HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATED.—Hallowe'en was observed with considerable noise and fun by youngsters about the city last night, but no serious damage was reported to the police, who patrolled the streets vigilantly. Two panes of glass in the store building of Mr. Frank McKenna in the east-end of the city were broken and a number of doorsteps and gates were removed. Gangs of boys congregated at various street corners, masquerading in unrecognizable garments, with masks and pumpkin lanterns, and kept up a lugubrious racket. A number of college students celebrated the event with an impromptu parade to the homes of some of the professors, where speeches were called for and given with good humor.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, CRAPAUD.—A harvest festival service was held in St. John's Anglican Church at Crapaud last evening. The church was beautifully decorated with the fruits of the field, the altar and entrance to church being decorated with flowers. The service was read by Mr. Rand, lay reader in charge, and the lessons by Rev. E. M. Malone, priest incumbent of St. Peter's Cathedral. Instead of an Anthem, Rev. Mr. Malone and Mr. Walter Hyndman sang solos, also a duet which were appreciated by the very large congregation present. Rev. Mr. Malone preached the sermon, taking as his text, 35th verse 4th chapter, St. John: "Lift up your eyes and look on the fields, for they are white, all ready to harvest." The sermon was one which will be remembered by all who heard it, and dealt with the lessons to be learned through the harvest of nature, the harvest of souls and the last great harvest. The whole service was of a most inspiring nature and Mr. Rand and Mr. Hyndman were to be congratulated. Previous to the service at Hallowe'en Tea was served in the Orange Hall at Crapaud. The proceeds of which are for church purposes. A number of people from Charlottetown were present both at the service and at the Tea.

War Monuments Keep Marble Cutters Busy

(United Press.) BRITAIN, France, Oct. 31.—The task of war along the river Meuse, between Verdun and this little city, where there stands a monument commemorating the capture of the place Oct. 9, 1918, by the Third American Corps, furnished evidence of the stimulation that the war has given to the marble cutting trade.

Thirty thousand monuments have already been erected by the French to their dead and this department of the Meuse, where the French fought the Battle of Verdun and where the Americans fought the battles of the Argonne and Meuse, has its share of them. An enumeration of the positions around Verdun and along the Meuse where there occurred actions deserving commemoration would be tiresome. The marble cutter has work ahead for him there for many years.

It is in this region, also that the Americans find more occasions than anywhere else to commemorate the participation of their troops in the war. It was here that the American forces, as separate units did the greater part of their fighting. Some monuments have been put up by American divisions and American corps.

German monuments are more numerous than American. They were erected during hostilities. Where they mark the resting places of German soldiers they are respected, but those that seem to have been erected to the glory of the German armies are being destroyed.

Thousands of Jobs Are Open To Lumbermen

(Canadian Press.) MONTREAL, Oct. 30.—Thousands of jobs are waiting to be filled in lumbering districts of Ontario and Quebec according to an operator who said today that a difficulty there was to find men for jobs instead of jobs for men as is the case in some parts of Canada.

As a consequence of the lack of help work has been delayed in the woods for the last month.

"Souls For Sale" Now Playing At Prince Edward

A SENSATIONAL STORY OF MODERN PICTURE LIFE

A photoplay that is far out of the beaten paths is Goldwyn's new Rupert Hughes' film, "Souls for Sale," adapted and directed by the author from his novel of life among the motion picture colony in Hollywood, which is now on view at the Prince Edward Theatre. This is undoubtedly one of the biggest and most important productions of the season; it is on a bigger scale than anything Mr. Hughes has hitherto done for the screen. He has conscientiously selected a theme peculiarly adaptable to the films and capable of a broader and more spectacular treatment than he customarily gives to his themes.

The introductory movie scenes in the desert are picturesque and most human—in fact, the movie people introduced are always human and are distinct individuals, not film types. The spectacular climax in the burning of the big circus tent, in a great storm, gives a thrill that will long remember. The photography is splendid.

The cast is one of the best that Goldwyn has ever assembled. In the six big featured roles are Eleanor Boardman, Mae Busch, Barbara La Marr, Frank Mayo, Richard Dix and Lew Cody. Among a score of others are Arthur Hoyt, Sylvia Ashton, Aileen Pringle, Margaret Bourne, Forrest Robinson and David Imboden. Truly a photo-

Bavaria Would

house will have to stand impotently side and see the imperial throne pass to the Wittelsbach family. But the only way the Bavarian kingdom can be established at present is for Bavaria to separate from the German Republic. Once that were done, there would be an irresistible tendency, in all probability, for the republic to break up into a number of states. Bavaria would have to reunite these parts to create the German Empire afresh and to place the Wittelsbachs on the imperial throne.

But the French Government would not permit this reunion. France attributes all of her present ills to the fact that the government of Napoleon III, allowed Bismarck to unite the German Empire states into the Empire. France would work against a Bavarian Bismarck and it is practically certain there would be no repetition of the blunder of Napoleon III.

Therefore, the Bavarians may decide not to separate from the republic. Instead, if they are wise and not impetuous, they will continue to gather increasing influence at Munich. They will do everything possible to keep Germany together. Then, when their reactionaries believe the time has come, the republic will be overthrown and will be replaced by an empire, with the Wittelsbachs ruling, not only in Munich, but also in Berlin.

