GAVE FIRST AID—In connection with the deplorable auto accident on Tuesday morning, it might be said that first aid was most capably given by Mrs. (Dr.) MacMillan, Dr. Zella Clark and Miss Clark, who are visiting at the Experimental Station, and by the Sisters of Martha who accompanied Mrs. MacMillan from the funeral. These ladies, fortunately all trained nurses, who arrived on the scene some time before the city doctors could get there, took charge of the situation and with clearness of thought and quickness of action supervised the removal of the injured men and gave first aid.

PERSONAL

Mr. J. C. Keating, manager of the Moncton Times accompanied by Mrs. Keating and Mr. and Mrs. A. Weldon, Moncton, motored to the city yesterday. They are remaining a few days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lowther, the latter being a grandniece of Mr. Weldon.

That Body Of Yours

mind as whetting or sharpening is to the scythe."
If you spend all your time in recreation or sharpening no work will be done.
If you spend all your time working or mowing your work will not be as good, as "clean cut" as it would be if you stopped to recreate, to sharpen.
The other suggestions for a successful vacation were:
To do what you would like to do for two or three weeks.
To rest the first two days of your vacation.
To plan about packing, accommodation, railway or boat tickets, so far ahead that there is no exhausting rush at the last minute which tries you out mentally and physically just when you are ready to enjoy yourself.

Now the ideal time to take a vacation is before you are too tired.

As mentioned before "an hour of sleep before midnight is worth two after midnight."

Is this true?
Yes because when you stop work, have an evening of reading, or attend a meeting of any kind, and get off to bed when you are not exhausted, but just nicely tired, you will need about twenty to thirty per cent less sleep than if you continue to work or stay up until you are completely exhausted.

So a vacation taken before you are too tired is better, other things being equal, than waiting till the end of the summer.

Where to go is not for me to say, because the seaside, the mountains, the quiet of the country, the whirl of the big city, all have their attractions for different individuals, and to go where you want to go, and do what you want to do, with the boy or girl spirit within you, is the ideal way to spend a vacation.
