

Annual Meeting

THE CHARLOTTETOWN DRIVING PARK AND PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION

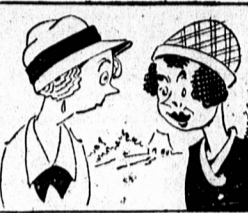

The Annual General Meeting of the above Association will be held in the office of the Secretary, Room 7, on Wednesday, January 8th, 1930, at the hour of 2.30 p. m.

Dated this 28th day of December, A. D., 1929. By Order, J. W. BOULTER, Secretary.

SMILES

"It's wise to pick up a pin that's laying on the floor, but if it's a rolling pin it's wiser to dodge it."

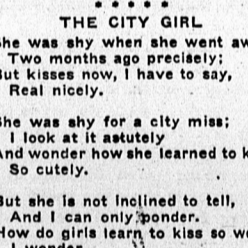

"Did you give him the air?" "Well, I told him to go get in his plane and fly away."

"What broke Smith down so and caused his death?" "The heavy life insurance he carried."

"Matches, you know, are made in heaven." "Yes, but don't you think most of them are set off down here?"

"Matches, you know, are made in heaven." "Yes, but don't you think most of them are set off down here?"

THEY HAD TO SEE PARIS

By Homer Croy

Opal, dressed in her best, came in to the kitchen. Although she wasn't a member of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, her mother had so arranged it that she was to attend. Opal had helped pare the potatoes, and shell the beans, and that was all. Mrs. Peters loved Opal so much that she did not want her to do the work; she would rather do it herself. "I don't want her to have to slave her life away in a kitchen," she said. Mrs. Peter's dream was that Opal would make a marriage in which she would not have to do such work. Opal was a tall, good-looking girl, with soft, wavy, brown hair and as she entered she made a very pleasant picture indeed. She was twenty-seven. Opal gave more mah jong parties, more fudge parties, more slumber parties, more cross-word-puzzles parties than any other girl in town; she gave the first lawn tea ever held in Clearwater had once been "Miss Clearwater" in a state contest, could drive a car (Ford) as well as anybody, could swim Little Fox River, play tennis, was considered an unusually fine dancer, had studied french in the Clearwater high school, had twice taken the leading girl part in the mock trial at the court-house belonged to the Jolly Sixteen Club, was a member of the Sigma Sigma Something, which was a Greek-letter secret society at the state university where she had gone for a year, and yet for some reason or other she had never got off, as some of the more jealous neighbors said. She was popular, sparkling, sometimes even witty, and yet the Fairy Prince hadn't come riding by.

"I wonder what's the matter with daddy," said Opal. "He hasn't been so late in weeks," returned her mother. "And he knows that I have to get away early. Let me see how you look, dear." Bending far over, she washed her hands at the sink, then turned to Opal. Mrs. Peters adjusted a few things, as a mother always will, and was satisfied. "I don't want to get all perspiring," said Mrs. Peters as she looked at herself in the cracked mirror over the sink. "I do wish he'd come. Maybe you'd better telephone." Mrs. Peters was forty-seven, but no one would have ever guessed it. Sometimes strangers to Clearwater mistook her and Opal for sisters. The strangers usually got an invitation to dinner.

Mrs. Peters had been born in Oklahoma and had lived there all her life. She felt that she came from a family superior to her husband's but this was not true at all. Her father had been, at some dim and distant time, a member of the state's first judicial commission. It was the lowest and humblest job that one could have in connection with the state government, but it carried with it a very nice expense account and was much sought after by elderly gentlemen who could make impressive speeches on a few minutes' notice. That was one thing that Mrs. Peters never go over—the fact that her father had once been attached to the state government of Oklahoma and that the neighbors had called him Judge. When Mrs. Peters had company, especially guests whom she did not feel thoroughly acquainted with, she found many occasions to refer in passing to her father, the Judge; but the reference was so slight and so hurried that it was hardly noticed at the time.

Mrs. Peters also based her feeling of superiority over her husband on the fact that she used much better grammar than Pike did and could handle works that Pike made a botch of. On the table at the head of her bed was a book entitled "18,000 Words Often Mispronounced. Sometimes she wrote to the lexicographer's chair in The Literary Digest, asking points in grammar and usage—Pike thought a lexicographer was somebody who made geographies. The plain fact of it was that Pike didn't care what sort of an impression he made on people or how he dressed, or whom he associated with, just so his business increased each year. It caused Mrs. Peters no end of worry. Sometimes she felt that it stood in Opal's way.

And yet Mrs. Peters would cook dinner in a hot, stuffy kitchen on the day of the biggest social function of her life.

