

"Riverside"—the Business Man's Watch

WITH the unflinching accuracy for which the name "Waltham" is famous, the "Riverside" combines the simple, straight-forward good appearance desired by the conservative business man. Like all Waltham products the "Riverside" owes its reputation to the scientific and standardized method of watch-making which assures unvarying quality of material and workmanship throughout every detail of the mechanism. Your jeweller can show you Waltham "Riverside" models, cased in gold-filled or solid gold, in both 12 and 16 size.

WALTHAM

THE WORLD'S WATCH OVER TIME

Waltham Watch Company, Ltd., 189 St. James St., Montreal
Makers and Distributors of Waltham Products in Canada
Factories: Montreal, Que., and Waltham, Mass.

CLEARANCE SALE

I am authorized by Oliver Warren to sell on his farm, North River Thursday, Nov. 3rd at 1 o'clock, 8 head cattle, 2 horses, 1 mare, coming 4 years, (British Soldier), 2 fat pigs, 30 hens, also 15 tons hay, 20 loads straw, 300 bushels grain, 50 bushels wheat, 3/4 acre turnips, 100 bushels potatoes. Also all farming implements and household furniture.

Terms—All sums exceeding $10.00. Mr. Warren has sold his farm and everything must go. Come one and all come early.
BENJ. CARTER & SON
Auctioneers.

MUSSEL MUD

We are prepared to supply a good quality of the above fertilizer when farmers require it in the following places. Now in Orwell Bay landing at Vernon Bridge, China Point, Halliday's and Brush wharves, later in the season at Pownal and West River wharves and on cars at the Railway wharf Charlottetown.

Apply to MALCOLM MARTIN, in charge
or to D. L. MCKINNON, Montague

"MANOA"

Passenger Steamer

Leave Montreal for Charlottetown—October 13th, October 29th, November 17th.

Arrive Charlottetown and leave for St. John's—October 16th, Nov. 1st, November 20th.

Arrive Charlottetown and leave for Montreal—October 24th, Nov. 8th, November 23rd.

Carvell Bros

Agents

S. S. "Canadian Sapper"

The following are the proposed sailings of the S. S. "Canadian Sapper" from Montreal to Charlottetown and St. John's, Newfoundland this season, namely:—

From Montreal October 29th From Charlottetown November 3rd

Should there be sufficient cargo offering the S. S. "Canadian Sapper" will load here and sail about November 20th for St. John's Newfoundland direct.

For further information apply to Charlottetown, Sept. 26th, 1921 BUNTAIN, BELL & CO., Agents.

RAIL AND STEAMSHIP SERVICE TO MAINLAND

Commencing October 31st S. S. Prince Edward Island will make one round trip daily (except Sunday) between Borden and Tormentine. Connecting Train leaves Charlottetown, 6.45 a. m.

CONNECTIONS AT SACKVILLE WITH OCEAN LIMITED

For Quebec and Montreal—Connections at Montreal with "Continental Limited" for Ottawa, North Bay, Cochrane, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Vancouver.

Connections for ST. JOHN & BOSTON by No. 13 train leaving Moncton at 2.30 p. m. W. K. ROGERS, City Ticket Agent W. M. FLYNN, Station Ticket Agent W. T. HUGGAN, District Passenger Agent

EASTERN STEAMSHIP LINES, INC. INTERNATIONAL LINE

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT SERVICE BETWEEN ST. JOHN AND BOSTON

Steamship GOVERNOR DINGLEY will leave St. John every Wednesday at 5 a. m. and every Saturday at 9 p. m. (Atlantic time) for Boston. The Wednesday trips are via Eastport and Lubec, due Boston about 11 a. m. Thursday. The Saturday trips are to Boston direct due Sunday about 2 p. m.

