Week Of Prayer

By Rev. John Baillie, D. D.

EIGHTH DAY
Morning

O God, who of Thy love and pity didst send us Jesus Christ for the illumination of our darkness, give me wisdom to profit by His teaching. He spoke and grace to follow in the steps He trod.

Jesus Christ said, When ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any.

O God, give me grace now so to do, Jesus Christ said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.

O God, give me grace to-day to think not of what I can get, but of what I can give.

Jesus Christ said, When thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth.

O God, grant that what I give may be given without self-congratulation, and without thought of praise or reward.

Jesus Christ said, Enter ye in at the strait gate.

O God, give me grace this day to keep to the narrow path of duty and honourable dealing.

Jesus Christ said, Judge not, lest ye be judged.

O God, give me grace this day first to cast out the beam out of my own eye, before I regard the mote that is in my brother's eye.

Jesus Christ said, What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?

O God, give me grace so to live this day that, whatever else I lose, I may not lose my soul.

Jesus Christ said, After this manner therefore pray ye (and so, O Lord, I pray). Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread, And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.

O God, the Father of all mankind, I would bring before Thee to-night the burden of the world's life. I would join myself to the great scattered company of those who, in every corner of every land, are now crying out to Thee in their need.

Heavenly Father, I pray, to all who in any corner of the world are serving in Christ's name:

All soldiers, sailors and airmen who are offering their lives a living sacrifice for us and all mankind; ministers of the gospel of Christ;

All missionary workers abroad; all who faithfully tend the sick and wounded, Accomplish through them Thy great purpose of good-will to men, and grant them in their own hearts the joy of Christ's most real presence.

And to me also, as I lie down, grant, O gracious Father, the joy of a life surrendered to Christ's service and the peace of sin forgiven through the power of His Cross. Amen.

Dorothy Dix Says—

MOTHERS SET PATTERNS FOR MOLDING DAUGHTERS

Look At A Girl's Parent And You Can Almost Always Tell What She Will Be Like In Later Years

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am in love with two girls. Both charm and intrigue me and set my heart a-flutter. One is fat, the other is lean; one is pretty, the other just so-so. The lean one has a catfish mother who wants me to marry her daughter and is hell-bent on bossing the affair. The other has a modest, self-effacing little parent who thinks me a wow, which I am if I do say it, and is content to let us manage our own affairs. Do I know my own mind and which mother-in-law should I annex?

ANSWER—Well, John, if I were such a lady-killer as you are I should wait until I found a girl who dealt me such a solar-plexus blow that I knocked me out completely. I would wait until I was hard hit for keeps. I wouldn't succumb to a mere passing tap, for there is a lot of difference between liking and loving and between being married to a woman who satiates you in body and soul and one with whom you can merely make-shift to get along. But you are a wise man in taking your prospective mother-in-law into consideration when you pick out a wife, because the probability is that some day you will have to live with her, and the certainty is that she will be a large factor in determining the success or failure of your marriage.

TOO MUCH "MOTHER SAYS" If she is of the bossy, interfering type you will never again be able to say that your soul is your own. She will determine where you live, what style you live in, what you eat, whether you buy a new car or use your old one, whether you have your old friends in to play a game of cards or an evening or have to sneak out to meet them on the sly, whether you can smoke and, if so, where. You will rise up and sit down to an accompaniment of "Mother says this" and "Mother says that" and "Mother says we are to do thus and so" and "Mother says we shouldn't do the other thing."

More than that, what a girl is the mother makes her. Like mother, like daughter, is a rule that has mighty few exceptions, because a daughter not only has the qualities she inherited from her mother, but mother had her in her formative years and molded her character.

GIRLS RARELY CHANGE

There is an occasional girl who revolts from her mother's standards and who, because mother was a slovenly housekeeper, is preternaturally neat herself; or who, because mother was a waster and a spendthrift and the bill collector was always hounding the family, becomes a dime-nurse.

But in 99 cases out of 100 a girl runs true to form and makes just about the sort of a woman her mother is and lives up to her mother's precepts. If mother has always gone sloppy around the house, daughter is addicted to soiled kimonos and cold cream on her face. If mother has never thought it worth while to get up and get a good breakfast for father or do anything to make him happy and comfortable, daughter doesn't see why she should make a slave of herself for a mere husband.

If mother has padded the bills and lied to father about the price of things, daughter follows the faith she has been taught—that what a man doesn't know won't hurt him.

Therefore, because a mother sets her ineffaceable seal on her daughter, I would pick out the sort of mother-in-law I wanted first and then marry her daughter.