Mrs. Peters did her own cooking, except sometimes when the "business," as she always referred to it, was unusually good, when, for a brief time she would have a hired girl, as Pike called her. The fact that she had to do her own cooking, except spasmodically, did not worry Mrs. Peters, particularly as it was done by practically all the wives of Clearwater, except the two or three families who had more money than the Peterses and didn't seem to care how they threw it about.

Sometimes Mrs. Peters felt an intense yearning to get away from Clearwater because she felt that it was too small. Now and then she had talked to Pike of going to Oklahoma City or to Tulsa where opportunities, as she expressed it, would be greater; but nothing had come of it. "There was a step on the porch." "Maybe that's your father now," said Mrs. Peters. "But it was only one of the neighbors, who had 'run in' for a moment." "There's quite a bit of excitement downtown," she said. "They're bringing up pay sand on the Maginnis tract!" She referred to a recent flurry in oil prospecting going on in the county and which was being watched with mild interest for the reason that the Clearwater district had been the scene of one of the first oil discoveries in Oklahoma, but it had turned out to be a shallow field. Then the giant discoveries of the Cushing Pool, the Okmulgee field, the Osage wells and others had completely overshadowed it. In fact, the shallow oil sand had soon been drained. In other parts of Oklahoma and Texas great floods of greasy, brown-black petroleum had spouted up, making strange and unexpected millionaires overnight. "I am amazed, incredulous, bewildered people. And what histories they had had! There was Bob Brown, who had farmed for thirty years and still had to borrow to pay his taxes; and then the land he had cursed a thousand times suddenly belched up a fountain of black gold and Bob had become a millionaire before the corn silk had dried up. But Bob couldn't figure in millions; they were too utterly beyond his stub lead-pencil. He rented the crop rights of the faithful old farm, moved to town, and let the oil belch. A new town hall was being started and help was short because everybody wanted to be a driller, a lease writer, or a prospector, and Bob got a job following the carpenters around and picking up nails at eight dollars a day... It sure beat farming. There was no end to such stories; every town had them and they were true—the astonishing, unbelievable romance that follows in wake of oil, with its upsetting of accepted social orders.

But there was no chance for such wild tales in Clearwater, as it was a worked field. Still, in the Southwest hope beats in every heart. To be Continued

Tuckett Declares Dividend And Bonus

Directors of the Tuckett Tobacco Co., Limited have declared a bonus of two per cent on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of one per cent payable January 15, 1930. This is the first change in the company's common dividend payments since 1921. The bonus now forecasts total payments of six per cent of the par value of the stock in 1930.

The Company reports Christmas sales surpassing all previous records and regards the outlook for 1930 as promising. Advertising and sales effort will be steadily increased during the coming year.

never go over—the fact that her father had once been attached to the state government of Oklahoma and that the neighbors had called him Judge. When Mrs. Peters had company, especially guests whom she did not feel thoroughly acquainted with, she found many occasions to refer in passing to her father, the Judge; but the reference was so slight and so hurried that it was hardly noticed at the time.

Mrs. Peters also based her feeling of superiority over her husband on the fact that she used much better grammar than Pike did and could handle works that Pike made a botch of. On the table at the head of her bed was a book entitled "18,000 Words Often Mispronounced. Sometimes she wrote to the lexicographer's chair in The Literary Digest, asking points in grammar and usage—Pike thought a lexicographer was somebody who made geographies. The plain fact of it was that Pike didn't care what sort of an impression he made on people or how he dressed, or whom he associated with, just so his business increased each year. It caused Mrs. Peters no end of worry. Sometimes she felt that it stood in Opal's way.

And yet Mrs. Peters would cook dinner in a hot, stuffy kitchen on the day of the biggest social function of her life.