Political Situation

Political circles cite the refusal of the labor federation to come to the rescue of the ultra reds in connection with efforts to proclaim a general strike in Saxony and throughout Germany in order to frustrate the Berlin government's attempt to establish a lawful government in Saxony.

The fact that the Chancellor is making headway with his reform measures has also served as a deterrent to Socialist antagonism in the present critical situation and to assume a hostile attitude it is due to the moderate leaders who have been persuading their wavering following that the government must be spared parliamentary opposition because of the problems confronting it at home and abroad.

Some of the leading Socialists severely criticize the government's action towards Saxony.

Great Promise

Conference is likely to be complete agreement with the view of the treaty-making powers avowed and practiced by Canada. A sub-committee has been sitting for two weeks in the Foreign Office considering the matter and it is believed will present report accepted and confirming the procedure followed by Canada in the Halifax Treaty. This will recognize the right of the Dominions to make their own political treaties with other countries and will involve also the right of the Dominions to confer advice to the King and request that treaties be limited in their effect, that the ratification treaty be submitted to the King by the Dominion making it. There also will be recommendations that the nation making the treaty should advise other British nations in order that in the event of their interests being directly affected they be given the opportunity of co-operation.

The question has not yet come before the full Conference but there is every likelihood that the report covering commercial matters will be acceptable. It is reported that the officials of the recognition of the diplomatic independence of the Dominions. The only questioning came from the Prime Minister of one Dominion, who held out for the old view that treaties only made by the Foreign Office should bind the whole Empire.

The necessary consequence is that this recognition of the treaty-making powers of the Dominions is equal to recognition of the rights of the Dominions to attend to their own foreign affairs. The prospects therefore are bright that this Conference will mark a very substantial advance towards the transformation of the Empire into an alliance of the Community of British nations.

See the whiter teeth appear when you combat the film

Your druggist this week has 10-Day Tubes for a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. You see its results in prettier teeth wherever you look today.

Now we urge you to learn what it means to you and yours. The test is delightful, the results are amazing. Go find them out.

The fight on film Dental science has in late years started a fight on film. Film is that vicious coat you feel. Under old brushing methods, much of it clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Fewer escaped tooth troubles, fewer bad glistening teeth, under old-time brushing methods.

Now research has discovered two effective film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful people of some 50 nations have now come to employ it, largely by dental advice.

Night-and-day aids Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—the neutralizer of mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva—put there to digest

Those factors act as tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect.

Protect the Enamel Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Only Independence Will Satisfy India Declares One Chief

(United Press.) BOMBAY, Oct. 31.—The view that Indian discontent can be remedied only by independence from British rule was forcefully expressed by Mahomed Ali Jinnah, a Mohammedan political leader, when interviewed here on the Kenya decision "India and Indians," he said, "will not command any respect as long as India remains a dependency of Great Britain."

The Kenya decision only brings home more vividly to the people of India that while in their own country they are yet a subject race it is impossible for them to establish equality of status with the white race in the administration of other parts of the British Commonwealth. The decision is clearly based upon the ground of white domination and the assumed inferiority of Indians. Until India becomes the mistress of her own house, I do not believe she has the slightest chance of ever realizing the "citizenship of the empire," no matter how often the British Government may make declarations of a desire to treat Indians as citizens, and no matter what pledges may be given.

"It is not much use passing resolutions and making long speeches, except for creating public opinion. The attainment of self-government is the only remedy for our grievances."

"I hope the Kenya session will bear some fruit and will bring about unity and co-operation between the various leaders and the people of India."

MILLIONS OF SHOOTING STARS

Though the earth has been subjected to an aerial bombardment during millions of years, it seems little the worse for its hammering.

Anyone who takes the trouble to watch a patch of sky on a clear, moonless night will see eight or ten shooting stars each hour.

It has been estimated that at least twenty million shooting stars would be visible to someone on the earth's surface if it were always dark enough and clear enough to see them.

As a shooting star, or meteor, has to be a good size to be visible at all at distances varying from forty to eighty miles, it is further computed that this number of aerial bombs must be multiplied by twenty, making the number of missiles which bombard the earth during every twenty-four hours four hundred millions.

How is it that cases of people being killed by this bombing, though it is, as exceeding, very rare? The answer is that the earth is almost bombarded by shooting stars.

World Shipbuilding Far Below Tonnage Of Pre-War Record (United Press.) LONDON, Oct. 31.—Shipbuilding in Great Britain and Ireland again shows a decrease for the quarter ended September 30, the tonnage under construction being 1,271,195 tons or 67,000 tons less than in the previous quarter, according to Lloyds Register of Shipping Returns. Making allowance for work which has been suspended for some time, amounting to 242,000 tons, the tonnage actually under construction is only 1,029,000 tons, the lowest recorded in 14 years. Tonnage launched during the quarter was 66,474 compared with 239,373 in the previous quarter as 29 vessels of 11,850 tons against 77 vessels of 241,283 tons in the June quarter.

Ex-Kaiser's Wife Injured By Unknown Person (Canadian Press.) DOORN, Holland, Oct. 30.—A stone thrown by an unknown person struck Princess Hermine on the ear while she was walking with her children last evening in the woods near the Chateau of her husband the ex-Kaiser of Germany. She was seriously hurt. Police made several arrests but guilt has not been established and the entire village is greatly upset.
