

When Travelling

Always take with you a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

The change of food and water to which those who travel are subject, often produces an attack of diarrhoea, which is as unpleasant and discomfiting as it may be dangerous.

A bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in your grip is a guarantee of safety. On the first indication of Cramps, Colic, Diarrhoea or Dysentery, a few doses will promptly check the further advance of these diseases.

As Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is being widely and shamelessly imitated, your safety lies in seeing that the full name is on every bottle you buy.

MOUNTED MEN VERSUS INFANTRY.

It has been sometimes stated, since our South African experiences, that the army of the future will be almost, if not wholly a mounted force. In support of this contention the wonderful mobility of the Boer forces and our inability to cope with them while dependent almost wholly upon infantry has been cited. But their is another side to the question. A horse requires many times as much bulk and weight of food as a man, and this food must be kept constantly available. A horse cannot submit to short rations as a man can, but speedily becomes useless under privation. To supply a thousand men and a thousand horses at a distance from their base requires a transport service sufficient to convey the supplies for three or four thousand men without horses. This matter of transport, as is well-known, is one of the serious problems of a campaign.

Numerous as are the casualties to men from shot and shell, overwork, privation and sickness, they are still more numerous among horses. In actual battle the horse is many times more likely to be wounded than his rider, on account of his greater size, and is also more easily rendered useless. In nine cases out of ten the wounded horse is as bad as dead, while thousands of wounded men take their places in the ranks again after a few days or weeks in hospital. So it happens that the number of horses in the cavalry, mounted infantry and artillery and the number of mules and oxen in the transport service that have been used up in South Africa has been almost incredible.

There is an enormous difference in the cost of outfitting and maintaining an infantry force of say ten thousand men and a like number of mounted men and their horses. The cost of transport is also doubled or trebled. And after all the horse does not fight, does not kill a single enemy in battle. He simply carries his fighting rider and enables him to move more quickly from place to place with less fatigue than he could move on foot. But even this greater celerity of movement has very serious limitations, for a mounted force may no more outmarch its transports than may an infantry force do so, and so much more food and supplies are needed for the former than for the latter. For all these reasons it is not probable that the armies of the near future will be wholly made up of mounted men. No doubt the number of mounted men will be increased as compared with the past, but the change is not likely to attain the revolutionary proportions that many have anticipated.

We read that Dean Carmichael of Montreal recently preached against the establishment of a crematory in that city. We fail to see on what grounds, religious, moral, or intellectual the crematory is to be condemned. We can see, however, that it would be easy to excite prejudices against what seems to be an innovation and change of long established custom. Incineration or cremation might require some change in the ordinary funeral services common in Christian lands, but that can hardly be used as an argument against this method of disposing of dead bodies. We are not aware of any scriptural receipt against cremation. Paul seems to speak of "giving his body to be burned" as an act of some merit, worthy to be placed in the same category of "giving his goods to feed the poor," but of course, profitless without charity. Montreal is to have its crematory, thanks to the knightly endowment of Sir William C. McDonald.

The Examiner, as usual, evades the issue raised by its statement that that the Canadian tariff "is as protective as it ever was." We challenged the accuracy of the statement, and the Examiner cannot possibly render a greater service to the Conservative party or damage the Laurier Government more than by furnishing the proof. The official facts are easily available. Under such strong inducements, even the warm weather ought not to prevent the Examiner from making good its statement—if it can.

The meeting of prohibitionists in St John to decide upon a course of action in the coming elections was not largely attended, according to the papers of that city, and failed to decide upon a definite course of action. The speeches developed considerable differences of opinion, though but few favored the formation of a third party. The prevalent view seemed to be that it would be best to endeavor to secure the nomination by both parties of candidates favoring prohibition, and in all cases to support prohibition candidates without regard to party where only one prohibitionist is put in the field. The meeting stands adjourned for further deliberation and will be again called together, with the hope of a larger attendance.

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution, but he could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered condition of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dizziness, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency. No one person will have all these symptoms at once, but any one of them calls for prompt aid for the suffering stomach.