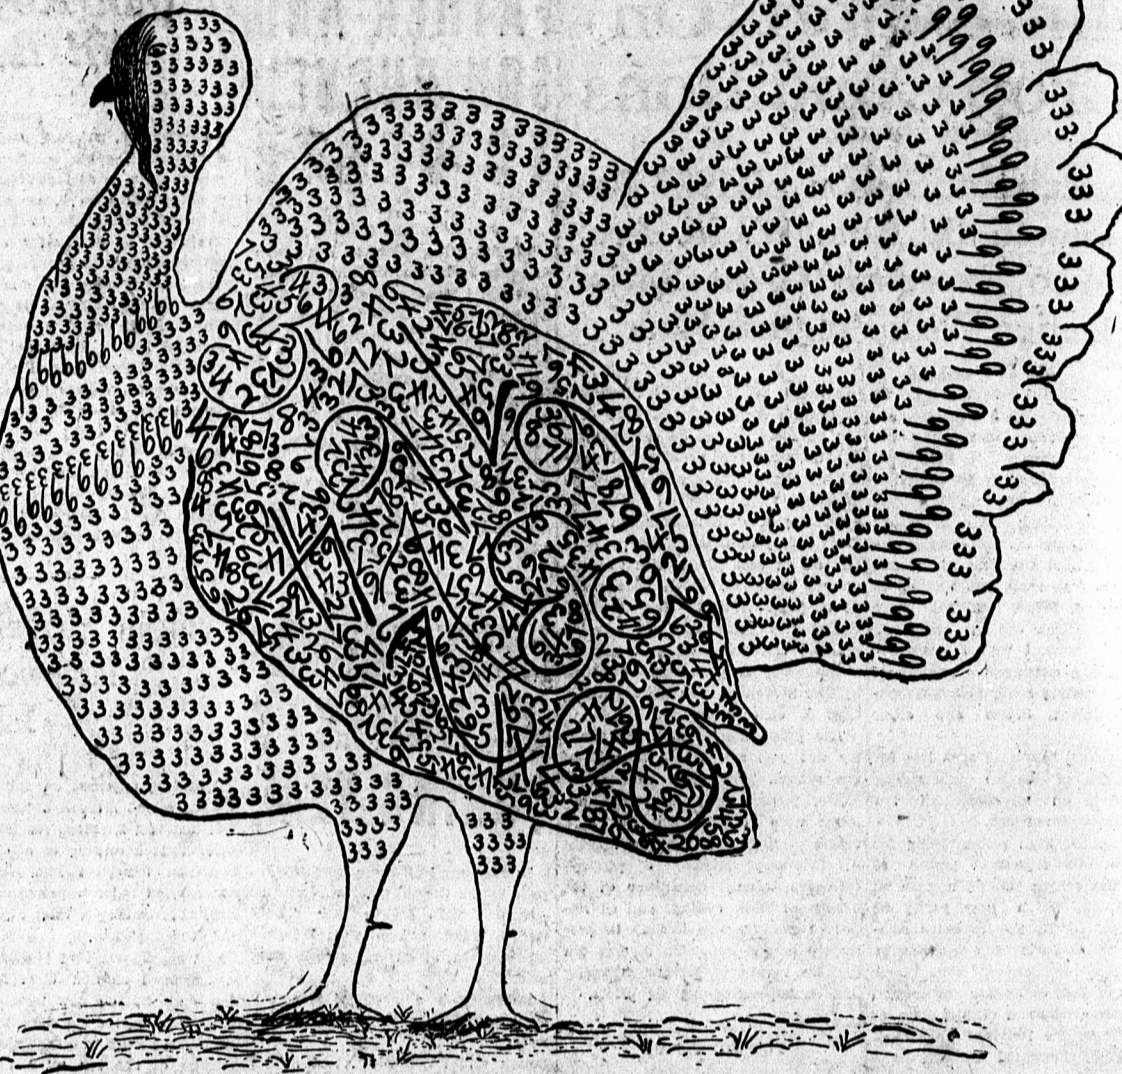

Mrs. Peters did her own cooking, except sometimes when the "business," as she always referred to it, was unusually good, when, for a brief time she would have a hired girl, as Pike called her. The fact that she had to do her own cooking, except spasmodically, did not worry Mrs. Peters, particularly as it was done by practically all the wives of Clearwater, except the two or three families who had more money than the Peterses and didn't seem to care how they threw it about.

Sometimes Mrs. Peters felt an intense yearning to get away from Clearwater because she felt that it was too small. Now and then she had talked to Pike of going to Oklahoma City or to Tulsa where opportunities, as she expressed it, would be greater; but nothing had come of it. "There was a step on the porch." "Maybe that's your father now," said Mrs. Peters. "But it was only one of the neighbors, who had 'run in' for a moment." "There's quite a bit of excitement downtown," she said. "They're bringing up pay sand on the Maginnis tract!" She referred to a recent flurry in oil prospecting going on in the county and which was being watched with mild interest for the reason that the Clearwater district had been the scene of one of the first oil discoveries in Oklahoma, but it had turned out to be a shallow field. Then the giant discoveries of the Cushing Pool, the Okmulgee field, the Osage wells and others had completely overshadowed it. In fact, the shallow oil sand had soon been drained. In other parts of Oklahoma and Texas great floods of greasy, brown-black petroleum had spouted up, making strange and unexpected millionaires overnight. "I am amazed, incredulous, bewildered people. And what histories they had had! There was Bob Brown, who had farmed for thirty years and still had to borrow to pay his taxes; and then the land he had cursed a thousand times suddenly belched up a fountain of black gold and Bob had become a millionaire before the corn silk had dried up. But Bob couldn't figure in millions; they were too utterly beyond his stub lead-pencil. He rented the crop rights of the faithful old farm, moved to town, and let the oil belch. A new town hall was being started and help was short because everybody wanted to be a driller, a lease writer, or a prospector, and Bob got a job following the carpenters around and picking up nails at eight dollars a day... It sure beat farming. There was no end to such stories; every town had them and they were true—the astonishing, unbelievable romance that follows in wake of oil, with its upsetting of accepted social orders.

