I am now quite free from pain and can use my arm as freely as I ever could. I can sleep well and am enjoying excellent health. I found the Parador all right and therefore can heartily recommend it. G. A. YOUNKER. The foregoing letter is addressed to W. E. Enman, Parador Representative, 226 Richmond St., Charlottetown. PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

On May 10th a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. J. T. Donoghue, when his neighbors and also friends from surrounding districts assembled to bid him, Mrs. Beagan and family farewell before their departure to their new home at Mt. Ryan. A nice supper was served by the ladies in charge after which the following address was read: To Mr. and Mrs. Beagan and family:—We your friends and neighbors of Donoghue, are gathered here this evening to say a few words of farewell previous to your departure for your new home in Mt. Ryan. We do not realize just how much we shall miss you, not alone in business life but also in the social side of life where you seemed to devote all your energy to give others what might call a "good time". But our loss is Mr. Ryan's gain, and we shall look upon you as a neighbor and friend glad that only a few miles separate us. In conclusion we wish you, Mrs. Beagan and family every success in your new home and we would ask you to accept this small purse not for its value but as a token of our esteem and friendship. Signed in behalf of those present Ed. White, James McAdam, P. R. Trainor and John Beagan and others. Remarks suitable to the occasion were made by Mr. J. J. McCarthy. Mr. Beagan then briefly replied in behalf of Mrs. Beagan and family and thanked them all for the kindness shown to them. He also tendered his best wishes to his success, or Mr. James McAdam. Mr. J. J. McCarthy accompanied by Mrs. McCarthy then contributed some nice music and Messrs Chas. Walker, Brazil and McKenna some nice step dancing. Miss Margaret Walker also gave some nice violin selections after which dancing was resumed until the eastern sky showed the approach of another day.

CHOP OFF TRIGGER FINGERS TO ESCAPE

HAMILTON, Ont., May 16.—Lieutenant Colonel Belsen, O. C. of the Central Ontario Regiment here, stated today that a number of cases were under observation of young men who had chopped their trigger fingers off to escape service. Some of the conscientious objectors, he said, were really religious fanatics but there were others just as yellow as the chaps who had mutilated themselves. The colonel pointed out that the loss of the trigger finger would not save them as they would be used in construction battalions overseas.
