EGYPT'S GREEN SUN.

Brilliant Emerald Hues Tint the Sky at Dawn and Eve.

In Egypt, where the atmosphere is very clear, the green tints of the sunset light are peculiarly distinct. As the sun descends nearer and nearer to the horizon and is immensely enlarged its rays suddenly become for an instant of a brilliant green. Then a succession of green rays suffuses the sky well nigh to the zenith.

The same phenomenon occurs at sunrise, but less conspicuously. Sometimes at sunset, just as the last portion of the sun's disk vanishes, its color changes from green to blue, and so also after it has disappeared the sky near the horizon is green, while toward the zenith it is blue.

The fact was, of course, observed by the ancient Egyptians, and references thereto are found in their sacred writings. Day was the symbol of life and night that of death. The setting sun being identified with Osiris, that god became king of the dead. The setting sun was green; therefore Osiris is the nocturnal deity of the dead was painted green.

The splendid coffins of the high priests of Ammon frequently depicted the green sun, and the funeral deities are all colored green. This association of death with green was undoubtedly due to the green tints of the Egyptian sun at sunset.—Youth's Companion.

COFFEE WITH AN ARAB.

It Protects Even Murderers Where the Cup Has Been Shared.

Describing the hospitality of an Arabian home, the "Last Journal of Bishop Huntington" says:

The great event of the visit is the coffee. The host has a kind of brazen bowl brought, in which he roasts the beans; then he takes a pestle and mortar of the oak of Bashan, and with his own hands he pounds it to powder, making the hard oak ring forth a song of welcome to the guest. Many of these pestles and mortars are heirlooms and are richly ornamented and beautifully black and polished by age and use. Such was the one in question. Having drunk coffee for the honored guest the cup is filled (three times), you are quite safe in the hands of the most murderous.

So far do they carry this superstition that a man who had murdered another fled to the dead man's father and before he knew what had happened drank coffee. Presently friends came in and as they were relating the news to the bereaved father recognized the murderer crouching beside the fire. They instantly demanded vengeance. "No," said the father, "it cannot be. He has drunk coffee and has thus become to me as my son."

Had he not drunk coffee the father would never have rested until he had dyed his hands in his blood.

Drug Store Signs.

Every one has noticed the beautiful colors in the large glass jars that stand in the drug store windows, but every one does not know why drug stores use that sign. In the old days apothecaries and alchemists were the only druggists, and they made up their own nostrums, the composition of which was supposed to be a great secret. They used to leave their retorts and jars and stills and bottles in the window to impress upon the passersby the mystery and importance of their business. The modern drug store has no use for retorts and stills, all the processes being handled by the big chemical factories, but the large jars full of bright colored liquids are still left in the window, just as they were hundreds of years ago.—New York Sun.

Population by Race.

The population of the world by race is: Indo-Germanic (white), 650,000,000; Mongolian (yellow and brown), 630,000,000; Semitic (white), 85,000,000; Negro (black), 180,000,000; Malay (brown), 85,000,000; American Indian (red), 15,000,000. This latter figure includes every variety of the red man in all parts of the earth, the actual number of Indians in North America being much less than a million. The white race is increasing much faster than the others, owing probably to its superior intelligence and scientific knowledge of medicine and sanitation.—New York American.

Sounded All Right.

Patience—Well, he told the truth, anyway. Patience—How so? Patience—When he was buying the solitaire he told the jeweler it was for a sister Patience—Well, I'm sure that wasn't true. Patience—Why, yes; when he offered it to the girl she promised to be a sister to him.—Yonkers Statesman.

Eager to Please.

"I want you to see if you can't find out that I am descended from a king," said the man who had become suddenly rich.

"Very well, sir," replied the genealogist. "We have a large stock of kings to select from. Have you any preference?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Popular Girl.

"Yes; she has promised to be mine some day."

"But when?"

"She can't exactly say as yet, seems she will first have to break off four or five other engagements."—Washington Herald.

His Status at Home.

"Guess you've only seen him outside of home. Ma doesn't think he's such a success."—Detroit Free Press.

PRESENT REWARD.

"Be noble, and the nobleness that lies in other men, sleeping but never dead, will rise in majesty to meet thine own."

LOWELL.

"Piero Capponi was coming—the brave heart, that had known how to speak for Florence. The effect on the crowd was remarkable. * * * and the silence became so perfect that the thread of the syndics on the broad pavement and the rustle of their black silk garments could be heard like rain in the night. There were four of them; but it was not the two learned doctors of law * * * that the crowd waited for * * * The moment belonged to another man * * * It was not till he was seen * * * that it was broken—and then one loud shout of 'Capponi, Capponi! Well done, Capponi!' rang through the piazza. The simple resolute man looked round him with grave joy. His fellow-citizens gave him a great funeral two years later, when he had died in fight. But it is not known that he felt any joy in the oration that was delivered in his praise as the banners waved over his bier. Let us be glad that he got some praise and thanks while he lived."

BURIAL OF AN EMPEROR.

TOKIO, Sept. 12.—The funeral ceremonies of the late Emperor Meiji, of Japan, posthumously known as "the Emperor of the Era of Enlightenment," began today amid surroundings in which century-old rites and costumes were mingled with modern military display. From the most extreme points of Japan, subjects have been assembling in Tokio. At midnight great crowds had gathered among the route of the procession. The weather was fair. A police cordon was established, shutting off the streets through which the body of the emperor will be transported and upon which it is estimated half a million people will be accommodated. A reservation was provided for one thousand foreigners, both residents and visitors, at the request of Baron Yoshio Samatani, the mayor.

The sombre coloring associated with western mourning was almost entirely absent, being replaced by the brilliant hues of the orient. Borrowed for the dead ruler, however, was apparent in the faces of all who took part in the final act of respect to an emperor whose reign had witnessed some of the most marvellous developments in the life of any nation.

Official representatives of every country had come to Tokio to participate in the solemnities. Among them were several princes representing reigning houses and special embassies commissioned to convey the condolences of republican presidents. The list included P. Knox, secretary of state of the United States.

The members of the regular foreign diplomatic body were present in their uniforms, the brilliance of which was set off by the modest

THE LAURIER POLICY.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 13.—That Canada shall without delay proceed with the execution of a strong Naval Policy on lines launched by Laurier but further expanded by the creation of an efficient Pacific unit is British Columbia's expectation according to the Borden Government according to Sir Richard McBride provincial premier.

He added that if occasion required the people would approve of the Government contributing thirty, forty or fifty millions to meet it.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than in any other. It is supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J.