INTERFERING PARENTS

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am happily married to the best man in the world, but my trouble is this: Two years ago my father came to live with us and he interferes so with the children that he is about to run us a little crazy. He tries to rule them and nothing they do pleases him. He has no patience with them and quarrels and nags at them. The days are a continual torment to me. What should I do? My father has other daughters he could live with. Also he has plenty of money.

DISCOURAGED. ANSWER—The best thing to do would be to have a plain talk with your father. Tell him that the continual conflict between him and the children is making you wretched and breaking down your health. Also that he is ruining the dispositions of the children, and ask him if he will refrain from correcting them and giving them orders.

Personally, I don't believe that old people can keep from interfering in their children's affairs and from feeling that they have a perfect right to run them. They have been busy all of their lives and when they come to the place in life where they have nothing to do and no interests of their own they are bound to use their energies in meddling in everything about them.

Especially is it true that they can't keep their fingers out of their children's pies. And the result is never always distress. That is why parents should never live with their children unless it is a case of absolute necessity and they have not enough money to pay their own way in a hotel or boarding house.

NORWAY PROUD PART

LOONDON—(CP)—The Norwegian Seamen's Union reveals that there are 33,000 Norse seamen sailing under allied colors; their 700 merchant ships represent 3,500,000 tons and about 500,000 tons have been lost in the war.

DESECRATING THIEVES

LONDON—(CP)—A brown Persian carpet, valued at about $225, was stolen from the altar steps of Christ Church.

BELGIAN OPTIMISM

GLASGOW—(CP)—News smuggled from Belgium says while the waistline of the middle-aged man has shrunk an average inch-and-a-half under German rule the Belgians are so confident of allied victory they expect it sooner than Britons.

THE COOK'S CORNER

ORANBERRY MINCE TARTS

2 cups cranberry sauce
2 cups mince-meat
Rich pastry
Method: Let over cranberry sauce can be used for this, but if you haven't any of this, make it by boiling together 1 cup water and 3-4 cup sugar for 5 minutes, then adding 2 cups cranberries and cooking for 5 minutes longer. Measure 2 cups of this and add the mince-meat, blending well. Fill unbaked tart shells with this and cover with strips of pastry arranged in lattice fashion. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) for about 20 to 25 minutes, or until the tarts are done.

ORANGE CORNFLAKE CHEWS

1-3 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 tablespoon orange juice
3 1-2 cups corn flakes
1-3 cups coconut
1-4 teaspoon salt
Method: Combine the sweetened condensed milk with the orange rind, orange juice and corn flakes which have been crushed into coarse crumbs. Add the coconut and the salt. Allow to stand for about 3 minutes, then drop by teaspoonfuls on a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for about 15 minutes. Remove from the pan as soon as taken from the oven.

SCHEME FOR SUNLESS ROOM

For a room that is not often flooded with sunlight—such as a bedroom facing the northwest—bright colorings can be used with excellent results. As a suggestion, the walls might be of pale apricot, rugs of the shaggy white cotton type or a textured mahogany window draperies and spread of a deeper apricot tone, nicely tailored lounge chairs upholstered with sharp, blue-green and white ecton. Pottery lamps of green or white with white shades would blend in beautifully with the entire motif.

Chart Helps You to Learn Typing

Bad Typist Loses in Business

Rub, rub, rub! She'll soon rub out her job if she doesn't learn to type "G" when she wants "G" and "T" when she wants "T!"

Time, money and jobs are lost regularly by girls who don't know the accurate touch-typing system. And yet it's easy—you can start learning at home.

A chart like the one in our sketch shows you just how to place your fingers on the keyboard and what keys each finger should strike.

The eight dark keys, or "home keys", are where your eight fingers rest when not typing. When one finger moves to strike another key, the others stay "home," keeping out of trouble; then the typing finger quickly returns to its base.

In addition, the keyboard is divided into eight sections, one to each finger. Your right forefinger can type "j" or "i" but can never jump out of section to "e" or "r."

That's how mistakes are prevented! Our 32-page instruction booklet includes chart, diagram of type-writing and daily drills. Also describes good usage in typing English; how to type social, official and business letters, statistics. It is useful as a foundation for a business course.

CHRISTMAS CLEANING TIP

To pick up broken glass such as Christmas ornaments, splinters, without getting cuts, dampen a wad of cotton and go over the floor where the broken glass has scattered. Glass splinters will stick in cotton and you can throw all away. The same trick can be applied to getting rid of Christmas tree needles. Brush up as much as you can with brush or broom into a dustpan. Then dampen a soft thick cloth with water and rub this over the carpet. Any needles that have remained on the carpet after the brushing will usually adhere to the cloth, and can be gotten rid of quickly and easily.
