Rebuke Handed Liberia By The League

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) GENEVA, May 19.—The League of Nations administered a sharp rebuke to the little African republic of Liberia today as the council voted to cut off all financial and economic assistance.

The future position of the country, once a refuge for former slaves and now accused of mistreating native Africans, was in doubt, the Liberian representative asked time to take the necessary action to avoid expulsion from the League.

Expulsion was mentioned by Anthony Eden, British delegate, who charged Liberia with "failed gravely to observe her obligations" as a member of the League.

The Liberian representative's statement was taken as a threat of resignation.

Captain Eden said that his government believes the United States should be consulted about Liberia's future, because of the historical and economic association between the countries.

Understanding Reached Between Premier Pattullo And The Prime Minister.

OTTAWA, May 19.—An understanding has been reached between Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and the Federal Government, and Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia with respect to the negotiations which have been going on for some weeks for a Federal loan to the province. Mr. Pattullo made this announcement tonight just prior to leaving for home after an absence of six weeks.

The Federal Government will advance money in the form of a loan from time to time to assist the Province in meeting its obligations and carry on recovery efforts in respect to work and wages. Just how much the loan will amount to ultimately is not known. The British Columbia Premier seemed satisfied with the outcome of his discussions here and said there was no reason why British Columbia should not go full speed ahead toward recovery.

Only a slight increase in the tempo of business on the Pacific Coast, he said, would make up the difference between deficits and prosperity. With respect to the relations between British Columbia and the Federal Government Mr. Pattullo issued the following statement:

"An understanding has been reached with the Dominion Government. To make the situation clear, let me say that a great deal of mis-information, both as to the position of the Province of British Columbia and my own intentions have been circulated during the past few months. I wish to repeat what I have said on previous occasions that everything which the present British Columbia Government has done has been with a desire to cooperate with Dominion authority in respect of mutual problems. On the other hand, the Dominion has indicated a desire to be helpful.

"I believe that the weight of eastern public opinion is in favor of a policy of cooperation amongst the Dominion and between the provinces individually and the Dominion as a whole."

SCORES MISLEADING PRESS RUMORS

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, May 17.—A published rumor that the Government had in mind removal entirely of the tax on sugar this fall prompted Prime Minister R. B. Bennett to make annual comments on the press of Canada in the House of Commons today. Coupled with these the Prime Minister made a strong protest on behalf of all Governments of Canada against the publication of mere rumors as news.

The matter arose when Hon. Fernand D'Amboise (Lib. St. James, Montreal), drew the attention of Mr. Bennett, in his capacity of acting Minister of Finance, to a report that the government proposed to remove the remaining one cent a pound sugar tax this autumn. He wished to know if this was correct.

"It is devoid of any foundation in fact," replied the Prime Minister, and he went on to declare that the press printing such rumors caused injury. In some countries, he said, the circulation of rumors had become so injurious that legislation had been passed making it an offence to circulate false news.

"I can only say," said the Premier, "that that story is as devoid of any foundation in fact as any story which I know of could be. Yet the effect of it will be that the next thing we will hear will be that the tax is to come back on a given day we trust you will make provisions for those who have stores on hand" and it will continue to go on in that way for weeks.

"As is known, in some countries this practice has become so great that they have passed legislation making it an offence to circulate false news of that kind, for reasons which I think commend themselves to every member in this Parliament. The result has been a curtailment of the circulation of this type of news. It is not news; it is a rumor. And it makes no difference how many times you contradict it, you can never overtake it.

"There will be people in remote parts of the country who will hear about or read these articles, and they will believe that something is contemplated. Then, if some action is taken in six months or, say, next year in the budget, it will be alleged that someone had advanced information in respect to it.

Reputations Rumor

"I can only protest, not in the name of a Government, or this government, but in the name of all governments in Canada, whose task is always great, against the circulation of rumors in the public press—and especially in view of the fact that the carriage of papers through the mails of this country represents a loss to the taxpayers of Canada of it is estimated not less than $8,000,000 per year.

"Under those circumstances I think I am not going too far when I suggest that at least those who administer the affairs of the country, whether they be a Liberal Government, a Conservative Government, or any other form of Government, are entitled to that con-

Trio Face Charge Of Murder

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DEDHAM, Mass., May 19.—Irving Miller, identified as the shooter in a loud swearing bank bandit by previous witnesses, got excited over a bird with a brown wing and called the animal rescue league, his brother-in-law, Fred Goodman testified today in Dedham Court.