A HUSBAND TO MARCIA

By CAROLYN BEECHER

Chapter LIV

John had been a bit troubled over keeping what he had done for Kenneth Baker a secret from Marcia. He hated deception of any form, and when he revolved against her smuggling he also felt a bit conscience-stricken on his own account. Then too, he would have to give some sort of an excuse if he continued to give a part of his Sundays to the boy. Marcia would be sure to question him. So after a long silence he said: "I have a good deal of my own money, I have taken out to walk Sundays and—"

"I have a good deal of my own money, I have taken out to walk Sundays and—"

"I know, Marcia. But I am lonely"

Healthy Children Always Sleep Well

The healthy child sleeps well and during its waking hours is never cross but always happy and contented. It is only the sickly child that is cross and peevish. Mothers of your children, to sleep well; if they are cross and cry a great deal give them Baby's Own Tablets and they will soon be well and happy again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulates the bowels, sweetens the stomach, banishes constipation, colic and indigestion and promote healthy sleep. They are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates and may be given to the new born babe with perfect safety. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Desirable Fox Feed

During our killing season we have a limited quantity of Fresh Hearts, Tripe, etc., that should be of special value to feeders at this season who aim at producing the best fur. Shipment by freight in any quantity required. THE ISLAND COLD STORAGE CO. LTD. Charlottetown, P. E.

FOR SALE

Shropshire Registered Ram, also ram lambs. A registered ram costs parties no more than a scrub ram now, who never used a registered Ram before owing to the liberal grant of the Live Stock Branch. Many of these rams are prize winners at our Exhibitions. The value of a pure bred sire has been demonstrated many times by experiments conducted at various Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations. To quote one: in 1913 the Missouri Agricultural Experimental Station conducted a test to show the value of a good ram. Seventeen ewes were bred to an inferior scrub ram and seventeen to a fairly good registered ram. The lambs sired by the pure bred ram made 26.6 per cent more daily gain than those sired by the scrub. The lambs from the pure bred ram sold for $7.35 per 100 pounds and the scrubs for $4.50 per 100 pounds. For further particulars apply at the Corralville Registered Sheep Ranch, Limited.

J. E. FLYNN, Manager, P. O. Address, Cardigan, R. R. No. 4, P. E. I.

S. S. HARLAND

For your pleasure and health a trip on the "Harland" is unsurpassed. You are offered the opportunity any Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 3 p. m.

Tuesday, Orwell return fare 60 cents. Thursday, Victoria, return fare $1.50. Friday, East River, return fare 35 cents. Saturday, West River, return fare 35 cents. Be one of the large number who now take advantage of these very enjoyable excursions. The accommodations are fine. We know you will be pleased with the results. Phone 778.

strange as it may seem. And this child, this boy, has become very dear to me. He wouldn't trouble you much, Marcia, and before long will be old enough to send to a boys' school. Be generous, Marcia, and agree to have him here. This was a pleading tone in John's voice that perhaps used for anything else would have caught Marcia's attention. But this idea of his was so absurd, so utterly beyond conception that she could not answer him.

"I never shall have a child here as long as I am mistress of your house, I thought you loved me, John; were satisfied with me, my company. Now you want to force me to care for a child who is nothing to us in any way. I don't understand you one bit. You are always making a poor mouth, too, and it costs money to educate a boy. Whom do you expect to scribble to pay for it—not me, surely?"

"No, no, Marcia," wearily replied John. "I never want to hear that boy's name again!" she declared. "I can't understand what's come over you. Now let's talk of something pleasant. Claire Sanders is going to give a masquerade party next week. I looked at costumes for both of us today. I shall have you go as a sixteenth century knight and I shall go as a shepherdess. Both costumes are so becoming."

For the first time John took Muriel Doran just a bit into his confidence. He told her that Marcia absolutely refused to receive the boy and that it might make things unpleasant if she found out he was caring for him. "A man is sometimes all kinds of a coward," he added, smiling queerly, "and I am one when it comes to going contrary to my wife's wishes. She is a bit spoiled I guess. Yet I cannot give the boy up entirely. "Send him to a boys' school. By and by, when he is older, perhaps Mrs. Aldrich will be stronger, feel differently."

So it was decided and little Kenneth was sent as a day scholar to a school near Mrs. Turner's home until he should be old enough to be a resident pupil. John Aldrich, you must get yourself some clothes! You are absolutely shabby on the elbows," Marcia declared. "I will get them as soon as possible."

