A solo beneath the Cross of Jesus, was pleasingly rendered by Mr. Chas. J. Gallagher at this service.

In the case of the King vs. John Durant, charged with manslaughter, the preliminary hearing was concluded on Saturday before Chief Magistrate Ernest H. Stronk. The magistrate found that the evidence was insufficient to put the accused on his trial for manslaughter.

Information was then laid before the said magistrate against the said John Durant for unlawfully wounding Harland Bell under the provision for summary trial for indictable offences. The prisoner pleaded guilty to this charge and was sentenced to three months in the County Jail and also is to give security to keep the peace for a period of six months after his release from jail.

The evidence at the preliminary hearing in this case disclosed by the testimony of the two doctors who performed an autopsy on the day of the hearing, was that the deceased Harland Bell was shot through the heart and could not have survived had he not been saved his life, so that the neglect of the said John Durant in not reporting the accident was not contributory to the death of Harland Bell.

Hon. J. D. Stewart and Mr. Heath Strong, K. C., acted for the Crown and Mr. A. Saunders and Henry Noonan for the prisoner.

They succeeded in building up a comfortable home and educating and providing for a family of three sons and four daughters who are highly respected citizens of that city. Dr. Ayers President of the Society was in the chair and after a few introductory remarks, called upon Rev. H. D. He also stated that it was expected that all the Protestant clergymen would on next Sunday the 17th preach a sermon on the Bible Society's work, and the great need of the Bible in all lands.

Yesterday, Mr. Justice Francis Longworth Hazard and Mrs. Hazard received the hearty felicitations and good wishes of a host of friends and prominent citizens on the celebration of their Golden Wedding, a privilege which fate reserves for few.

Fifty years ago, yesterday, Oct. 12, 1876 they were joined in matrimony at Milton by the Rev. Archdeacon Reid. Mrs. Hazard formerly Miss Elizabeth DesBrisay, daughter of Leslock DesBrisay of Richibucto N. B. later of Charlottetown.

Where later they enjoyed a smoker and musicale.

The high esteem in which the people of Charlottetown hold Prof. F. T. Watkins, and the appreciation they have for the highest class of music, were at once made evident by the capacity attendance at the Grand Evening Concert given in honor of Mr. Watkins last night at the Strand Theatre.

It was under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Hertz, the Honorable the Premier and Mrs. Stewart, His Worship Mayor and Mrs. Muir, and it was tendered by the musical fraternity of the city in token of their appreciation of Prof. Watkins' service and support during his residence here, as pianist, organist, and composer. It was quite fitting that several of the numbers on the program should be of the Professor's own composition, and those were among those that were most appreciated by the audience, to judge from the applause.

The best that Charlottetown can offer in the way of musical talent assisted at and contributed to the success of the concert, which was undoubtedly one of the best that has ever been heard here. The smoothness and ease with which the program was carried out testified to long hours of practice by the performers, and perfect organization on the part of those who had the entertainment under their direction.

The late Mrs. Moorehead was a daughter of the late Capt. Thomas and Mrs. Walsh and was born at Souris in 1843. In her girlhood she attended Prince of Wales College and Normal School, where she became qualified as a school teacher, which profession she followed for a number of years. She was united in marriage with Joseph Moorehead in 1872, and out of that union were born eight children, of whom three predeceased her some years ago. Walsh, who administered to her the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church, and who reconciled her to her last end. The funeral which took place Sept. 28th to St. Dunstan's Cathedral, was followed by a large cortege, which showed the esteem in which she was held. The pallbearers were: Messrs. John Donohoe, John Collins, George McDonald, D. H. Murchison, R. B. McKinley, William McKinley. Services at the church were conducted by Rev. Father Sluott, and at the grave by Rev. P. W. V. A., etc.

Mr. Muir said it was to be somewhat regretted that this modern age, with its hurry and restlessness, gave so little time for quiet rest and the reading of books. It was also an age of specialists, and people found less time than they ever did for the study of the works of men who wrote about the deep