But there was no chance for such wild tales in Clearwater, as it was a worked field. Still, in the Southwest hope beats in every heart. To be Continued

What About the Feathers On the Turkey?

$50.00 to the Person who counts them correctly — Other awards from $20.00 down

The feathers on the Turkey are made up of figures 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8. The problem is to take these feathers off the Turkey and add the figures. The total of the added figures will be taken as the number of feathers on the bird.

PRIZES:—For the correct, or nearest correct, solution prizes in order as follows will be paid in cash. 1st Prize $50.00, 2nd Prize $20.00, 3rd Prize $10.00, 4th Prize $5.00, 5th Prize $4.00, 6th Prize $3.00, 7th Prize $2.00, 8th Prize $1.00

IT COSTS NOTHING There is absolutely no responsibility, obligation or cost of any kind to try for a prize. The solving of the problem will provide a few hours most interesting work.

COMPETITION CLOSES The competition closes Saturday, January 25, 1930, at midnight. All solutions to be considered, must reach the address below before that hour.

In case of a tie the prize will go to the one who had sent a new subscription with his solution in accordance with condition No. 3.

If those who tie have both, or all sent in new subscriptions; then the prize will go to the one whose subscription on which he or she became eligible, is paid the farthest in advance into the year 1930. If both or all are paid in advance to December 31, 1929, then the money will be divided among such proportionately according to the number of winners.

- Conditions: 1. Every one in any family where there is a regular subscription of this paper paid in advance, is invited to try the solution and compete for the prizes. 2. Anyone not eligible in accordance with No. 1 condition, may compete by becoming a subscriber or sending in the subscription of some member of the family with $4.00 for country or $5.00 for the city for the first year in advance. 3. Every competitor may, if he or she so desires, send in a new paid in advance for one year subscription with the solution. This is not obligatory; but the winner of each prize who does send a new subscription will be awarded double the amount his or her prize calls for. Thus if the winner of the first prize had sent a new subscription, he will be awarded $100.00 cash instead of $50.00, and accordingly with all the prizes. No one can so secure double money unless the new subscription is actually forwarded with his solution. 4. Each competitor, by sending in his solution, agrees that the decision of the judges shall be indisputable and final. 5. All solutions must be sent in on the following form, clipped from this paper.

SOLUTION TURKEY FEATHERS COMPETITION. To Turkey Feathers Competition, The Guardian, Charlottetown, P. E. I. (a) My solution of the Feathers on the Turkey is... (b) I am eligible for the competition on the solution addressed Name... Address... (c) Amount enclosed on account of the above Subscription $... (d) New Subscription. Name... Address... Amount enclosed: $4.00 or $5.00 paying for the first year in advance. (e) I agree that the decision of the Judges shall be indisputable and final. Signed... Date... 1929. Address... NOTE: Sections (c) and (d) are for use only if subscription is in arrears, or if sending in a new subscription.

FOR SALE

An excellent dairy farm in Mermaid, Lot 48, 7 miles from Charlottetown, near churches, schools and railway station, containing 185 acres, 125 wooded, balance wood and good timber, extra well fenced and watered, fine buildings. Telephone in house. Inspection invited. Owing to ill-health, bargain for quick sale. JOSEPH POWER, Mermaid. 804-Mon-Wed-21.

AUCTION SALE OF WESTERN HORSES

There will be sold by Public Auction, Twenty Western Horses at Parker A. Horne's Barn, Elm Avenue, on Friday, January 3rd, one thirty o'clock P. M. There are a number of choice brood mares and geldings well broken. Do not fail to obtain one or more while the going is good. Terms Cash or three months on approved joint notes. J. A. McDONALD, Auctioneer. 802-12-30-31.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

320 acre dairy ranch in Manitoba, Clear, 2 1/2 miles from R. H. Stores, etc. 1 1/2 miles from school, 125 miles from Winnipeg. Near Portage. La Prairie. Want farm on P. E. I. Might assume some. Write particulars to H. COUGHLIN, 8129 W. 17th Ave., Spokane, Wash.

