DUARTE, Ont., Oct. 30.—He knew the world was round—oh, and so he lost his job as teacher in one of the Kent county's schools. That is the sad story related by a minister in one of Chatham's pulpits on Sunday to illustrate his contention that it is difficult to teach advanced ideas to exponents of the old school of thought. The minister who told the story was Rev. L. E. Gosting of this place, and when told this morning that some of his hearers doubted that a teacher had actually been fired for supporting the spherical theory he stoutly affirmed that it was indeed so, and that he could give names if necessary.