Auction Sale of Furniture

We are authorized by Mrs. Dr. Fullerton to sell at the Manse No. 20, Brighton Road, on Monday, Oct. 25th, commencing at 1 o'clock, a large quantity of choice furniture comprising parlor, dining room, bed room furniture, made in Mahogany, quarter oak, cherry and other costly woods and valuable typewriting desks and book cases, roll top desk and lot of good goods. BENJ. CARTER AND SON Auctioneers

Clearance Auction Sale

Windsor South on November 2nd, at 1 O'Clock Sharp. Having sold my farm I will sell my late premises on above date all my stock, crop and implements. Stock Horse, 3 Mares from 8 to 12 years, 2 in foal; 13 choice young Milch Cows, all in order, 7 tested by City Officer, 4.7 p. c.; 7 Heifers, 1 1/2 years Jersey Grade; 1 Registered Jersey Bull, 1 1/2 years, 12 Breeding Ewes.

15 tons good Hay; 1 Binder, (McCormack); Hay Mower (Frost & Wood); 1 Disc Drill, 1 Disc Harrow; 1 S T Harrow; 1 Plow (Single); 1 Steel Rake; 1 Plough (Single); 1 Gang Plough; 1 Thrashing and Cleaning; 1 Engine 5 H. P. Empire Belts; 1 Set Bob Sleigh, with pole; 1 Wood Sleigh; 1 Driving Sleigh; 1 Truck Wagon (pole); 1 Cart Wheel; 1 Hay Carrier, open blocks, together with a lot of other articles too numerous to mention. Sale positive no reserve as farm is sold. If stormy on first fine day. Terms 14 months on all sums over $10. 6 p. c. off Mr. cash. STEPHEN McNAMURRER, J. A. McDONALD, Auctioneers.

Long Search Is Now Rewarded

MRS. IDA PICKETT WAS TWENTY FIVE YEARS TRYING TO FIND RELIEF, AT LAST SUCCEEDS

Mrs. Ida Pickett, 274 South Division St., Buffalo N. Y., says: "Twenty five years is a long time to keep looking for something without finding it, and it's no wonder I almost lost hope. But I finally found what I was hunting, a medicine to relieve me if an awful case of indigestion. "Tanlac rewarded my long search for relief, and I now enjoy better health than I have in thirty years."

Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

"Not one thing in common," he would mutter when she failed to respond to his attempts at an understanding between them as to his business or recreation. As he watched her, letting his thoughts travel back over the years, he wondered if he ever had really loved her. It was rather a shock when he recalled those first months, it was scarcely years, and remembered that he hadn't felt the constriction of her soft, tearful determination to have her own way.

As he studied the calm, self-satisfied profile of the woman he had sworn to love and cherish (he knew that he never would break with her. Without him she would be lost, almost derelict. She was meant to be cared for and protected by some man. That he was the man was perhaps his misfortune. Had he had elected to be that man. But he had kicked coming? It was all so distressing. Day after day he lived and moved as Marcia wished him to live and move. Yet they were separated now. When the ocean rolled between them, he wondered if he should go away, far away, if she would find a man to care for her as she longed to be cared for, a life of ease, of luxury, of self-indulgence. Just then she spoke: "What are you thinking of, dear? You look so solemn."

"Of you." "How nice! I always tell all my woman friends how awfully cross we are, how you never looked at another woman since we first met. So many men, even really nice men, do sometimes flirt a little. It is a terrible thing for their wives, if they have any. Men should be just as faithful as women. I am glad we never quarrelled; that is, hardly ever. Only two or three times since we married, and then you were cross with your little wifey."

In that precise moment John became conscious that he never could break the hold that Marcia had upon him, never change in the slightest the life that was beginning to rack and ravage him. He was aware that he still had an affectionate feeling for his wife; he always had had. A protective feeling also; he was responsible for her happiness. Marcia had always seemed to feel that marriage was the only great act of grace, the only respectable phase of living. She also held the idea that it should make the man, whoever and whatever he might be, very happy because some woman allowed him to marry her, and spend his life caring for her and loving her. Marcia talked a great deal about love, the love a man owed his wife. Often Marcia would drop her head on John's shoulder and confess that she loved him "awfully much" that he was a "dear old thing" and that she "wouldn't change places with anybody on earth." Of course she didn't understand business, but she wanted to help him save money if it was necessary, and if he would do as she said, put a little away each month, he would soon have his "nest egg."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

head on John's shoulder and confess that she loved him "awfully much" that he was a "dear old thing" and that she "wouldn't change places with anybody on earth." Of course she didn't understand business, but she wanted to help him save money if it was necessary, and if he would do as she said, put a little away each month, he would soon have his "nest egg."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

