

WILLIE WESTINGHOUSE GREETES THE NEW YEAR WITH A NEW INVENTION

Dear Tommy—Papa engaged a table for New Year's Eve at a Broadway restaurant. So I made a spring rattle to have some fun with.

Papa insisted on manipulating it, and was so anxious he could hardly wait for 12 o'clock.

At the stroke of 12 he touched the button. Gracious, Tommy, he made more noise than all the rest put together!

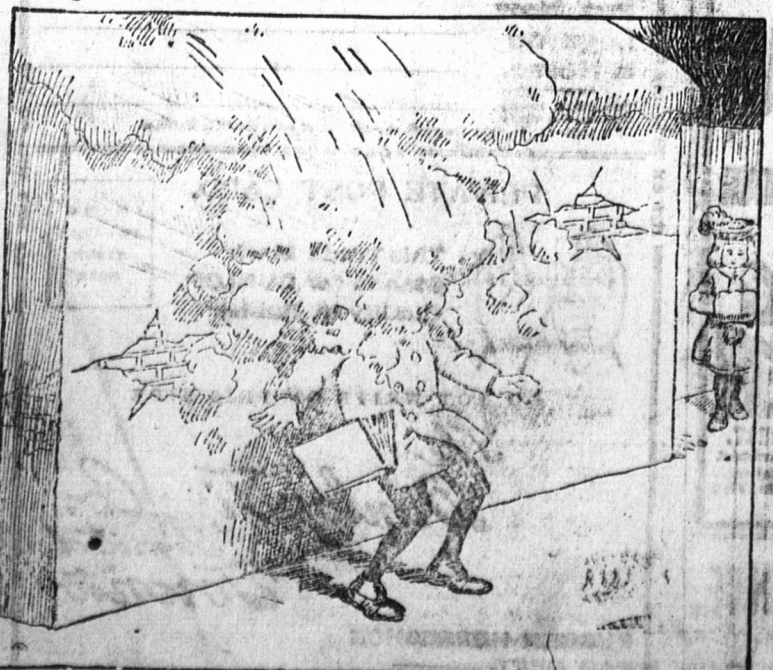

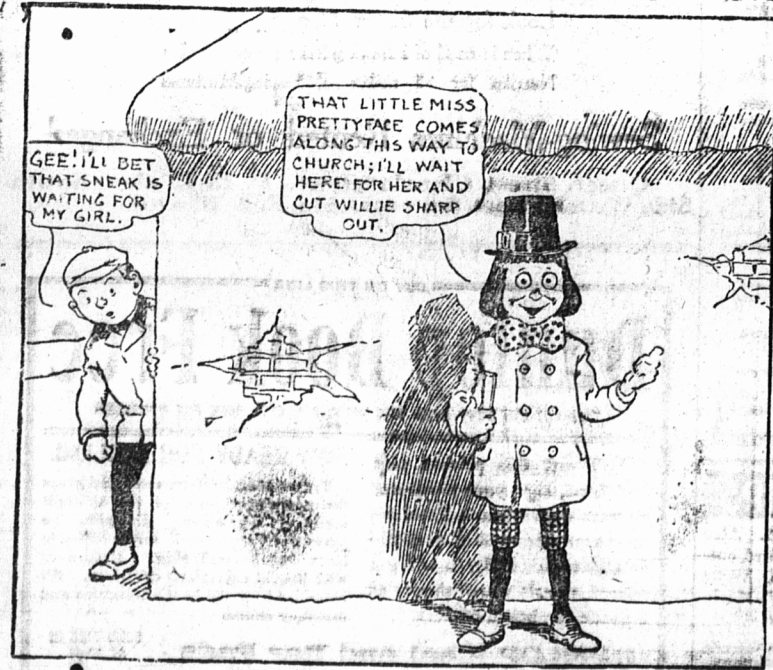

After a bit Papa got tired, but the thing wouldn't stop, and the waiter and guests came running up to our table.

Some of them tried to help stop it, and they all got mixed up together.

My, wasn't Papa angry when the waiter brought the bill! Yours, etc., Willie.
