PROSPECTS OF PEACE.

Close upon Premier Balfour's statement that an actual war existed comes the more pleasing announcement that an early settlement of the Venezuelan trouble may be expected.

It ought to be observed that throughout the trouble a good understanding has been preserved between the Governments of London, Berlin and Washington, all of which appear to have conducted themselves with a dignified regard for each other.

Notwithstanding a few inflammatory articles in some of the yellow journals of his country President Roosevelt and his cabinet appear to act throughout in the interests of peace and good feeling.
