

THREE GIFTS

"Courage, Love and Fun,"—George Wyndham's motto.

Each day a beggar woman at the portal
Of God's high house, by urgent need emboldened,
I ask three gifts for you, my well-beloved,
Three gifts beyond the wealth of man or mortal:

Courage to stand now all the earth seems shaking,
And wise men grow perplexed and kingdoms totter,
Now faith is sifted, old traditions
tattered
A broken world in need of each man's making:

Love that shall find your kith in friend and stranger, Brother in man and beast, and saint
and sinner,
And cleanse your heart of grudge
or pride or grievance, Bidding you seek Christ in an asses'
manger;

Fun ever quick to kindle speech and laughter,
Swift with a jest the day your heart is breaking,
Fun that shall cheer dull years and send you whistling, Clear-eyed and cool to meet the brave Hereafter.

With these you shall not need men's praise or pity,
Defeat shall brace you, conquest
make you humble;
So you shall fight and march and sing till moonrise
Lights up the walls of the Celestial City.

—William Letts, in London Spectator.

THE MECHANICAL "KATIE"

"Katie," one of the most wonderful inventions exhibited at the recent shipping engineering exhibition in London, is likely to prove the most valuable aid to sea captains and navigators yet discovered. "Katie" is the name given to the invention of an engineer, by which he makes water talk.

It is an automatic float, with a sensitive depth-finding mechanism connected telephonically, and is placed on the surface of the water.
Another delicate instrument rests on the bottom with a wire connection.
When an engineer wants to know the depth of water at a particular spot he rings up "Katie" on the phone and she tells him the exact depth.

She speaks in soft, jerky buzzes in the manner of the Morse code, and when she gets out of her depth she stutters. If the current is too strong she becomes speechless. "Kate" will also warn a captain how much water has got into the hold or the engine-room after a collision.

YOUTH PASSES.

His time was spent
In God's replenishment.
Of all that He makes good.
His daily food
Was love. His joyous mind Sought but to find
The love of every heart.
He wrought his part
In high disdain
Of loss and pain
And in His eyes
Was no surprise
Nor dread at all,
Whatever the call.

And now he sees the truth
Of all the dreams of youth
He joins the band
Who touch God's hand
And link the things of home
With those that are to come.
—Allen Brookington, in The Nation.

Notice to Advertisers

The co-operation of advertising patrons is requested in the direction of getting "copy" into the business office before twelve noon on the day previous to publication. (Saturday 10 a.m.) Very often the receipt of a large advertisement or even regular changes after that hour serves to dislocate the regular work of getting the paper made up in time to catch the mails—and not infrequently such ads are at the last moment left out.
This situation is not of service to either the advertiser or our readers and we, therefore, request that copy be received in the business office.
