Scope Of Probe Is Limited

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Oct. 30.—Unless the government broadens the terms of the order-in-council which constituted the Royal Commission on price spreads and mass buying, the Commission has no authority of itself to make an enquiry into titles, coal and gasolines. One of the commissioners said here tonight. Early today W. W. Kennedy chairman, declared on a question raised by Sam Factor (Lib. Toronto West Centre) that the matter was still undecided whether the commission recommend an expansion of the order-in-council. The terms of reference set forth the industries to be investigated and add that those already dealt with by the Commission when it opened as a parliamentary committee might be continued. They did not, however, embrace the three industries noted.

Doctor From Far North on Holiday

REGINA, Oct. 30.—(C.P.)—Most northerly physician on the North American continent, Dr. J. A. Urquhart, federal government medic at Akivik, arrived here for a six months' vacation, the first in four years. With his wife and daughter he reached Edmonton after a 2,000-mile trek by boat and aeroplane. At his northern post, Dr. Urquhart is a man of many parts. He is justice of the peace, coroner and general reception committee in addition to caring for his patients at two hospitals and visiting others in remotely separated districts along the Mackenzie delta. A nine-ton schooner, equipped with cot is used to carry him along the coast to Coppermine, a distance of 700 miles. From there larger boats are used to reach outposts far out in the Gulf. To the north his practice often takes him as far as Herschel Island. The Urquharts were official hosts to Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh on their flight into the Arctic.

The delegates decided to petition the provincial government to establish a prison farm so that prisoners might have work and a small remuneration be provided their families.

HAIR-DYER LOSES WHEN COOK SUES

(Canadian Press) LONDON, Oct. 31.—Judge Sir Alfred Tobin gave his views on women's hair during the hearing of a case against a hairdresser. "We always heard of grey hairs being treated with respect," he said. "The counsel commented that women did not seem to like it, the judge said: 'The most beautiful thing a woman can have is beautiful white hair.'"

The action was brought by Mrs. Blodwen Gullick, 40 a cook in a private house who claimed $500 damages from a hairdresser for injury to her head by alleged negligent application of a hair dye. She went to the hairdresser to get her hair dyed because it was showing streaks of grey. He applied a solution which caused a burning sensation. A doctor said she was suffering from oedema of the scalp and diffuse erythema—the one swelling and the other a rash. Mrs. Gullick was awarded $200 damages with costs, and Judge Tobin said he thought the case was of general importance. He held that it was the hairdresser's duty to warn women of any risk run.

URGED UNCLE SAM TO PREPAREDNESS

(Canadian Press) YORKTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Josephine White Bates, chairman of the women's section in the Movement for National Preparedness in 1916, is dead. She was the widow of Lincoln Wallace Bates internationally known hydraulic engineer. Mrs. Bates, a native of Canada, was married in 1881. She had written several books and poems, and in her younger days was active in social welfare work in New York City. When the preparedness campaign was started before the War she took an active part in it, making a dramatic appearance on the stage of Carnegie Hall at a rally in 1916, when she said, "The woman who didn't raise her boy to be a soldier has no right to expect protection from the son of a woman who did."

Annual Meeting Of The MacLean Hockey League

A very jolly Halloween party was held in Epworth Hall on Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Society. Ghosts stunts and Halloween tricks were the order of the evening and four weird uncanny figures stood sentinel at the door allowing none to enter without the password. A short program and games were taken part in by those present, after which a dainty lunch was served.—S.

Pictou Man Convicted Of Extortion

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) PICTOU, N. S., Oct. 30.—Percy Konradson was convicted of extortion today as the fall session of supreme court here wound to a close. Investigating the burning of a car owned by Carl McKenzie for Halifax insurance brokers. ### MARITIME MERCHANTS ALLIANCE IN CONVENTION

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 30.—P. E. Watson, Fredericton, was re-elected president of the Maritime Merchants Alliance at the annual convention here today, and Duncan McDougall, Fredericton, was elected secretary. ### VICTORIAN ERA IN GRAND SHOW

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Hundreds of the ornaments and implements of life in an earlier America are jumbled in the grand ballroom of a local hotel where the Fifth International 'Antiques' Exhibition is open. Pin-cushions, china dogs pressed glass, quilts, fine old chairs and objects of questionable elegance or utility are so thick that it looks as though an old-fashioned church rummage sale had been arranged amid the elaborate pre-war ornamentation of the big hall. From the confusion emerges the conviction that Victorianism is popular once more. Scarcely a booth lacks examples of glasses of the Victorian era. There are wax flowers and Victorian prints and Victorian chairs, complicated and mildly uncomfortable looking Victorian china every-where. One dealer has arranged his exhibit to resemble a Victorian parlor in Brooklyn in the '70s or '80s. Brussels carpet, carved walnut arm chair covered with tight red brocade, down to the curious little white china dogs Victorians seem to have been so partial to, and the glass-topped table filled with knick-knacks.

"We are just in time," said W. B. Sprague, president. "People are forgetting the names and uses of the old tools. And more of them are just every year. 'Take that niddy-noddy, the member who got that has found something that in another 20 years no one would know how to use much less name. He found it in the house of an old woman in Connecticut, and she told him the name that goes with it, that used to be sung with the wool was wound: 'Niddy-noddy, niddy-noddy two heads and one body.' The tool and their uses, and things like that are all being forgotten as fast as they can be."

There are curiosities in the exhibition, too, things like the big horn that was used to call in laborers to dinner on the farm, ginger bread boards; a "buck", a large wooden tray that was slipped into the front of the corset to serve the same purpose as the modern "up-lift brassiers."

an who didn't raise her boy to be a soldier has no right to expect protection from the son of a woman who did."

VISITS FOR HOUSES

Mr. Leon Chapel, manager director of the Magasin Genereux of Marche Francaise was in Summerside on Wednesday and visited the leading fur houses. Mr. Leon Chapel makes a periodical visit to the Island. His company conduct large auctions in Paris and are large importers of silver fox and other furs. Mr. Chapel said that the fur business in Paris was very quiet after the riots last spring, but is picking up again now, September and October being the best months for the last three years. Silver Fox is the only fur which is holding its own at the present time, although Persian Lamb and Squirrel are selling fairly well. Ranchers are advised not to bring their poor pelts to the fur houses for shipment to European markets, as there is no sale for them. The fur buyer today

Gas Buoy Relighted

The G. S. Brant, Captain Kelly, called at Summerside on Friday last and left on Saturday in the storm for Richibucto, N.B., as it was reported that the gas buoy had gone out, which is in that vicinity. Capt. Kelly, in spite of the terrible gale blowing on Saturday, made all speed to relight the buoy which is of great assistance to shipping in these waters.—S.

does not want the rubbish, but only the better quality skins. A fox skin which is off colour is more difficult to dispose of than a poorer skin with a good sheen. The best skins are more in demand. Mr. Chapel is optimistic in regard to the future.—S.

The prisoner was identified by a leather jacket, which he had left behind in the garage. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was given the sentence stated above.—S.
