AT CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE

Singing, dancing, dimples flashing even when tears are clinging to her lashes, Shirley Temple opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday in her new Twentieth Century-Fox triumph, "Dimples," the grandest story Shirley has ever had and the outstanding hit in her parade of successes.

As a little minstrel, harmonizing with street singers, playing every role in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" single-handed, starting in a minstrel show and mothering and caring for her irresponsible and incorrigible guardian, Frank Morgan, Shirley shares with you her love and laughter, tears and thrills, trials and triumphs.

In addition to Frank Morgan, Shirley's supporting cast includes Helen Westley, Robert Kent, Astrid Allyon, Delma Byron, the Hall Johnson Choir and the inimitable Stepin Fetchit.

Shirley with her charms and smiles, captivates a wealthy woman, Helen Westley, who wants to adopt her. Miss Westley offers Morgan $5,000 if he will permit Shirley to come and live with her. Morgan indignantly refuses—but one of his escapades forces him to accept the offer, although Shirley's heart is breaking.

Before the conclusion however, Shirley with her songs, smiles and dances, straightens matters out, scores a triumphant success on the stage, and brings happiness to two young lovers.

Pioneers And Soviets Play 3-9 Draw In Opening Game Of League's Second Section

In the opener of the second section of the Summerside Baseball League last night the Pioneers and Soviets fought tooth and nail for eight batted innings but were no further ahead at the end as the score board read 3-9. Pitchers came a dime a dozen as the Pioneers shelled two for fifteen hits while the Soviets combed three more for 12.

Each team had one big inning, the Soviets nominating the second as the frame in which to train their big guns getting to Tubby Gay for four singles, two walks and a costly error which allowed them five runs. The Pioneers left their final rally until the seventh when they poked out six lusty single base blows which turned in to five runs and tying up the old ball game.

Walter Arsenault started on the mound but the ace right hander lasted only 3 1-3 innings during which time he had been touched for seven hits and three runs. Durant came in to replace Arsenault and got along well until the Pioneers uprising in the seventh. Alwyn Gay began the pitching duty for the Pioneers making his first appearance this season. Tubby Gay pitched good ball with the exception that he showed a trifle tendency to wildness, and retired in favor of Williams in the fourth. Williams promptly retired the side and blanked the Soviets until the seventh when with men on first and second and one out he retired in favor of Dods, Lidstone going behind the bat. Hunter struck out after Casey had walked, filling the bases, bringing up J. Wedge with three on and two out. Before Wedge could get a chance to bat however, Phillips made a perfect peg to the plate to nab Arsenault and sent him home. Both teams went down in order in the eighth. Williams and E. Phillips emerged as heroes of the game, the former pitching brilliantly in the relief role and also batting three for four, the latter batted in the tying run with his third hit in four trips.

MARKET BOARD

REVIEW OF YEAR

"We have arrived at another milestone in our Livestock Marketing Board operations and it has again become my duty and privilege, as Secretary, to report on the activities of our Marketing Organization for the past year, or rather, the eleven month period ending March 31, 1937." Mr. W. A. Gilles, secretary manager of the Marketing Board declared in his annual report. "In doing so, it is not my intention to weary you with a lengthy dissertation on problems which when encountered may have occasioned considerable worry and concern, but which today have passed on and are more or less in the 'forgotten' discard," he continued. "I wish rather, to give a brief account of our stewardship as covering the period under review, and such problems as may be by nature and habit of a perennial and recurring tendency. We have endeavored to keep records, more in detail than ever before, and our findings as tallied up for the year you will find in condensed form on the various sheets comprising our complete report, as submitted to you.

"During the past year, quarterly meetings of the Board of Directors were held and interim reports submitted. These meetings were very useful, and of considerable value to the management, in that advice and leadership sought and given, served as a stimulus to further and greater effort.

Hog Volume Increase

"The volume of hogs handled during the past year shows a considerable increase over that of last year, and while a portion of this increase may be due to increased production, yet we believe that the major part thereof is due to the greater publicity given as to our existence as an organization, and the increased amount of money this year, and to advertising in various ways, and, to direct for a moment, we think it only fair to express our conviction that the most immediate, widespread and effective response to our advertising efforts came from the use we made of our local newspapers, and that there is no better advertising medium. We appreciate this fact, and also the measure of 'free advertising' enjoyed through generous 'News' references to our operations, appearing from time to time in these papers.