These spells of affection," as John called them in his mind, were perhaps harder to bear than her complaints. She was so absolutely ingenious, yet so lacking in common sense, that at times it was all John could do to keep his temper. He often wounded her feelings, always unintentionally, and then she never rested until she had proved him in the wrong, herself a much abused wife. Her appetite for pleasure, for gayety seemed to increase with what it fed upon. Her bridge club, the dances parties, dinners and theatres left her little or no time for the serious things of life. When John objected, declared he could not stand the pace, she would say: "It's a good thing you have a wife who drags you from that old desk! You would become as much a fixture there as your inkwell if I didn't. Some wives would just go."

Use Old Dutch for a Clean, Bright Bathroom

Porcelain, enamel, marble shining with their original lustre and beauty! Dirt and stain gone! Room and fixtures hygienically clean! It's Old Dutch that saves time and work; and does a thorough job.

Made in Canada

BROMA

THE PERFECT UPBUILDING TONIC

is recommended in all cases of general and nervous debility and in cases of slow convalescence because, being partially predigested, it is easily digested and absorbed into the system without causing any effort or disturbance of the alimentary organs.

BROMA is a wonderful tonic which acts promptly and surely because it contains in a pleasant mixture the Glycero-phosphates of Calcium, Sodium and Iron with Peptonized Meat Extract.

On sale everywhere. DR. ED. MORIN & CIE, LIMITEE, QUEBEC

A Wealth of Warmth Without a Pipe

70 DEGREES

70 DEGREES

A COOL CELLAR

WITHOUT a single pipe—WITHOUT tearing up floors and walls—INSIDE OF 24 HOURS—you can have within your own home on Winter's bitterest day all the cheerful heat and comfort of the big summer sun—every nook and corner of your home can revel in 70 degrees of happy, healthful warmth and comfort.

The heating engineers of 1921 have ended the days of dirt and mess, have rid the home of furnace pipes, heating stoves and flying ash—have discovered that heat carries itself GLADLY and CHEAPLY to the furthest corners of a home—have pointed the way to EVEN HEATING everywhere, to CLEANLINESS, HEALTH and COMFORT by the new Pipeless method.

Twice the comfort at half the cost is what the new Enterprise Pipeless Furnace offers NEW HOUSES and OLD—WITH OR WITHOUT CELLARS—an abundance of heat EVERYWHERE from any kind of fuel is what we GUARANTEE.

Hot air rises and cold air falls. Briefly, that explains Pipeless heating—all the heat ABOVE the furnace, none around it—A COOL CELLAR suitable for storing vegetables and free from cumbersome air pipes—an ALL-WARM HOME—every degree of heat exactly where you want it—MORE WARMTH from LESS FUEL. And A SINGLE DAY is all it takes to install an Enterprise Pipeless Furnace and turn your home into a NEST OF COMFORT.

WHAT USERS SAY: Dealer Satisfaction "You stood behind every plan. Have installed Enterprise Pipeless in churches and private residences with open and closed stairways. All are giving perfect satisfaction." H. F. LEE, Summerside, P. E. I.

ENTERPRISE PIPELESS FURNACE

BLAZER

Write us today for our FREE BOOKLET explaining all about Pipeless Heating. We will gladly send it to you with a simple little CHART that makes it easy for you to draw a rough lay-out of your place. From this, our heating engineers will be able to SEE YOUR HOUSE just as it is. They will send you a PLAN showing how it can be made as snug and comfortable as any home on earth. The change can be made without disturbance to yourself or your home. Let our engineers show you how. The booklet, the chart and our Engineering Service are ALL FREE. There is NO OBLIGATION on your part to buy or do anything else. Read the testimonials, remember our guarantee and write us today.

A Money Saver "I have been handling furnaces for 27 years and believe Enterprise Pipeless Furnace the best ever put on the market." L. E. WAMBOLDT, Lunenburg, N. S.

ENTERPRISE FOUNDRY CO., LIMITED, SACKVILLE, N. B. Makers of the well-known lines of Enterprise Stoves and Furnaces, and Enterprise Monarch Ranges.

Our own dealer representative in your locality will make the installation for you.