SHOP EARLY TONIGHT to allow the clerks to take in the big hockey match at 9.15.

BACK FROM MAGDALENS—Pilot Walter Fowler returned yesterday afternoon from the Magdalen Islands, where he brought the mails from the city early this week and was detained until yesterday by weather conditions.

TONIGHT'S GAME BETWEEN Abbies and Hawks will start at 9.15 p. m. This is being done to accommodate shoppers and permit everyone to attend. Shop early please.

DEFEATIST PROPAGANDA IS being circulated around Charlottetown to the effect that the Abbies are not anxious to win to-night's game. The team management desire to state in the most emphatic terms that a victory is absolutely essential and that every man will go on the ice in this as in every game, with instructions to win.

SOCIAL ENJOYED—A very enjoyable social was held in the Central Christian Sunday School Room last evening by the Young People's Class of the Church, and a number of friends. A programme of games, stunts and novel performances was entered into heartily by all present. After a brief sing-song refreshments were served. The social was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne and The King.

CAMERON-LAVERS—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church Manse on Wednesday afternoon, December 21st, when Rev. E. H. Ramsay united in holy bonds of matrimony, Florence Catherine, eldest daughter of Mrs. Sidney Cameron, of Margate and Mr. Earle Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lavers, of Georgetown. The happy couple were unattended. The bride looked charming in a beautiful gown of blue and white, trimmed with ivory and blue, with hat and accessories to match. After the ceremony, the happy young couple motored to the bride's aunt, Mrs. John Godfrey, North Wiltshire, where a number of friends of the bride and groom sat down to a bounteous wedding supper, prepared in Mrs. Godfrey's best style. After a few social hours, each one departed to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Lavers many years of happy wedded bliss. The bride was the recipient of many lovely gifts. The young couple will reside in Charlottetown. (Summerside papers please copy).

THE REGULAR MEETING of the Young People's Department of Trinity United Church was held on Friday evening with 79 members present. The devotional period was led by Miss Lella Morris, assisted by Miss Freda Colwill, pianist, and Miss Minnie Leavitt, violinist. Dr. Ramsay told a brief and very effective story about Stradavarius the famous violin maker. The vice-president, Mrs. Ted Chaudier, conducted the short business period. It was decided to accept the invitation from the Marshfield-Dunstaffnage Department to visit them on Monday, February 13th. An announcement regarding the class in Present Day Problems which is to be definitely organized on the next night of meeting was made by Professor Lloyd Shaw. The members then dispersed to the regular study classes, after which they re-assembled in the Social hall for an excellent Mock Trial presented by a number of the members. A social half hour brought the meeting to a close.

Do you notice anything peculiar about the word SCOUT. Why most of it is OUT. This cold weather is apt to cause us to forget it and to stay indoors too much. Well now try and make more of it in future and go for hikes as often as possible. Do not wait for the troop, but go with your Patrol Leader or No. 3 of your patrol, or any one of the bunch. Tracking will give you a lot of interest in the great "Out of Doors." A knowledge of the ways of wild nature is a priceless possession, giving zest to life. In search of it we are lured into the woods and dales where our powers of observation are brought into play and developed. People who dwell in cities sometimes look upon the countryside as being isolated and lonely but this is because they have not yet learned to know the many wild folk of the woods nor to read "books in running brooks, sermons in stones." Once launched upon this ocean of discovery, however, they will not experience a moment's dullness for Nature is never stagnant and each day offers some new riddle to be solved. This is the day of cross-word puzzles. You will find the outdoors of the country filled up with far more interesting problems than any of the common cross-word puzzles. Start right away and see what you can find in the way of tracks.

Father: "How many miles to a gallon?" Mother: "What color is the upholstery?" Son: "How fast will she go?" Daughter: "Has it a nice-sounding horn?" Neighbors: "How can they afford it?"—Railroad Trainman.

What to do with boys is a problem of over-increasing perplexity, especially in the larger cities. For many the Boy Scouts movement supplies an attractive and effective answer, and anything that benefits the boy, the future citizen of a community, must also benefit the community.

The Boy Scouts movement helps to form and build up character through recreational education carried on to a large extent in the great healthy school of Out-of-Doors. It works, not through a code of "don'ts" or a code of regulations, but by providing natural, interesting and well-directed channels of activity for the boy's own impulses, in following which his character is shaped toward its best possibilities in efficient manhood and citizenship. "On my honor" is its corner-stone, and one of the laws in its code of honor most frequently emphasized is, "A good turn to someone every day." In many cases Scouting discovers to the boy his lifelong vocation. When a second-class Scout he may begin working for the first six of a long list of proficiency badges, and as he goes on he may acquire an elementary but practical knowledge of surveying, gardening, bookbinding, prospecting, plumbing, telegraphing, wireless, music, photography, farming, mining, metal working and other subjects. In practice Scouting develops the spirit and resourcefulness which characterized the pioneers of Canada.

Boy Scouts should appeal to all classes in the community, for, while its program may readily be used as supplementary to that of any church or other religious body, Scouting is strictly non-sectarian in principle and character.

WALTER ELLIOT, Goucher Makes Statement

HALIFAX, Feb. 10—(C.P.)—While the announcement that the British Ministry of Agriculture will not remove its embargo against Canadian potatoes because of the Colorado beetle is disappointing, the decision is not as serious as if it were directed against some other agricultural products, in the opinion of Hon. O. P. Goucher, Minister of Agriculture for Nova Scotia.

"As a matter of fact the British market for potatoes is generally too low priced to be of permanent value to Canadian farmers," he said. "It has been only in occasional years that it has offered a profitable outlet. Hence, even if the embargo were removed, it would not be good policy for Canadian farmers to annually grow potatoes for that market."

"On the other hand, Canada does depend annually upon the British market for sales of apples, butter, cheese, bacon, wheat, grains, etc., and hopes to find a permanent market there for beef, poultry, eggs, etc., all of which are much more dependable marketwise than potatoes."

"In my judgment, it is much better for Canadian farmers to aim to supply the British market with these products than to build hopes on the very uncertain potato market."

EMBARGO

"I can only ask you to believe that it is with very real regret and after the most anxious thought that I have arrived at the decision that the prohibition cannot be removed and I hope that you will appreciate that it is the only policy that I can pursue consistently with my responsibilities in connection with plant tests and diseases. It is a generally recognized policy that has been consistently followed by my predecessors in regard to all countries where the beetle exists and, much as I should like to, I cannot see my way to make any exception even in your case."

"Mr. Fryer has also reported to me the measures which you contemplate in order to prevent the export to this country of apples infested with the apple fruit fly. Much to our pleasure, it has not so far been necessary for us to place any restrictions on apples imported from the Dominion. The discovery of an infested consignment last October, was, we hope, only an isolated case; and after considering Mr. Fryer's account of the steps you are taking, I have decided that it will not be necessary to impose any restrictions during the 1933 season unless the sampling of consignments on arrival in this country reveals the presence of the pest."

"Yours very truly, WALTER ELLIOT"
