SUPERB - SILVERS

Prizewinning Prolific Polygamus Pups

SUPERB SILVERS have been bred from a few outstanding individuals. My original Prize male sired a world champion as well as a champion female. Also at least twelve of his offspring won prizes at last year's show, for myself and others.

Practically every one of my adult females are either daughters or grand daughters of this male or his 1st prize brother. He was out of a litter of seven and sired two litters of seven this year. Every adult male in my ranch is Polygamus, I never had a pup refuse to double mate. My foxes are line bred and in-bred and still hold their size.

The pups have wonderful color, texture, density and length of fur with exceptionally long guard fur... If you intend going into the fox business start with good foundation animals. If you want some new blood which will not "pull down" your own standard call in and see my stock. Every pup has 3 to 5 Generations Prize Blood. Prices and terms reasonable.

SWINDLERS ILL OF HEALTH ARE CAUGHT ENDS LIFE

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 24—Three men were arrested last night in connection with a $200,000 distillery financing scheme in which, police said, a Boston investment house was swindled of $10,000.

The three men held were C. Rodney Fawcett of 15166 Sherbrooke St. Montreal, also known as Watkin B. K. Leadbetter, John F. Lehane, alias Harry Lane, 28, of Cambridge and John Sullivan, 34, of Montreal.

Police said Leadbetter introduced himself as Sir C. Rodney Fawcett to officials of the M. J. Meagher Investment Company Inc. and that after telling of millions to be made in whiskey distilleries in Canada, induced the firm to sign an agreement to issue $20,000,000 in notes which he agreed to float in the United States and Canada. The funds realized were to be used in purchasing distilleries.

According to police officials a member of the Meagher firm was taken to Montreal where it was alleged he was shown distilleries. After his return to Boston the firm told police they were sent telegrams from various cities asking for money to pay expenses, and that they complied with each request.

When the amount reached about $10,000 members of the firm became suspicious, called in police and their investigation led to the arrest of the trio.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 24—James Lang Tonkinson, 22, of Aberdeen, Scotland, with relatives in Halifax, N. Manderson lived at Darnley Bridge and used the entrance there to go out to the fishing grounds. JAP LEADER IS LOCATED

(By Glenn Babb, Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

TSITSIHAR, Manchuria, Nov. 24—General Mah Chan-Shan, Chinese commander, who was driven out of Tsitsihar, has been definitely located at Hallun where several Tsitsihar members of the former Tsitsihar government have joined him, possibly for the purpose of setting up a new Heilungkiang provincial government.

Chinese sources assert General Mah still commands 15,000 troops which are divided between Hallun and Patchuan, but it is regarded as unlikely that he will attempt to recapture Tsitsihar.

The Japanese general has spread his force out farwise north of Tsitsihar and reports are that he hopes to advance in case the Japanese withdraw.

A measure of stability seems to have been established in northern Manchuria in the military sense although sub-surface politics are boiling.

MOON TRIP NEXT MARVEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—Professor John Q. Stewart of Princeton University believes that in 100 years our descendants will travel to the moon in rocket-propelled ships, and he describes such a journey in his contribution to "Science Today." The book is a collection of subjects of current interest, ranging from interplanetary study to race problems and the care of national parks.

Professor Stewart predicts that before 2050 A.D. man may travel to the moon in about six days. The scientist explains that a vehicle for carrying men to the moon must be designed for a speed of several miles a second and must be equipped with a power plant developing billions of kilowatts.

The scientist estimates the cost of the rocket ship which he sees taking man on his first trip into deep space, at $2,000,000,000. Such a journey, he prophesies, "is only a step with'n the cramped confines of the solar system" and should be the beginning of far more ambitious adventures into the far-off heavens.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. CUTHBERT W. SEALE

The death of Mr. Cuthbert William Seale of this City occurred at his residence, School Street, on Thursday, November 5th, and, although not unexpected for some time the announcement of his passing brought feelings of sorrow and regret to his many friends. The late Mr. Seale was a son of the late Reverend Frederic S. Seale, a distinguished clergyman of the Church of England and born at Waterperry in Devon, England, the scenic beauty of which he so often loved to describe. He was a man of intelligence and culture, well educated and exceptionally well read. Coming to this country when only a very young man he entered the employ of the late Richard Grant and Co., at that time the principal representative here of the International Harvester Co., of Chicago. By his strict attention to duty, and by his invariable courtesy, he soon won the confidence of the firm, as well as the friendship and respect of the people throughout the province. In the year 1908 Mr. Seale became a convert to the Roman Catholic Church so near in many respects the transition was easy.

