Oxydol's Efficient Suds Puts End To Washday Rub

In the fall of this year Oxydol once again presents its case to the housewives of the nation. Oxydol, the soap with 50% more suds, is one very good reason why American housewives are now taking laundry work in their strides. The "blue Monday" of our grandmothers is no more. No more aching backs from hours of rubbing and scrubbing. No more hot lard suppers because the wife and mother is too exhausted for any more effort. No more shiny, red wash day hands to reveal to the neighbors that the washing is done at home.

The rich, creamy Oxydol suds get clothes snow white without back-breaking rubbing. The water can be hot or cold, hard or soft and still these efficient, safe suds do their work.

Oxydol lightens the cleaning tasks of every other working day as well. It works its magic just as effectively for household cleaning. In the three times a day chore of dish-washing the searching but gentle Oxydol suds makes the finest china sparkling clean and even the stubborn pots and pans yield their dirt to Oxydol just as readily.

The Choice Fleece Which Moses Favored

Mohair, the long, lustrous, silky ringlets of the Angora goat, came at one time only from Turkey. Indeed it is a comparatively recent Turkish export. Prior to 1820 its export was prohibited by the Sultan. Nowadays British South Africa is very much in the mohair picture and the recent import by Great Britain of the commodity from that enterprising country far overtop the imports from Constantinople.

It was mohair from which Moses commanded the Children of Israel to make cloths for the Tabernacle, some 1500 years before the Christian Era.

Mohair yarn, presumably spun almost entirely from the South African Angora fleece, came to Canada from the United Kingdom in the first eight months of 1932 to the amount of 61,434 pounds valued at $33,258.

The United States also sent to Canada in the same eight months 49,198 pounds valued at $36,018, probably some of it being from the fleece of the United States bred Angora which, like his cousin of South Africa, has been imported from Turkey.

COURT OF AUTOISTS

"Road hogs," charged with dangerous driving should be tried by a special court composed of autoists, declares the Midi of Paris. The courts should have the power to inflict the severest penalties, the newspaper says, for now no one takes any notice of the dozens of people killed and injured every week in auto accidents in Paris.

"What," asks the journal, "does a venerable magistrate who has scarcely traveled the length of his own library know of good and bad driving and dangers of the road?"

Y.M.C.A. Juniors' Get-Together

Last night at the "Y" the first get-together meeting of Junior members was held for the purpose of organizing and outlining a Boys' Work program for the coming winter. Replacing A Lost Wool Market

Canadian trade in the export of wool appears to be recovering from the smashing blow which the United States tariff dealt it in June 1930 when the duty was raised to a figure ranging between 24 and 37 cents per pound. The United Kingdom is now buying much more Canadian wool than formerly.

During the twelve months ending August the export of raw wool to the United States was 630,350 pounds. Two or three years ago the export to that country ran up to over eight million pounds, although that was exceptionally high.

During the twelve months ending August the export of raw wool to the United Kingdom was 4,205,518 pounds, compared with 664,384 pounds in the same period of 1930-1 and 1,260,445 pounds in the same period of 1929-30.

The greatest twelve months' export of raw wool to the United Kingdom in the last decade, prior to this year, was in the fiscal year 1927-8 when it reached a volume of 2,611,304 pounds, which shows the progress being made.

PERSONALS

Mr. Wilfred Hunter, of the Post Office Department, left yesterday morning for Boston on a visit to his sister, Miss Janie Hunter, R. N.

Mr. A. Roy Jones, Hazelbrook, left yesterday morning en route to Cambridge, Mass., where he will visit his brother, W. E. Jones, who resides there.

British Imports Of Raw Wool

The imports of the raw wool of sheep and lamb by the United Kingdom in the first eight months of 1932 amounted to 683,333,000 pounds. The leading countries supplying it were: Australia 211,754,300 pounds, New Zealand 177,643,300, British South Africa 143,642,700, Argentina 71,922,600, West Coast of South America with Bolivia included 25,115,000, British India 19,746,600, Uruguay 12,432,700, France 8,046,300, Irish Free State 3,121,900, Falkland Island 2,717,700.