IN BANKRUPTCY

IN RE ESTATE A. ROLAND McDONALD AUTHORIZED ASSIGNOR Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned on the stock in trade consisting of Groceries, Hardware, Boots and Shoes, Dry Goods, Drugs, and Household Furniture, now in store and dwelling at Eidon, P. E. I., according to inventory to be seen at the office of The Rogers Hardware Company, Limited. Parties tendering may bid on all or by departments. Tenders to close at noon on January thirteenth n. B. BENJAMIN ROGERS, Trustee. 800-12-30-121.

Professional Cards

BELL & MATHIESON R. R. BELL D. L. MATHIESON, LL. B. Barristers, Solicitors, Etc. Money to Loan. Offices—Charlottetown and Montague.

Mark R. McGuigan, B.A. BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, ETC. MONEY TO LOAN Cameron Block, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

McLeod & Bentley J. A. BENTLEY W. E. BENTLEY, K. C. Barrister and Attorney-at-Law Office: 180 Richmond Street MONEY TO LOAN Charlottetown, P. E. I.

McDonald & McPhee B.A. J. A. McDONALD, H. F. McPHEE BARRISTERS, ATTORNEYS, ETC. MONEY TO LOAN Elley Building Charlottetown

Stewart & Lowther J. D. STEWART, K. C. N. W. LOWTHER BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC. 81 Great George Street MONEY TO LOAN

Dr. D. T. Waye DENTAL SURGEON 130 Richmond Street Charlottetown, P. E. I. Office Hours Phone 542 P. M. to 1 P. M. 9 P. M. to 8 P. M.

FARM FOR SALE

I am offering for sale my farm composed of 80 acres of land in high state of cultivation, about 60 acres cleared, rest in lumber and hard and soft, wood situated at West River Bridge where all shipping may be conducted. Excellent transportation facilities with almost daily boat service to Charlottetown. Splendid potato farm, well drained, level and free from stone. Near churches, school and public Halls. Splendid new and completely finished dwelling house with telephone, large potato and general warehouse and outbuildings all new. Farm fronts West River, source of shell mud supply, and excellent oyster and smelt fisheries affording side revenue, also near sea manures on Strait of Northumberland. For further particulars apply to W. R. SHAW, Department of Agriculture Charlottetown. 814-12-31-3-6.

POTATOES AND TURNIPS

We will be buying every day at our warehouse Hogan's Wharf, highest prices for good stock. Accommodation for Boat loads. J. LESTER DOUGLAS, Charlottetown, P. E. I. and Phone 788 and 733.

She Saw A Difference After First Few Doses

New Brunswick Lady Tells Of Dodd's Kidney Pills Mrs. F. C. Belyea Suffered With a Very Lame Back Brown's Flats, N. B., Dec. 31.—(Special)—Another tribute to the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing for the women of Canada comes from Mrs. Fred C. Belyea, a well known resident of this place. She writes:—"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills for my back which was so lame. I could hardly get around the house or do my work. I got some Dodd's Kidney Pills and after the first few doses I noticed a difference. I kept on taking them and when I had taken two boxes, I was quite well once again." Other sufferers of Backache tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys. They strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain the uric acid out of the blood. They do one thing only, but they do that one thing well.

Norwegian America Line

HALIFAX to NORWAY By the Fast Popular S. S. Stavangerfjord Sailing 10 A. M. NOV. 25 Direct to BERGEN and OSLO Passengers booked through to Norwegian, Swedish and Danish ports. Freight and passenger rates on application. T. A. S. DEWOLFE & SON Halifax, N. S. To be Continued Stop falling hair with misser's Hairment That!

Americans have been negotiating for the purchase of Lymore Hall, the seventeenth century oak timbered mansion of the Earl of Powis in Montgomeryshire, England, which was sold recently for $17,500. When on two occasions in western Mexico recently a baseball game and a bull fight were held on the same day, the baseball stadium was packed, but the promoters of the bull fight did not even pay expenses.

Poultry Wanted

Turkeys, Geese, crate-fattened Chickens and Fowls. All birds must be dry plucked and all feathers removed. Also Fowls for canning for which we will pay the highest prices delivered our warehouse, Montague. McLEOD & McGREGOR 841-12-3-tues-fri-montague

WHEN YOU BAKE USE MONARCH BAKING POWDER AND WHITE STAR YEAST