During the intervening years he was a valued member of St. Dunstan's Choir. He also was a member of the Holy Name and Catholic Truth Societies. In fact it was owing largely to his suggestion and initiation that the latter was established here. He had been Recording Secretary of Branch 216 C. M. B. A. for a number of years and he was ever faithful and zealous in the performance of the fraternal, religious and charitable duties enjoyed by this Society upon its members. Very truly may it be said that Mr. Seale was a worthy citizen and an honorable man in every sphere of life in which he had been placed. During his long and protracted illness he was visited by his pastor the Right Rev. Monsignor Maurice McDonald and also by the Rev. Father McCarthy from whom he received the last rites of the church only a few hours previous to the end. His death was peaceful. Surrounded by devoted friends with the faces and forms of those whom he loved around him his pure and gentle spirit winged its flight to its eternal home.

The funeral was on Saturday morning to St. Dunstan's Basilica where a High Mass of Requiem was sung by Rev. Father McCarthy who also rendered the funeral service, assisted by members of the choir. Many mourners were present to pay their last tribute of friendship and respect. The service at the grave was conducted by the Rev. Father Farrell. The pall bearers were: Mr. Justice Arsenault, Messrs. Samuel Kennedy, Jonathan West, James H. Monaghan, Harry Hyde and John Callaghan.

Numerous Mass Cards and Spiritual Offerings as well as messages of Sympathy and several beautiful tributes were gratefully received. Besides his widow, formerly Miss Mary A. Hughes of Avondale a family of one son Fred and two daughters Marie and Hilda are left to cherish his memory. He also leaves two brothers Mr. Frederic P. and Reginald in Western Canada and three brothers and three sisters in England.—R. I. P.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. Mary Seale and family desire through the press to thank all those who showed many acts of kindness to their dear Husband and Father during his long illness. Also the kind neighbors who rendered assistance to them in their recent bereavement and to gratefully acknowledge the numerous Mass Cards, Spiritual Bouquets, Floral Tributes and Messages of Sympathy received after his death. 10433-11-25-11.

Scientists Would Put Coal On Menu

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 23—You may make a meal, an adequate one out of the subterranean wealth of Nova Scotia, if the eminent German scientists in the service of the Gesellschaft fuer Kohlenclinik are right.

Commenting on a recent announcement of the scientists, an editorial writer wrote this for the Boston Transcript.

"It is credibly announced that they have succeeded in producing protein substances from coal; and protein we know (or think we do) is the food ingredient of eggs, meat, cereals and milk. Already a surprisingly long list of medicinal and even dietary substances have been discovered in coal. Our hearts beat higher—or lower, as the case may be—as the result of the use of various coal tar preparations. Pain is wonderfully abated by them. Strange things, indeed, come in some shape from coal—benzol and benzene, pyridine, res'n, isoquinoline and various hydro carbons: Why not proteins? If Germany is right, here are the proteins already. Why not a pleasant little dish of them with your coffee, and a truce to the cow, the hen and the grist mill?"

"It has long been a common aspiration to substitute a synthetic pill for the usual complicated bill of fare of humanity. Instead of three expensive and bothersome meals per day why not a little box pills in the vest pocket, of which you take one, if you are a moderate eater, and two if you are especially hearty, at the usual meal time, and with no need at all for a cook or a kitchen, a dining room, or even a 'breakfast nook'? The trouble about an exclusive pill diet is that, owing to the alimentary history of our species, there is need for bulk—for what, in the feeding of (other) animals, we denominate 'roughage' in order to make digestion and assimilation normal and complete. We cannot safely depend on highly concentrated foods. But is it not possible that the newly discovered coal protein products will overcome this difficulty, if some of the original coal is combined with the derived protein? There is bulk enough assuredly, in coal; and if some of the original yield of the mines, either anthracite or bituminous, be neatly ground up, nicely fried, and served with the proteins, the problem of 'roughage' may be met. Already we can see the breakfast neatly and also sufficiently served with a dish of toothsome anthracite of bituminous.

"The economical question—the one, for instance whether the break fast of coal will be as inexpensive as the one which is carefully and chiefly composed of oatmeal mush and a soft boiled egg—may be answered by the apparently diminishing use of coal for industrial and heating purposes. We are heating our houses with oil, and turning our wheels with hydro electric power. So much the less use for coal; but if we can eat this coal, a new and prodigious outlet for the product of the mines indicated: All hands for the coal breakfast!"
