

The COUGH THAT WINTER Leaves Behind

In many instances the recurring coughs and colds of the winter leave serious traces behind in the form of chronic affections of the throat, bronchial tubes or lungs. These ailments do not yield to ordinary cough remedies; they must be overcome by building up the entire system. The right remedy is

Jamieson's Emulsion Cod Liver Oil With Hypophosphites

This is a revitalizing tonic that has direct influence on the tissues of the air passages. It is the most reliable of all remedies for the cure of chronic coughs and bronchitis or for any debilitated condition of the system. Two sizes 35 and 75 cents.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 26, 1907.

"IF THE ISLAND IS NOT SATISFIED."

The Moncton Transcript, which supports the Government at Ottawa, ventures to instruct the people of Prince Edward Island as to how they should conduct themselves in their winter difficulties. The wise Moncton editor thinks those who talk of separation are only vaporing hot air and making themselves ridiculous. Now that may be true, but the reverse seems to have been true in the case of Hon. Mr. Fielding, who talked loudly of separation a few years ago and then found himself loaded with honors and his Province made the recipient of very large rewards. He was placed over the treasury, made second man in the Dominion, and millions of dollars in iron and steel bounties, and $100,000 of the $150,000 a year in fishery bounties are yearly poured into the lap of that Province.

One might judge from all this that it is a good thing for a newspaper to support the Government of the day and also a good thing for an ambitious public man to "vapor hot air" upon occasion, in favor of separation. But leaving this aside for the time, the Moncton Liberal organ has the following to offer by way of advice to the Island people: "If the Island is not satisfied with existing winter communication, would it not be well for it to send competent representatives elsewhere and seek to educate the Dominion outside of Parliament to a sense of the injustice?" First of all, reader, notice that "If the Island is not satisfied with the present winter communications?"

There would seem to be some doubt in the mind of our editorial neighbor. And yet such a condition of doubt seems most incredible. As he sits in his office he is within fifty miles of the Island shore. Only seven nautical miles separate the Island from the Mainland at the Capes. During the midwinter season the Moncton editor has sometimes not received his Island exchanges till they were a week old. For three weeks no freight has crossed from the Island to the Mainland. Two years ago no freight crossed for 59 days. One car load of freight was actually five months on the way from Ontario to Souris in 1906, because of the accumulation of freight which it took so long to handle after the ice blockade was broken. Four years ago no freight or passengers crossed by steamer for 64 consecutive days.

During those prolonged periods, as during weeks just now past, passengers could only come to or leave this Province by the row-boat service at the Capes, in peril of limb and life, dragging Government boats and mail over the ice-hummocks and paying the Government $2.50 each for the privilege! Our leading merchants on the way to England to purchase their spring goods this winter of 1907 were forced to cross in this way. The body of a clergyman's wife who died at Montague, sent to Fredericton, N. B. to be buried the other day, was three weeks on the way, —just one week longer than the body of her husband who died in December and was two weeks on the way. All this time, too, the Island people have been paying double and treble the freight rates for like distances to what the mainland people pay, when freight could move at all. And this is an inter-provincial service, wholly conducted by the Government of Canada, and guaranteed by the Government to be an efficient and continuous service!

Well, the Island people are not satisfied. Does it follow that it is our duty to educate the people of all Canada to a sense of the injustice we suffer? Surely we may count upon fair-minded and justice-loving editors of our news papers on the Mainland to help us in the work, and especially those in the near-by county of Westmorland, which would profit almost as much as the Island by efficient and constant steam connection across the straits. Such connection the Government of Canada is and has been as much bound in written terms to supply as it was bound to build the Intercolonial for New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, or to build the Canadian Pacific for British Columbia and the Northwest. For a generation this contract has remained unfulfilled. We submit that if in view of all these facts the people of the Mainland are still unconvinced of the injustice we are suffering, it is the duty of The Transcript to help convince them.

A people goaded to desperation by long-continued wrong and oppression do not always act or talk wisely. But if this we can assure our Moncton contemporary that the first serious, earnest and honest attempt to carry out the terms of union in their spirit and later will quit the discontent, and when our people are given justice in the way of efficient communication at reasonable rates there will be no more talk of separation on this side of the Straits. We have no hope, however that this can be effected by steamer. Another steamer to take the place of the worn-out Stanley, can only be regarded as a palliative till the Tunnel is built. We are simply asking for justice. Are we not entitled to that? And will not The Transcript give its influential support us in the effort to obtain it?

THE INTEREST CHARGE.

Captain Joseph Read has figured out in a way that no one has yet controverted or attempted to controvert that the Tunnel would be a good business proposition and would save enough in the cost of the winter steamers, depreciation, insurance, steamship and telegraph subsidies, with its own earnings and the added earnings of the Government railways on both sides, to pay the interest on its cost and for its maintenance and operation. The interest on its cost, assuming the work to cost $10,000,000, would, at 3 per cent be $300,000 yearly. But is it fair to charge the interest against this work?

There is 80 odd millions invested in the Intercolonial. That investment has never paid any interest. On the contrary, in thirty years it has sunk many millions in the cost of operation. The 100 millions invested in canals has never paid a cent of interest. The 62 millions cash contributed by the Government of Canada to the C. P. R. to say nothing of lands, pays no interest. The same is true of the tens of millions invested in subsidies to other railways, the vast subsidies paid yearly to steamships, the millions spent in deepening the canals—in a word the half billion dollars which Mr. Emmerson tells us Canada has spent to improve transportation facilities, pays no interest! The indirect benefits are thought to warrant the outlay. Why then charge interest on the Tunnel cost? True it promises to pay both the interest and cost of operation and maintenance. And no work ever constructed in Canada promises larger indirect returns. But why talk of interest?

SEED PURCHASERS, BEWARE.

Seed Commissioner G. H. Clark of Ottawa, has issued a timely warning to seed purchasers. The warning takes a note especially of seeds labelled "Government Standard" by seed vendors, and points out that this is a term coined for the purpose of deception. The Seed Control Act fixes a standard below which no seed is allowed to be sold. This standard is very low, and permits for instance 90 weed seeds in one ounce of clover, 200 in one ounce of alfalfa and 400 in one ounce of timothy seed. It is frightful to think of clover or grass seeds thus fouled with the seeds of weeds being sold as Government standard seeds.

Children must be vaccinated or they cannot be allowed to attend the public schools. The Vaccination Act 1888, Section 11 reads in part as follows: "In no case shall there be taken any greater sum than twenty-five cents for every person or child successfully vaccinated including all or any of the certificates required by this Act." Complaints are being made that some doctors are charging fifty cents in direct violation of this law, in one case $4 being charged for vaccinating a family of eight persons.

DYSPEPSIA.

Medicine doesn't seem to be able to cure it. One professor says one thing about it, another professor says another thing and all the time people keep on suffering terribly. Now what's the use of wasting words in arguing the matter? Why don't you get some Hetch tablets and try them? Take one after each meal. Plenty of people have cured themselves in this way, and that ought to be proof enough that it will cure you too. It is an unusual medicine and does not usual things. It's a doctor for ten; 200 sent for $1.00. One gives relief.