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses from that dose until the functions of the stomach and its related organs are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear. In one word the body is in a condition of perfect health.

"I was troubled with indigestion about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Julietta, LaSalle Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write that you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' cured me."

Don't let the dealer sell you a substitute, if you want a cure. Insist on having "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets surpass all complexion powders. They make the skin healthy and the complexion clear.

SIR WILFRID AND FREE TRADE.

It has been frequently alleged that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when leader of the Opposition promised that when his party obtained power they would introduce a policy of "free trade as in England." By general consent it has been charged that this particular promise was made in a speech delivered at Winnipeg in 1894. The Ottawa Citizen, (Conservative) had repeated this statement, whereupon Mr. Molyneux, St. John, a journalist who heard the speech, questioned the accuracy of what the Citizen said. The Citizen demurred to this on the ground that Mr. St. John's memory might be at fault. Thereupon the latter furnished, and the Citizen with fairness published the shorthand report of the passage in question as it appeared in the Winnipeg Tribune on the day following the delivery of Sir Wilfrid's speech. We feel assured that many GUARDIAN readers will be interested in reading precisely what Mr. Laurier did say, and here it is:

"I tell you that as soon as we have a Liberal administration at Ottawa—I don't want to crow too soon over this event for I don't know how soon the false gods who rule from parliament will give us an election, but when they do—I don't think the people will be long in putting the Liberal party in power. And when the Liberals are in power they will at once give a measure of freedom of trade and step by step they will follow it up, and if God spares our lives we shall progress steadily till we have it as full as Great Britain has it. For the present some measures of tariff must be maintained, the thing cannot be accomplished at one stroke under the present conditions and obligations of the government, but first we shall take off the duties on the necessities of life, then raw materials and finally only such things will remain taxed as will bring the needed money into the treasury and not a cent into the pockets of monopolists."

How far the program thus laid down has been and is being carried out, and what are prospects of our reaching the indicated goal may be left for our readers to judge.

The New York Telegraph, which frequently sneers at the conduct of the war in South Africa now indulges in some frankness of expression respecting the unpleasantness in the Philippines. It says:

For two years the war has been in progress. Millions of dollars have been spent and thousands of American lives have been sacrificed. Yet it is estimated there are a greater number of natives under arms at the present time than ever before, and fighting within a few miles of Manila is daily reported.

The Toronto World contrasts the energy of the Government in the measures it has taken to check the inroads of the San Jose scale on fruit trees, and the inertness and inaction in regard to tuberculosis. The scale destroys trees and causes pecuniary loss. The tubercle bacillus destroys human lives which are of priceless value. There is no longer any doubt that by comprehensive, systematic and energetic measures the ravages of tuberculosis might be greatly restricted, but little or nothing is being done. No more important matter could engage the attention of our federal and local Governments than the suppression of "the White Plague."

TOBACCO DYSPEPSIA.

The Majority of Smokers Suffer From This Disease.

Heart Disease Follows it, Unless it be Checked—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets The Only Means of Curing it—They Never Fail.

Do you smoke? Are you tortured with Heartburn, sometimes? Is your breath short, especially after exertion, such as running upstairs, or hurrying to catch a car? Does your heart take spells of painful fluttering, or palpitation?

The majority of smokers have these symptoms, one or all, at one time or other. They all don't know that they are caused by "Tobacco Dyspepsia." But they are. And they lead to Death. The heart becomes affected, because it is in sympathy with the stomach and reflects every derangement. Heart Disease follows. Then Death comes.

There is one way of getting rid of all these ills. Only one way. But it is a sure, certain, quick, easy way. It is no secret. Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act immediately. They take on themselves the work of digestion. They digest the food, give strength and tone to the stomach, stimulate the bowels, and cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia of every form, Heartburn, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Wind on the Stomach, Foul Breath, and all Diseases of the Stomach.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in such manner that you can eat any kind of wholesome food, while using them. They cure in two or three weeks. They leave stomach and bowels in such condition that they do their work properly.