While Goodman was describing the peculiarities of his relatives, the Essex County and Worcester County grand juries were returning indictments against Irving, his brother, Murton, and Abraham, who are on trial here for the slaying of a patrolman Forbes McLeod, a native of Guysboro, N. S., during a Needham bank robbery, Feb. 2.

The Essex County indictment charged the trio with the slaying of Fred Summer, a bill poster, during a theatre holdup at Lynn, while the Worcester jury indicted them for the fatal shooting of Ernest E. Clark, a Pitchburg sports goods store clerk last fall.

consideration from the public press with respect to the conduct of public business which will not allow rumors, such as that to which the Hon. member has just referred, to be circulated throughout the country in reputable journals, and believed to be true."

BARLEY FOR HOGS

The ideal bacon hog as we find in the rail at packing plants is a combination of type, weight and finish. In any one of these three factors is deficient the carcass does not measure up to the requirements of the select grade. We may have a hog of perfect type, and ideal weight, but if this hog is under-finished it is very undesirable as a killing proposition. Such a hog will grade butcher with a depreciated return to the producer.

In Prince Edward Island we have a type of market hog, which is superior, to that found in any other part of Canada. This statement is supported by the grading reports which show that this province leads Canada in the percentage of "Selects" in spite of this high percentage we can materially improve our average quality if more attention is given to finishing. Many hogs are leaving the farms in a thin condition. If this were a fact we could increase our selects to at least 80 percent. If one were to inspect this situation exists in a province where home grown grains are found in abundance the answer would be the practice of using oats or rations made up largely of oats as the main hog feed.

Oats is one of the poorest grains with which to finish hogs. Only in the hands of an expert feeder can a carcass be made by using oats as the main grain ration. When a hog reaches 150 pounds live it is time to begin the finishing process with a nation of oats the hog continues to grow at the expense of finish with the result that we find too many top weight hogs shipped in a thin condition.

This feeding practice would result in better finish at marketable weights. Hogs could be marketed younger with greater profit to the producer. In Denmark, where the swine growers are experts in their line, we find barley the mainstay of their feeding policy. In this province a large percentage of our swine growers never use barley. A certain percentage use mixed feed which usually consists of much oats and little barley. A very few grow pure barley as a hog feed. Hog prices are now at a reasonable level. More hogs will be fed during the coming year than in the past. Consequently the hog producer should plan to grow a few acres of pure barley in order that he may have control over the amount he uses in the ration and as a result market every hog finished to market requirements.

Each year you spend $14 for Fruits and Vegetables

Isn't it worth a few cents a day to keep them fresh?

No doubt, you, like most housewives, watch the pennies when shopping. But do you realize that in the average home one-tenth of the food that is bought is wasted? Most of this waste can be prevented with Electric Refrigeration. And this is not all! Added economics can be effected in shopping. Perishables, for example, can be bought for 2 for 25c instead of 15c each, and kept fresh and wholesome until used. A whole week's supply of food can be bought at bargain prices making substantial added savings. Leftovers can be kept for days and made into appetizing dishes. These new food economics made possible with an Electric Refrigerator are real savings which can be depended upon day after day. Let us show you in actual figures how you can economize with Electric Refrigeration. Or ask ANY DEALER.

Prime Minister Addresses Victorian Order of Nurses At Ottawa.

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, May 19.—Social service rendered by the state will never replace the beneficent influence of individual social service, or the efforts of societies, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett stated today. He was guest of honor and speaker at a luncheon tendered delegates to the annual convention of the Victorian Order of Nurses by Senator and Mrs. George P. Graham of Brookville. Senator Graham is president of the Board of Governors of the Order.

The highest type of social service involved a sentiment and a touch of sympathy which could be found only in individual or privately sponsored work, Mr. Bennett said. He expressed the appreciation of the government to the Order for their work in the present difficult times.

These nurses said Mr. Bennett, have a highly developed sense of duty, and know how to meet the needs of every situation as it arises.

Lady Aberdeen, the founder of the V. O. N., he said must be very happy at the success of her organization. Conditions arising out of the depression had been met by the Victorian Order with a superabundance of courage and energy. Its work was of great value to the state.

Mr. Bennett said that taxes weighed heavily, and a number of people took this into consideration when making gifts to philanthropic works.