Surplus Reported

"You will observe from the financial statement, that receipts from all sources have been equal to expenditure, with a moderate surplus of $425.50 remaining to the good. We have mentioned on other occasions similar to the one we are now experiencing, that the object of your management is not to accumulate surpluses, but rather to economize in cost of operation, and return to the producer the highest net proceeds for his livestock that we can possibly send. It would have been a simple matter to show a much larger surplus than we do today, but there is only one way by which that could be done, and that is by holding back from the producer a portion of what we send him for his livestock, or by charging a higher price for his purchases of various supplies.

"Our accumulated surplus to date amounts to approximately $950.00, but it is pretty well tied up in office equipment, and supplies necessary to the efficient and expeditious conduct of business. We cannot see why in the years immediately before us, we cannot gradually build up a financial reserve that will give us confidence in the face of any possible emergency. Our overhead office expense this past year is approximately the same as last year, although our incidental expenditures and office duties have been materially increased.

"We find from calculations made, that the average price paid this

Weaner Pigs

"Some attention has been devoted to the marketing of weaner pigs again this year, and while the total shipments will possibly be lower than that of last year, yet we feel that the activities of the Board in this connection have been instrumental in maintaining a higher price level than otherwise would be the case, had the channels of trade. We have been able to pay $8.00 a pair for weaner pigs suitable to the export trade to which we cater, and have a small margin of profit to show on this transaction.

"The Nova Scotia and Cape Breton markets did not materialize to the same extent that we anticipated earlier in the season, and we attribute this mainly to the fact that these importing centres of other days are catering more to their own needs and this spring produced and distributed a large percentage of their young pig requirements. This is a natural consequence more aggravated as the years go by, and it may be said that the same possibilities apply in connection with Newfoundland. It is our candid opinion that farmers who breed and produce litters for next spring's export, may find it rather difficult to dispose of as large quantities. It is only natural that these countries should endeavor to produce their own requirements, rather than pay the high price that is being usually asked for Island pigs.

Feeds

"The high price of mill feeds last fall undoubtedly had a considerable effect on the lack of quality and finish of hogs being shipped to the packing plants.

Some grown grains, although reasonably abundant in volume, were considered by many farmers to be too valuable to use as hog feed. In view of the high price of imported mill feeds it, apparently, was deemed prudent to restrict the amount fed to livestock of different kinds. The Marketing Board in its attempt to assist in solving the feed question, discovered that into the Province at a very reasonable price in comparison with the value of other feeds and at a worth while saving in price as against that paid through the regular channels of trade.

Direct Payments

"The constitution adopted at the annual meeting a year ago provided for and required that direct payment for livestock be made to each shipper from the Board Office, instead of through the S. O. retailers, as was the custom for many years. First of October this change was put into effect, and since that time, cheques made payable at par, have gone out in settlement for stock, direct to the individual farmer, participating in each shipment. We believe this has speeded up settlement to a certain extent and is otherwise proving a more satisfactory arrangement than the former practice followed in the preceding years.

Grading Condition

"A rather disquieting condition is exhibited in the grading report for the past season. During the year 16,885 hogs were marketed (exclusive of sows) averaging approximately 151 lbs., each, carcass weight, 57 per cent were within the choice weights, and of these 43.1 per cent graded select, 43 per cent of the total shipped were outside the weights.

"Comparing this with last year we find that out of a total of 13,549 hogs, averaging 156 lbs., each carcass weight, 56 per cent were within the choice weights and 46 per cent thereof graded select. 61.8 per cent of the total shipped were outside the weights. That is, there were 18 hogs less out of every hundred within the desired weights, graded select in 1936-37 than was the case last year. Had we maintained last year's grading record we would have had 1728 more select than there actually were. At $1.00 a head premium this represents $1,728.00 lost on this one item. In addition, the cuts imposed on off weight hogs, at the usual average per head, shows a further loss of $6,150.00. Taking these amounts together, we find approximately an $8,000.00 loss, that might well be avoided, by marketing better finished hogs, at a marketable weight.

Lambs

"Lamb handling for the year shows a further decline, both as to numbers and gross value, although the price per cwt., was higher than that paid for the past number of years. It is difficult to estimate whether the usual percentage of lambs was marketed co-operatively or otherwise, but it is the opinion of your management that the lamb industry is experiencing a rather serious decline, gradual but sure, and its present status and tendency constitutes a problem that must be coped with, if the industry is to be saved from ultimate extinction.

Cattle

"For the past number of years the Marketing Board has been anxious to assist farmers, who produce beef cattle, to find access to a wider range of markets than the rather restricted outlet heretofore at their disposal. We have
