KUROKI WARMLY MET AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wn., May 3.—Gen. Kuroki and his staff, representatives of Japan to the Jamestown exposition, arrived here yesterday after being delayed by a fog on Puget Sound.

Daylight fireworks were set off over Elliott Bay as the party landed from the Aki Maru. A hundred Japanese girls sang the National Anthem and the General's carriage was almost covered with flowers presented by school children.

"Fighting Mac" Lives, Not Suicide

Traveler Denies that Sir Hector Macdonald is Dead—Asserts He Saw Soldier Who Was Believed to Have Killed Himself in Paris

LONDON, May 2.—A singular story that has both astonished and amused in the Manchester Sunday Chronicle. It relates to the late renowned soldier, Major-General Sir Hector Macdonald.

The General, it will be remembered, was reported to have committed suicide in an obscure Paris hotel, March 25, 1903, while en route from Ceylon, where he had been in command. He fought with distinction in Afghanistan, in the Boer war of 1891 and also in the recent Boer War, in which he commanded the Highland Brigade, and he also figured conspicuously in the fighting against Arabi Pasha in Egypt and the Mahdi in the Sudan.

CLAIMS HE STILL LIVES. The publication in the Manchester paper to the effect that "Fighting Mac," as Sir Hector was known in allitary and Scottish circles, is still very much alive, and is now organizing a powerful army for China.

The most circumstantial story bearing on Sir Hector's alleged survival emanates from Johannesburg, from a man who recently arrived there from the Far East. He asserts that he saw "Fighting Mac" at Nanking, China, last year, putting his astonishing declaration in the following form:—

"I knew Hector Macdonald very well both in Egypt and South Africa. I was in Nanking in December last. I saw a battalion of Chinese soldiers being drilled in European style on a space in the centre of the city, and feeling curious I walked up to where three officers were standing. One of them was Sir Hector Macdonald. He was clean shaven, but otherwise he had altered very little since the occasion of my last meeting him in Pretoria.

"I was almost breathless with astonishment. I was about to speak to him when his eyes met mine. He turned rapidly around to one of the other officers and said something quickly in Chinese.

ORDERED TO LEAVE AT ONCE. "The officer, almost springing at me, shouted: "Leave this ground at once, or we will put you where your feet won't find you in a hurry." I left Nanking that day for Shanghai, and I found that the fact that Sir Hector Macdonald was in that country was believed by a great many English people.

As strengthening the story, it is pointed out that no inquest was held on the body alleged to be that of Sir Hector Macdonald; but in official and other quarters little attention has been paid to the matter. The paper's Johannesburg informant, officials believe, was mistaken in the man.

Why Spring Brings Weakness. Winter weakens the system and allows disease germs to enter.

Great epidemics, such as fevers, infection skin diseases and pestilence break out in the spring.

Winter shut-out fresh air from many homes, and only a few get even a little sunshine. The blood naturally grows thin, colorless and diseased, we tire easily, sleep poorly and have headaches. In this condition we are easy prey to sickness and fill the hospitals and graveyards.

You must create resistance and strength. The blood must be purified, must be given power to expel the seeds of spring fever.

Baby Was Choking With Cold in Chest

PARENTS IN GREAT ANXIETY, BUT QUICK RELIEF AND CURE RESULTED FROM USE OF

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Mr. W. F. Smith, 381 Nepawa street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "My sister's little baby, Albert McDeranott, four months of age, was so bad with a cold on the chest that we were afraid he would choke to death. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine was obtained, and I am happy to say that it brought relief almost at once.

"The baby was completely cured by the use of three bottles, and my sister and her husband are very grateful for this cure. We shall all recommend this great medicine."

Under few circumstances does a mother feel herself so anxious and so helpless when the child in whom her hopes are centred is seized with croup or bronchitis and struggles in vain to get its breath.

It is then she asks, "What is the most effective treatment I can buy?" and probably remembers what her friends have told her about keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house for use in just such emergencies.

Any cough mixture the dealer may offer is no good enough in the face of serious illness. You insist on having Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine because it has been proven by the test of time to be the most certain cure for croup, bronchitis and severe chest colds.

Children like to take Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and being composed of simple vegetable ingredients it is well suited for their use. 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle.

MORAL PEOPLE OF ENGLAND WORRIED OVER STATUARY

Living Variety—Bishop and Sculptor vs Stead—The Godiva Problem Causes Keen Competition—Racy Account of the Situation

LONDON, May 3.—The contemplation of the living statue exhibitions at the museum is developing into a warm campaign. Various vigilance societies and other protectors of the public morals are responding to the Bishop of London's denunciatory battle cry, and are doing their utmost to bring about the suppression of the exhibitions.

They have received a very powerful recital in the eminent sculptor, William Hamo Thornycroft, R. A., who says that so far from stimulating art these shows simply vulgarize it. People do not go to see them to admire art, but to gratify a low depraved taste.

There is no lack of defenders apart from those peculiarly interested, W. T. Stead lately gave a performance his blessing after seeing one of the chief exponents of living statuary known as La Milo. That lady in an interview said:—

"The Bi-hops and others who have denounced living statues have not seen them. Anyhow they cannot have seen me or they would not say the things they do."

The problem has become acute in Coventry, a recent representative of the living variety in the city's history is being prepared. Controversy rages hotly as to whether there shall be a representation of the famous ride of Lady Godiva, and if there is shall the lady appear "in statutory form," according to the legend, or draped.

Incidentally there is keen competition among the women of Coventry and others to impersonate Lady Godiva, and they are unanimous in their opinion that she ought not to be draped. In this thousands of peeping Toms concur.

Advertising is broad. Advertising in itself means publicity and publicity is a very broad and comprehensive term. It does not mean simply a word whispered to a favored few. It is, rather, synonymous with general, broadcast, declaration, and the broader the scope of the announcement, the better the advertising. No occupation that directs attention among given and desired lines can be reasonably regarded as wasted; not can any funds expended to this end be adjudged extravagant.—American Medical Journal

BAD WEEK FOR STEAMER'S CREW

YALMOUTH, May 1.—The British steamer Sagam, from New York April 12, for Rotterdam, has arrived here and landed the crew of the British tank steamer Lucifer, bound from New York for Dublin, which was abandoned in latitude 40 10 north and longitude 50 west. Members of the crew of the Lucifer say it was discovered April 8 that the vessel's stovehole was filling with water. The pumps were manned, but the water gained until it reached the fires, which were extinguished. The steamer then drifted helplessly. Her captain ordered all the boats stocked with provisions for twelve days and made ready for instant departure. A keen lookout was kept, and three days later the crew was relieved to see the lights of two passing vessels. But their distress signals were not seen, and a part of the cargo was jettisoned to lighten the vessel and keep her afloat. It was evident she would not survive much.
